Balloon Soars To Record Altitude

ABOARD AIRCRAFT CARRIER ANTIETAM (AP) — A balloon launched from the deck of this aircraft carrier in the Gulf of Mexico today carried two men to the greatest altitude ever reached by a balloon.

The huge bag carrying two Navy scientists soared past 104,500 feet two hours and 11 minutes after launching from the flight deck of the Antietam.

The balloon continued ascending toward its planned maximum altitude of 116,000 feet, almost 22 miles above the earth's surface.

Told by radio that the balloon had exceeded the altitude record, Cmdr. Malcolm Ross, the pilot, commented:

"To one side I can see clear across Florida, and I can see the Atlantic Ocean on the other side of Florida.

"I have a real good look at the Gulf states. I can see New Orleans and I can see the entire Gulf Coast line."

The attempt began from a point about 43 miles southeast of South Pass at the mouth of the Mississippi River. Slight technical difficulties had delayed the launch more than an hour.

The experiment was aimed to take two Navy officers to the highest altitude ever reached by a balloonist—116,000 feet or almost 22 miles above the earth's surface in a flight lasting 7 to 8 hours.

The balloonists are Cmdr. Malcolm Ross of Washington, the pilot, and Lt. Cmdr. Victor E. Prather, medical officer of the Bethesda, Md., Naval Medi-server.

The plastic bag, tall as a 40-soryt building, rose rapidly from the carrier's bow into an almost cloudless sky. The initial ascent was a rate of about 800 feet a minute.

Conditions were described as ideal. There was little wind and the sea was smooth.

The carrier turned to follow the path of the balloon. Plans were laid out to recover the balloon about 180 miles south-southeast of Pensacola, Fla.

The Antietam performed the launching and recovery feat successfully last week with a test balloon, but up to today no high-altitude manned balloon has been launched from a carrier deck and recovered.

The balloon contains 10 million cubic feet of helium, and is 411 feet tall.

Ross and Prather rode in an open gondola of aluminum screening six feet wide, five feet long and five feet high. The gondola is enclosed with

A SUBTERFUGE?

Larkspur Council Halts Subdivision

The Larkspur City Council early today slapped a stop-work order on a Baltimore Canyon hillside subdivision which opponents denounced as a subterfuge for a huge quarrying operation.

The stop order was issued against Russ Lauterwasser's eight-lot Piedmont Terrace subdivision after the council heard hours of complaints by some of 30 Baltimore Canyon residents who attended the council meeting to oppose the operation.

The quarrying, said Lauterwasser, is all done anyhow. He has removed about 18,000 cubic yards of dirt from the subdivision, in addition to an almost equal amount he quarried from another subdivision just below it, according to City Manager Ronald E. Piper.

UNTIL MAY 17

The stop-work order will prevent installation of any subdivision improvements. It will be in effect until the next council meeting on May 17.

It was moved by Councilman Lesly A. Daveler, and voted unanimously.

Lauterwasser sought approval of a final map at the council meeting which started at 8 p.m. yesterday and ran to 2 a.m. today.

George Kohler of 233 W. Baltimore Avenue accused Lauterwasser, among other things, with violating the state subdivision law in selling two lots of what originally was a 10-lot subdivision before filing a final map. The preliminary map showing 10 lots was filed in April, 1960. When the final map was filed last month, it had been reduced to eight lots.

OTHER LOTS

Kohler said a check at the county courthouse showed the other two lots had been sold to William F. Fischer and Burton E. Milnes and they have built houses on them.

"Mr. Lauterwasser has definitely violated the state law," declared Daveler in moving the stop-work order. There was no hint of any plan to file criminal action, however. Violation of the subdivision law is a misdemeanor.

Attorney Robert Formichi of San Anselmo, representing the protesting Baltimore Canyon property owners, presented a petition bearing 24 signatures which called on the city to stop Lauterwasser's operation in the canyon. It alleged that trucks have been driven dangerously, overloaded, spilling dirt on the roads, causing a dust hazard, and damaging the roads, and that the whole operation is harmful to esthetic values.

Further, it alleged, Piedmont Terrace in fact is not a subdivision at all, but a quarrying operation. It cited that Lauterwasser has sold 34,000 cubic

Mill Valley Rejects Alto Bowl Rezoning

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"You're asking the city council to buy a pig in the poke to approve something that we don't yet have the plan for," Mill Valley Councilman Michael Wornum told Ernest L. Friberg, vice president of the Marin Capital Co. last night.

The council voted 3-0 to oppose the company's proposal to rezone 188 acres of the Alto Bowl, just outside the Mill Valley limits, from single family dwelling to "planned residential," which would permit apartments. Mayor Robert D. Huber and Councilman George Blackwell were absent.

In voting to oppose rezoning, Mill Valley joins ranks with Corte Madera, where the city council voted similar opposition on Monday night.

Councilman George D. Monardo, making the motion, asked that letters be written to the Marin County Planning Commission, which must take action on the matter May 15, and to the Board of Supervisors.

Monardo's motion also read: "If property owner George C. Goheen, head of Marin Capital Co., wishes to withdraw or agrees to continue his applica-

Cuba Clergy Purge Seems Under Way

MIAMI (UPI)—Havana radio said today that Roman Catholic priests and nuns were streaming into Havana from Oriente Province and indicated a general purge of the clergy was under way.

The broadcast, which heaped abuse on priests, said there was "popular support" for Premier Fidel Castro's anti-church campaign.

More than 20 private schools have been taken over in Santiago, capital of Oriente Province, another broadcast said.

In Miami, the Red Cross said it was preparing to receive the religious refugees from Cuba and a possible influx of American citizens as well. There was no indication, however, when U.S.-Cuba flights would be resumed.

The broadcast said "Catholic revolutionaries" want the ousted "Falangist" priest replaced by new priests. But there was no indication as to where Castro would find substitute priests acceptable to his regime.

2 Elderly Hub Sisters Charge $1,000 Bilking

Sacramentan Tailed After Repair Claims

A Sacramento man who claims to be a self-employed roofing contractor was arrested yesterday after allegedly cheating two elderly San Anselmo sisters out of almost $1,000 and attempting to get more.

Vernon G. Lawson, 24, was arrested by Vallejo police at request of Asst. Police Chief Sam N. Serio of San Anselmo. He was nabbed at a Vallejo bank as he tried to clear an $800 check the sisters had given him.

Serio booked Lawson into Marin County Jail on charges of theft and having no city business license nor state contractor's license. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

ROOF REPAIRS

Lawson told the two sisters, Emma F. and Josefa Daniel, 81 and 86, of 101 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, that they owed him and another man money for roof repairs and roof-gutter cleaning done for the last five years. Serio said there was no evidence of this work but the women did not realize the work had not been done.

The other suspect, according to Serio, is J. B. Moody, probably of Vallejo. A warrant for his arrest has been issued by the district attorney's office.

Douglas Roy of 240 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, a nephew of the two women, and Lakley Pistole of 19 Bennett Avenue, San Anselmo both signed complaints for the arrest of Lawson.

SIGNED OVER PENSION

Late last year, Emma Daniel signed over a $220 pension check to Lawson to pay for "work done on the home," Serio said.

Late in January or early in February of this year, the two women wrote out a personal check for $765, again to pay for the non-existent work, said Serio.

RUTH ALDEGUER
Testifies of attacks

Mrs. Ruth Aldeguer told in court today how her estranged husband stabbed her in their Mill Valley home last January ("I counted 27 times") while shouting, "You thought you would make a fool of me!"

By ruling of Judge Thomas F. Keating, the witness was precluded from any testimony bearing on the almost simultaneous killing of James Roger Collins Jr. in the Aldeguer home, because an interlocutory divorce decree granted last Nov. 23 will not be final before next fall.

Thus on an issue of privilege raised by Public Defender Peter Allen Smith, Luis S. Aldeguer was protected from testimony by the woman still his wife except as it related to his attack upon her. Aldeguer was indicted by the grand jury on charges of murder of Collins and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder on his wife.

During this morning's testimony which opened the case, Mrs. Aldeguer said that last Dec. 26, Aldeguer attacked Collins's car as it stood before the Aldeguer home at 10 Plymouth Circle. Then chocked her until a policeman arrived, she said. "I told the officer, 'Luis tried to kill me—I was choking to death.'"

No sign of recognition passed between her and her somber-faced husband, seated beside Smith at the counsel table.

Initially composed, she nearly gave way to tears eventually.

Garety had difficulty in making the witness speak up; often her head sank almost to her chest, but when reminded she would straighten and smile nervously.

FIRST CONTACT

Mrs. Aldeguer said her first contact with Collins was in employer relation when she and her husband bought Jake's Taxi in Mill Valley in July of 1959. Collins was one of the drivers. They met socially "sometime in October of 1960," which was the month before Mrs. Aldeguer obtained an interlocutory divorce decree.

She said she and Collins had planned to go out the evening of Dec. 26 and Collins phoned to ask what time. This caused Aldeguer—visiting to see the two children—to protest.

POUNDED ON DOORS

When Collins arrived, "Luis ran past me and tried to get into Roger's car."

"Luis pounded on the doors of the car making a great deal of noise," said Mrs. Aldeguer. "I was trying to stop him and told Roger to drive off. He did."

Argument was resumed in the living room, she said, when "suddenly Luis rushed at me

Firing Ceases As Truce Time Nears In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Military activity in Laos ceased today except for a few patrols, and King Savang Vathana and his cabinet went to Luang Prabang to discuss neutralist demands for a coalition government.

The proposal for a coalition that would include the Communist Pathet Lao came from Prince Souvanna Phoema before he left the rebel headquarters at Xieng Khouang for talks in Cambodia with U.S. roving ambassador Averell Harriman.

Souvanna, an avowed neutralist, has been making increasingly Communist-line statements in the past few weeks and his proposals were received coldly in Vientiane by both Laotian and western observers.

It generally had been believed Souvanna might become premier again in a reorganized government, but there were fears his visits to Moscow, Peiping and Hanoi might have swayed him. The Communists still recognize him as premier.

A cease-fire has been in effect since and government representatives and Communist Pathet Lao military officers were reported meeting in no man's land 50 miles north of Vientiane to make it foolproof.

Crucial Trip To Asia Planned By Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will fly to Southeast Asia next week to reassure America's Allies there that the United States will back up its promise to help them resist Communist attack.

Johnson apparently will carry President John F. Kennedy's personal assurances that the allied decision not to intervene directly in Laos will not be repeated if the Communists try to take over South Viet Nam or elsewhere in the area.

The president first asked Johnson several weeks ago to make the trip. But definite plans were made only in the past few days as the president surveyed the possible consequences of U.S. and allied policy on the Laos military front.

The White House would say only that the Johnson trip was under active consideration. Associate press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said no final decision had been made on the timing of the trip or on countries to be visited.

It was learned elsewhere that Johnson was tentatively scheduled to leave Tuesday, touching at Honolulu, the Philippines, Formosa, South Viet Nam and Thailand. The final itinerary may include other stops.

A SUBTERFUGE?

Larkspur Council Halts Subdivision

The Larkspur City Council early today slapped a stop-work order on a Baltimore Canyon hillside subdivision which opponents denounced as a subterfuge for a huge quarrying operation.

The stop order was issued against Russ Lauterwasser's eight-lot Piedmont Terrace subdivision after the council heard hours of complaints by some of 30 Baltimore Canyon residents who attended the council meeting to oppose the operation.

The quarrying, said Lauterwasser, is all done anyhow. He has removed about 18,000 cubic yards of dirt from the subdivision, in addition to an almost equal amount he quarried from another subdivision just below it, according to City Manager Ronald E. Piper.

It was moved by Councilman Lesly A. Daveler, and voted unanimously.

Lauterwasser sought approval of a final map at the council meeting which started at 8 p.m. yesterday and ran to 2 a.m. today.

George Kohler of 233 W. Baltimore Avenue accused Lauterwasser, among other things, with violating the state subdivision law in selling two lots of what originally was a 10-lot subdivision before filing a final map. The preliminary map showing 10 lots was filed in April, 1960. When the final map was filed last month, it had been reduced to eight lots.

Kohler said a check at the county courthouse showed the other two lots had been sold to William F. Fischer and Burton E. Milnes and they have built houses on them.

Johnson apparently will carry President John F. Kennedy's personal assurances that the allied decision not to intervene directly in Laos will not be repeated if the Communists try to take over South Viet Nam or elsewhere in the area.

The president first asked Johnson several weeks ago to make the trip. But definite plans were made only in the past few days as the president surveyed the possible consequences of U.S. and allied policy on the Laos military front.

The White House would say only that the Johnson trip was under active consideration. Associate press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said no final decision had been made on the timing of the trip or on countries to be visited.

It was learned elsewhere that Johnson was tentatively scheduled to leave Tuesday, touching at Honolulu, the Philippines, Formosa, South Viet Nam and Thailand. The final itinerary may include other stops.

Space Shot Still On —Despite Weather

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Despite threatening weather, the U. S. space agency is going ahead with plans to launch its first manned space flight at 7 a.m. tomorrow.

Bad weather forced postponement of the first launch try Tuesday after Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard was all ready to make the 115-mile-high ride.

The Weather Bureau said squalls are likely the next few days here and in the target area 290 miles downrange, where ships are waiting to recover Shepard's space capsule 15 minutes after it is launched.

There's a 50-50 chance the weather could clear, however, and the flight go off as scheduled.

What will Shepard, 37, be doing on this day of days?

Whatever he wants to do.

"There is no set schedule of events," said a space agency spokesman, "and there are no locks on his doors."

During the time since the flight was postponed Shepard and his "back-up "astronaut Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., 39, have been quartered in a ready-room three and one-half miles from the pad where a Redstone rocket is waiting to hurl one of them into space.

Since Glenn must be ready to go if anything happens to Shepard during the waiting period, he is virtually Shepard's shadow.

They undergo the same daily physical examinations, eat the same food, study the same problems of space flight.

Yesterday they both took brief refresher courses at the controls of the cabin simulator — a mockup of the capsule now in place atop the Redstone rocket.

Like a boxer training for a big fight, Shepard is wary of losing the keen edge honed by weeks of training. A little exercise and a lot of rest in his antidote for let-down.

He won't loaf all day, however.

U.N. Starts 'Hands Off' Congo Policy

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The United Nations has declared a "hands off" policy in the showdown between Congo President Joseph Kasavubu and Katanga Province President Moise Tshombe, reliable sources said today.

The sources said the U.N. could be expected to see that Tshombe is given fair and humane treatment during his detention by the central Congolese authorities. But they added the U.N. almost certainly will ignore the Katangese note demanding it obtain Tshombe's freedom.

The U.N. is not expected to accede to the Katanga request to call a new "summit" meeting of Congolese political and tribal leaders. The attitude of the U.N., the sources said, is that Tshombe's arrest and organizing of conferences are strictly internal Congolese affairs and outside the competence of the world organization.

'Eichmann Organized Everything'

JERUSALEM (AP)—A Jewish underground fighter in World War II testified today that a German army sergeant told him Adolf Eichmann was "organizing everything" in the Nazi campaign to exterminate Europe Jews.

Abba Kovner, now a writer in Israel, told the three-judge court trying Eichmann for complicity in the wartime murder of millions of Jews, that his informant, Sgt. Anton Schmidt, was executed by the Nazis for helping the Jews.

Kovner said he had a secret meeting with Schmidt one night in January 1942 in a Lithuanian village.

"We had a few drinks," Kovner testified. "Schmidt was nervous. I asked about Gestapo officers behind the extermination of Jews and the Nazi persecution in ghettos.

"I asked him about local Gestapo commanders. Schmidt said to me: "These local commanders have no say. There is one dog called Eichmann and he is organizing everything."

Another prosecution witness, Meir Dvorski, told of a bureaucracy of death in the Nazi-created ghettos. Dvorski said "lebensscheine" — life certificates—were issued to Jews picked for a respite from the gas chambers and firing squads but that the Jews themselves had to decide who should be saved.

"If a man had a wife, two chilrden and a mother, he had to choose whom to register because only four persons could be entered on the life certificate," Dvorski, a physician in the Vilna, Lithuania, ghetto, testified.

Cuban City Queues Up

MIAMI (UPI) — Radio Havana said today the city of Sagua de Tanamo has proclaimed itself Cuba's first "socialist municipality" in line with Premier Fidel Castro's declaration that his country is "socialist"—like its Communist allies.

It was not immediately certain what changes were being made in the government of Sagua. It is a remote community near the north coast of Oriente Province, 75 miles from Cuba's eastern tip.

Riot Trial Acquittal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Robert J. Meisenbach has been acquitted of clubbing a policeman in the City Hall riots last May—but controversy over the riots at a House Committee on Un-American Activities hearing rages on.

A jury freed Meisenbach, 23, a University of California senior, of a charge that he struck patrolman Ralph E. Schaumleffel with the officer's own club at the height of the demonstration.

Meisenbach celebrated last night at a beer party. Among the guests were four of the jurors, members of the American Civil Liberties Union, and college students.

Algerian Tensions

ALGIERS (UPI) — Stepped-up government action to root out rightists who actively supported the military insurrection against President Charles de Gaulle caused increased tension among Europeans here today.

Reports circulated throughout the city that an estimated 500 armed civilians had fled to the hinterland to form anti-government guerrilla bands.

The vigilante secret army organizations managed to circulate a notice calling on all Europeans to boycott the de Gaulle government actively and passively. It said the "army of guerrillas is being organized. It will fight to the death."

A Lost Job

EL CENTRO (UPI) — The wife of a local doctor, who stated last month she does not believe in saluting the flag, was removed from her post as secretary of the Democrats for Democrats Club by a majority vote tonight.

At a special meeting, President Cruz Reynoso, moved that since Mrs. Virginia O'Rourke had not been a member of the organization for a year, she was not eligible to hold the post of secretary under the present bylaws.

Reynoso's motion was carried by a majority.

Reason For Accident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has blamed a freak moisture leak for the accident in which a runaway Sidewinder missile shot down a B-52 bomber over New Mexico April 7.

Moisture seeped into the electrical circuit of an F-100 fighter plane while it was making practice passes at the bomber. It caused a short circuit which released the missile, the Air Force said.

As a result, the Air Force has ordered a modification of the electrical system in the fighters.

Report On Cooper

"Mr. Cooper is under heavy sedation for pain, and he sleeps a great deal," the spokesman said Wednesday. "But he remains lucid and talks calmly with his family and doctor while awake."

Ex-Red Prisoner Dies

MANILA (AP) — Robert E. McCann, 60, American businessman held prisoner in Red China for 10 years on espionage charges, died today of cancer, almost a month after gaining his freedom.

McCann died at Clark Air Force Base hospital north of Manila, where he was brought the day after crossing the Chinese border into Hong Kong on a stretcher April 6.

Ike Driver's Permit

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower showed up unexpectedly yesterday at the State Police barracks—a few miles from his farm home—to take an eye test required to secure a learner's permit to drive an automobile in Pennsylvania.

Eisenhower first tried to read the eye chart without his glasses, but was unable to do so. He passed easily with them on.

Rusk Explains JFK Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is planning to use its proposed new long-term foreign aid program to promote "social reform" and narrow the gap between rich and poor in the world's underdeveloped countries.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the carrying out of such reforms will mean sacrifice on the part of recipient nations and they may be reluctant to take the necessary "radical and difficult steps" unless the United States can assure them of long-term assistance.

5-YEAR PERIOD

In a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce last night Rusk called for steady and quiet support from the nation for President John F. Kennedy's projected foreign aid operation. It now depends on congressional action on Kennedy's request to make funds for foreign aid loans available over a five-year period.

Foreign aid programs of the past have, for the most part, been dependent on annual appropriation by Congress. This limited the extent of commitments which the U.S. could make to other countries.

Rusk argued that in helping countries which are trying to build their economies from the ground up the annual appropriations systems no longer is adequate.

RED BLOC

In arguing for support from the business community for assistance to the underdeveloped nations, Rusk said the need would be impelling even in the absence of the Soviet-Red Chinese promotion of world revolution.

"But the bloc is there," he said, "and what would be impelling becomes a matter of life and death for freedom itself. The bloc has moved into economic and technical assistance with increasingly large resources and with considerable effect."

Ike Is Held Critical Of Invasion Tactics

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was represented today as believing that inadequate military planning contributed to the Cuban invasion failure.

The former president, who has given his backing to President John F. Kennedy in the Cuban and Laotian crises, was reported to have criticized in a discussion Monday with Republican leaders at Gettysburg, Pa., the military tactics employed by the invading Cuban rebel forces.

NO BLAME

Without attempting to assess any blame, Eisenhower was quoted as wondering if the Joint Chiefs of Staff had been consulted in any detail about the mounting of the invasion.

The former president was reported to have expressed the view that most of the heavy military equipment was loaded into a single old Liberty ship that could hardly withstand any shore battery fire or aerial attack. He reportedly said this seemed inconceivable to him.

MILITARY MAN

As an old military man, Eisenhower was represented as feeling that anybody who had studied the battle of Gallipoli would have known in advance that it would be almost impossible to make the kind of landing that was attempted.

In 1915 the Allies attempted landings on Turkey's coastline in an attempt to seize the Dardanelles but were repulsed with heavy losses after months of fighting.

The former president was said to have made it clear he was speaking from a military standpoint only. He is known to have told the Republicans he feels they should avoid criticizing Kennedy in the grave crises in the world today.

Some of these leaders said it was Eisenhower's view that if possible the United States should avoid acting alone in attempting to solve any crisis. They quoted him as favoring cooperation with allies.

Eisenhower's reported view that much of the military equipment was loaded onto a single ship virtually coincided with information pieced together by a U.S. official in the days immediately following the mid-April invasion.

From a variety of sources it was reported then that the invading force were assembled in the United States and went to Guatemala for training.

Sometime in March, the sources said, the Guatemalan government served notice that the trainees must leave the country soon. This impelled the invaders to make their attempt whether they were ready or not, it was reported.

The situation in Guatemala was said to have been an important element in persuading the Joint Chiefs of Staff and other top administration advisers to go along with the invasion attempt even though there was some reservation in high quarters in Washington as to whether the force was adequate and the necessary uprisings inside Cuba would develop. They never did.

Modern scientific theory holds that the aurora borealis and its southern counterpart, the aurora australis, are caused by electrically charged particles emitted from the sun.

Brown Signs Tough Bill On Narcotics Offenders

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown signed into law today a bill providing tough new penalties designed to curb California's narcotics traffic.

The bill bars probation and sets mandatory minimum prison terms for repeat offenders, or those convicted for the first time of sale of hard narcotics to a minor. Judges can still grant probation or suspend prison sentences for other first offenders.

It was hailed by Brown as a milestone in the state's 99-year fight to control illegal narcotics.

"We now have provided sharp increases in prison sentences and mandatory terms calling for imprisonment for up to life for those who insist on dealing in these miserable commodities," he said in remarks prepared for the bill-signing ceremony.

The bill by Assemblyman Clayton A. Dills, (D-Gardena), and Sen. Edwin J. Regan, (D-Weaverville), won heavy legislative approval.

The new law effective Sept. 15, provides a mandatory minimum of five years in prison with out possibility of probation or parole for adults who sell heroin to minors.

It also does away with optional county jail terms in place of prison sentences and creates a new offense of possession for sale. No one sentenced to prison for offenses involving heroin, opium, or other "hard narcotics"—would be eligible for parole before two years.

Under existing law, some offenders are paroled after six months.

Possession now is punishable on first conviction by one year in the county jail, or one to 10 years in state prison.

Glenwood Home Owners Plan Hawaiian Party

A Hawaiian party, with a trip for two to Hawaii as a prize, is being planned by the Glenwood Home Owners Assn., it was announced at last night's meeting of the association.

The party will be held on June 17 at McNear's Barn, according to Mrs. John J. Madigan, publicity chairman for the association. Mrs. Winston Harris is the chairman of the party committee.

Plan To Isolate Heroin Addicts Gains In Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's plan for a unique state hospital—where heroin addicts would be isolated and forced to undergo medical treatment for from six months to 10 years—has cleared the first legislative committee without opposition.

The action yesterday by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which has been split down the middle on most other narcotics issues, indicated strong support for the idea, part of Gov. Brown's program.

Two Democratic assemblymen—Nicholas Petris of Oakland and George A. Willson of Huntington Park — dropped their own proposals and approved the governor's bill introduced by Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville), chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Except marijuana users, all narcotics addicts or persons in imminent danger of becoming addicts could be sent to the new hospital, except those convicted of violent crimes. Those would still be sent to penitentiaries.

California is second, well behind New York, in the estimated total of narcotics addicts. One recent estimate puts the California total at 10,000 to 20,000, but that includes marijuana users.

The total number of hard narcotic addicts, and those in "imminent danger" of becoming such, is anybody's guess.

MAJOR DEVELOPMENT?

Larkspur Approves Assessment District

An assessment district got the Larkspur City Council's go-ahead last night which may pave the way for a major commercial-apartment development in lowlands near Redwod High School.

However, City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner was careful to attach strings to the go-ahead so that the district will be nullified if the planning commission and city council do not approve the necessary rezoning.

Reedland Heights, Inc., plans to develop the area, running northward from the intersection of Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue to Corte Madera Creek. Five acres fronting on Doherty Drive would become a new commercial district. The remainder would be apartments.

The area is now zoned for single-family dwellings, but it is not buildable because the land is too low.

The assessment district would finance five feet of fill to bring the land up to the necessary grade, besides the usual streets, sewer and water lines and other utilities.

Kenneth Jones of the firm of Kirkbride, Wilson, Harzfeld and Wallace, San Anselmo assessment district attorneys, estimated the total assessment at $390,300. Reedland Heights, Inc., is the sole property owner affected.

A petition for rezoning is to be presented to the Larkspur Planning Commission at its next meeting.

Marin Employment Continues To Rise

"With the improving weather and drying out of the ground, the building trades are reporting a return to normal spring activity," said Hugh Cassidy, secretary of the council.

IT'S SORT OF A STONE AGE GOLD MINE

April rains washed a few rocks from his wall the other day and one cracked in half. Inside was a petrified legbone of a mannipus, a three-toed horse of the Pleistocene Age that became extinct 10 million years ago.

Paleontologists at the University of California have found mannipus teeth and jawbones at the quarry where Kendall got the rock. They termed it a "significant find."

Congress and the Maryland and Delaware legislatures have passed acts approving restoration of the Mason-Dixon Line markers through those two states.

L.A. Educator Suggests, Courses In TV Viewing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A noted educator suggests that schools teach classes in TV viewing.

Surveys show that children spend as much time in front of TV sets as they do in schools, Dr. Samuel B. Gould, chancellor of the University of California at Santa Barbara said yesterday.

"Whether or not we like it," Dr. Gould told the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, "our children are learning something during all these hours in front of the television —even when what they learn is inane, repetitious, coarse, or even false."

He suggested schools could help develop a sense of discrimination in the student "to provide some analytical base by which a student could refine his judgments, and encourage him to spend more of his time on worthwhile matters."

Niagara Falls will retreat into Lake Erie in 27,000 years, if erosion continues at the present rate.

Mayor Voted Another Term In Larkspur

Arthur E. Storhaug was re-elected by unanimous vote of his fellow city councilmen last night to serve another year as mayor of Larkspur.

Storhaug has been mayor since H. H. (Steve) Wheeler resigned last fall to move to Southern California.

The council accepted the resignation from the planning commission of James G. Chesnut of 10 Tamalpais Avenue, but a rumored shakeup of the commission failed to materialize.

There had been reports that one or more councilmen would suggest that Price J. Hall also resign from the planning commission, because as a public relations man he represents the Greenbrae Co., owned by the Schultz interests who often have matters before the planning commission. No such suggestion was raised at the meeting, however.

The council received long-awaited word last night from Councilman Lesley A. Daveler, head of the zoning committee: the proposed new comprehensive zoning ordinance will be ready for presentation on May 23.

Also at the Larkspur City Council meeting:

1. Administrative - professional zoning of an extention of Bon Air Road, recommended by the planning commission, was approved.

2. Approved an agreement with Schultz Development Co. which will give the city the power to regulate parking in the Bon Air Shopping Center. The city had been faced with the difficulty that the center's road and parking area are on private property, so "no parking" zones could not be established. Schultz leased the necessary land to the city for a roadway, with an agreement that the city would not be responsible for street repairs, thus giving it the right to set up "no parking" zones.

3. Bids on four sub-standard lots owned by the city, to be sold as either two or three parcels so they will meet present city requirements, were called for May 24.

4. Time for filing of a final map of Schultz Development Co.'s big Lagoon subdivision was extended for one year, at the request of Niels Schultz Jr. The firm filed a temporary map one year ago yesterday but is not yet ready to proceed with the project.

Rained-Out Carnival Planned For Saturday

Nearly 400 high school boys and girls had prepared 30 food-and-fun booths last week in anticipation of a Saturday noon opening, hoping to raise money for a YMCA World Service Carnival. Object of the affair was to aid a project of building a YMCA in the Jordan section of Jerusalem.

When downpour started before noon a quick council was held and a one-week postponement was decided on.

Plans are to sell candy leis, snow cones, cotton candy, hot dogs, salads, pickles, punch, cakes, fudge and brownies. Entertainment will include sponge, potato, record and basketball throws, a fish pond, bingo, water pistols and candles, a car bash and a "duck tank," with a pretty girl as target.

Also at the Larkspur City Council meeting:

1. Administrative - professional zoning of an extention of Bon Air Road, recommended by the planning commission, was approved.

2. Approved an agreement with Schultz Development Co. which will give the city the power to regulate parking in the Bon Air Shopping Center. The city had been faced with the difficulty that the center's road and parking area are on private property, so "no parking" zones could not be established. Schultz leased the necessary land to the city for a roadway, with an agreement that the city would not be responsible for street repairs, thus giving it the right to set up "no parking" zones.

3. Bids on four sub-standard lots owned by the city, to be sold as either two or three parcels so they will meet present city requirements, were called for May 24.

4. Time for filing of a final map of Schultz Development Co.'s big Lagoon subdivision was extended for one year, at the request of Niels Schultz Jr. The firm filed a temporary map one year ago yesterday but is not yet ready to proceed with the project.

Rained-Out Carnival Planned For Saturday

NEW LOOK? — Here's the way San Rafael's City Hall would look if the city council adopted landscaping proposed by the San Rafael Beautiful Committee. Paul Steinmetz, landscape architect, sets the curving benches so people can sit and look across the street at St. Raphael's Church. The obelisk would be replaced by a decorative boulder in the south corner of the park with an appropriate inscription to the veterans.

San Rafael To Get City Hall Park Plan

A proposal to convert the two areas in front of the San Rafael City Hall into two small parks will be presented to the city council at its next regular meeting, by the San Rafael Beautiful Committee.

"With the rapidly diminishing number of open spaces in the center of town, there is a need for such a park by the many tourists who come to visit and photograph the San Rafael Mission, just across the street," said Gene O'Connor, president of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee.

The proposed plans call for curving benches on each side of the main steps to the city hall. The walk leading into the police station would be moved west. The obelisk monument to veterans would be replaced by an ornamental boulder with a brass plaque. A small reflecting pool would be built on the south side of the steps.

Paul Steinmetz, landscape architect and member of the committee, has drawn plans for the proposed change and made sketches showing how the city hall would look with the parks on each side.

"Even if the city hall is moved or its site changed into a parking lot, the parks would be a permanent addition to the city," O'Connor said.

"The American Legion has expressed an interest toward contributing to the erection of the plaque," O'Connor said.

'Riot' Letter Is Sent To FBI's Hoover

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A state assemblyman says he will take back his charge of lying if FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover will take back his charge that the San Francisco City Hall riots were Communist-inspired.

Assemblyman John A. O'Connell (D-San Francisco) said in a letter to Hoover that the FBI director may have been misled in his conclusions about the incident outside a hearing of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

O'Connell said that if after review of the facts, Hoover would concede that much of the opposition was neither inspired nor directed by Communists, "I shall be very happy to make a public retraction."

Larkspur Faces Cost Rise In Sanitation

The City of Larkspur may find itself in the position of having to pay more for sewage disposal or finding itself without a means to dispose of it.

This was brought out at last night's meeting of the Ross Valley Sanitary District Board, said Ralph C. Noah, district manager.

"The contract with Larkspur expired about five years ago," Noah said, "and we have been treating their sewage on a verbal interim agreement.

"We are asking for a meeting with the city council within a month so that we can negotiate a new contract."

Larkspur is now paying for sewage treatment at the rate of $29 a million gallons. However, it is exceeding its alloted gallonage under its old contract, according to Noah.

"Corte Madera came up with $400,000 to help pay for plant expansion," Noah said. "We might find it necessary to ask Larkspur to help."

What if Larkspur refused to pay more for sewage disposal or refused to help with plant expansion?

"We could stop treating their sewage for them," Noah said. "There is nothing that says we have to do it for them, but they have to dispose of it."

School Site Theft

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

Full-Scale Study Of CIA Ordered By President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy today ordered a special six-member board to conduct a full-scale study of the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency and all other government foreign intelligence activities.

Spurred by the failure of last month's Cuban invasion, the president turned the inquiry over to his "board of consultants," headed by Dr. James R. Killian. It will report periodically to the president.

The White House announced yesterday that Killian, chairman of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, would head the panel. The president followed up by issuing an order which revived the board with broadened powers and appointed new members to it.

The board, whose members were drawn from outside the government, will be responsible "for conducting an objective, independent review of the foreign intelligence and related activities of the government."

yards of fill, taken from the side of Baltimore Canyon, to the Town of Corte Madera, which has used it to fill its city park site.

Other residents called attention to a slide area developing as result of the steep cut made for the subdivision, which already has knocked down trees and threatens to pour dirt and boulders on lots below.

Kohler, in a lengthy presentation, said original specifications for the subdivision, accepted by the city, had (1) lacked any gradient, (2) made no reference to removal of brush and trees and (3) made no provision for settling the dirt.

But even those specifications were not met, Kohler declared. Lauterwasser, he said, failed to grade back the steep cuts, failed to replace a log retaining wall as agreed in the original specifications, and failed to meet sewage and drainage requirements.

City Manager Piper was instructed, however, to hire an engineer to go over the entire plans for the subdivision before the May 17 meeting.

Wife Slashed By Scissors, Mate Jailed

Mrs. Swezy told Deputy Sheriff R. F. Bertrand and Sgt. Edward Levine that her husband had hit her and cut her on the forearm with a pair of scissors. Officers found a pair of scissors under the bed. Swezy had disappeared from his home.

Mrs. Swezy was treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries under her eye, forearm and chest and released.

Workmen Fall, Injured In Two Accidents

Two workmen were hospitalized with injuries suffered in separate industrial accidents in Marin today.

John J. O'Connell, 50, of San Francisco, suffered a concussion, fractured right wrist, and fractured pelvis when he fell from an eight-foot ladder at the county civic center north of Santa Venetia about 9 a.m. He is an iron worker.

Jack Kerr, 38, of 140 Novak Court, Petaluma, fell from a roof on Walters Road in Ross about an hour later. He suffered face cuts and a possible jaw fracture. Kerr is a painter employed by Mazza Brothers of San Rafael.

Both men were taken by United Ambulance to Marin General Hospital, where they were described as in satisfactory conditions.

Machinists Back On Job Here Today

Striking machinists at the Bergman Manufacturing Co. of San Rafael went back to work this morning. An agreement was reached between the union and management Tuesday.

The strike began on April 21 when the 65 members of Machinists Union 238 walked out over failure of contract negotiations.

O. E. McNally, business representative of the union, would not disclose the exact terms of the new three-year contract accepted Tuesday.

The contract calls for wage increases during the three year period, but McNally would not state how much these were.

Projector Missing

Joseph M. Jacobsen of 112 Gloria Drive, San Rafael, told police he absent-mindedly left his slide projector on the curb at 11 Marin Street after showing some slides. He missed it when he arrived home. When he returned, it wasn't there.

REJECTS

tion without prejudice until a tentative map is presented, the density of which conforms to the Mill Valley master plan, we would be agreeable to reviewing the tentative map."

Goheen appeared to ask the council to overrule the city planning commission's opposition to rezoning. "We are in the process of preparing a master plan," he said. "We don't have the slightest idea of what the density of the plan will be." He said he doubted if it would be over the county's limits which would be under 700 units for the 188 acres. He said he didn't see how one could condemn a plan when it is incomplete.

"We should make the density the criteria on the approval," retorted Wornum. He said he would like to see the density compare to Mill Valley's Master Plan—464 to 511 units for the area.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rodman, former city councilman, led what Acting Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks called "one of the best organized lobbies to come before us." Mrs. Rodman said the chambers could be packed by a portion of the 500 people who have signed a protest petition but that she asked only one representative from each area concerned to appear.

The council allowed her to introduce Arthur K. Smart of the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs; F. J. McClain, president of the Alto District Assn.; N. Robert Heyer, president of the Sutton Manor Improvement Assn., and Mrs. W. W. Nichols of the Meadowsweet Improvement Assn.

Mrs. Nichols, who said, "We do not oppose apartments but the rezoning," told council members: "We have left our children and families all in an uproar fighting this thing. . . . I have been out for two straight weeks."

McClain said, "We would like the same treatment on the east side of the railroad tracks as is given on the west side."

Smart said: "We have a lot of planned confusion here. We must not let the confusion play against the interest of the people."

Mill Valley Planning Consultant Robert Cornish said: ". . . it would be advisable for the county before rezoning such area to revise the zoning ordinance to include density control."

"There seems to be quite a few apartments along enchanted knolls," said Goheen. "I wonder if that has changed the entire character of the community?"

"It hasn't helped it any," Mrs. Rodman snapped.

Four letters were read in opposition to rezoning.

Meeting Called Off

An adjourned meeting of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board, set for last night, was called off because information needed for the meeting was not available, Secretary Samuel A. Fletcher said today. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. May 15 at the Trestle Glen treatment plant.

Hopper is suspected of making phony loans and pocketing about $14,000 while manager of the San Rafael branch since last October. In Petaluma, where he was manager from April 1959 to last October, he is suspected of taking about $12,000.

According to Inspector Midyett, Hopper denied gambling or other extravgances but explained he used all the money "on cars and living expenses."

In Petaluma, Hopper was known as a civic leader. He assisted in welcoming visiting yachtsmen and was a member of the convention and tourist committee of the Chamber of Commerce. He was also chairman of the Fourth District Fair parade two years ago and was to have assisted with the event this year.

A native of Dublin, Ireland and a citizen of Canada, Hopper speaks fluent German and is credited with knowledge of Chinese, Polish, French and several other languages.

Frienos of Hopper said they believe he was a captain in the British intelligence during World War II, but Marin authorities expressed doubts on the accuracy of this statement. He would have been only 17 when the war ended.

Hopper is married and lives in Petaluma.

San Rafael Contractor Turned In Low Bid

Brown-Ely., San Rafael contractor, with a bid of $419,097, was low bidder of three for road work in Shasta County, the State Division of Highways announced yesterday at bid openings.

The bid was for widening and realigning Federal Aid Secondary County Road 1075 between 5.8 and 11.8 miles east of Millville.

and chocked me—he came with his hands outstretched. I ran into the children's bedroom. That is where he choked me.

"He was wearing a tie and I pulled on the ends. He left the room, took off the tie, came back and choked me again. He kept on till the little boy (Anthony, now 9) came in and told me the police were coming. Tony told me he had called them."

Officer Ira Lee Sellers was told "Luis tried to kill me" and, said the witness, though Aldeguer "tried to pass it off as a little family argument," Sellers told her that "if Luis came back that night, I wouldn't have to press charges, he would."

Husband and wife next met Jan. 14, when he spoke of her spending time in hotels and motels with Collins and told her he wouldn't return to the family home, she testified.

One week later, she went on, she and Collins were seated at a kitchen table in the Mill Valley home. Meantime, she testified, they had been staying together at hotels and motels, while the children were with a sister in San Francisco.

Mrs. Aldeguer said she found that while they were away, a window in the children's room had been broken and the room entered.

The front door opened, Mrs. Aldeguer said, but her little girl, Adella, now 11, said, "There's no one there." Then she heard a small door in the rear garage open. She went out to investigate when suddenly "I saw Luis crash through the glass" in a back porch window.

"I ran back into the kitchen and told Roger to run," she testified. Then, she said, she went into the children's bedroom, returned to a hall telephone and called for police, then reached the doorway and "cried out Luis's name—he was coming in the door."

"He came at me to attack me," she said, "but I didn't see the knife till I was lying on the floor.

"He struck out (gesturing). I don't remember the details very well, it was just a great flurry. . . . I was dodging; he was trying to hit me. I wound up on the floor. I don't know how I got to the floor.

"I was trying to ward off his blows—but this time I saw the knife in his hands."

She was unable to identify a knife shown by Garety as the weapon used.

"Did he say anything?" asked Garety.

"He said, 'You thought you would make a fool of me.'"

"How many times were you struck by the defendant?"

"I counted 27 . . . in both arms, the back, the chest, around the waist, down the right side of the hips, and the legs.

"Suddenly he was gone. I had kicked the knife out of his hands, and he left."

Three neighbors arrived soon after "to see if they could be of any help," Mrs. Aldeguer said, and "the police were there very shortly."

April 26 and said he wanted to clean the gutters on the roof as he had done for the past five years. She told him he would have to check with the sisters' family first.

Mrs. Pylant said another nan came the following day and told her he was supposed to take Josefa Daniel to the Wells Fargo Bank American Trust in San Anselmo so she could "sign some papers."

The maid told the man that Josefa could not go any place because of her age.

Serio said the man returned the following day, April 28, after 5 p.m. when the maid had gone home. He took Josefa to the bank and attempted to have her draw out $800 from her account to give him, but found there was not that much in the account, Serio said.

Lawson kept the $800 check Josepa Daniel had written, Roy, the sister's nephew, told San Anselmo police Tuesday. Roy told police Lawson would probably try to get the check cashed in Vallejo.

He was arrested in the Bank of America in Vallejo as he attempted to cash the check.

Lawson has no previous criminal record in California, Serio said.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

Full-Scale Study Of CIA Ordered By President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy today ordered a special six-member board to conduct a full-scale study of the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency and all other government foreign intelligence activities.

Spurred by the failure of last month's Cuban invasion, the president turned the inquiry over to his "board of consultants," headed by Dr. James R. Killian. It will report periodically to the president.

The White House announced yesterday that Killian, chairman of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, would head the panel. The president followed up by issuing an order which revived the board with broadened powers and appointed new members to it.

The board, whose members were drawn from outside the government, will be responsible "for conducting an objective, independent review of the foreign intelligence and related activities of the government."

yards of fill, taken from the side of Baltimore Canyon, to the Town of Corte Madera, which has used it to fill its city park site.

Other residents called attention to a slide area developing as result of the steep cut made for the subdivision, which already has knocked down trees and threatens to pour dirt and boulders on lots below.

Kohler, in a lengthy presentation, said original specifications for the subdivision, accepted by the city, had (1) lacked any gradient, (2) made no reference to removal of brush and trees and (3) made no provision for settling the dirt.

But even those specifications were not met, Kohler declared. Lauterwasser, he said, failed to grade back the steep cuts, failed to replace a log retaining wall as agreed in the original specifications, and failed to meet sewage and drainage requirements.

City Manager Piper was instructed, however, to hire an engineer to go over the entire plans for the subdivision before the May 17 meeting.

Wife Slashed By Scissors, Mate Jailed

David Clark Swezy, 44, of Kernberry, Marinwood, was was in Marin County Jail today on suspicion of beating his wife and cutting her with a pair of scissors at their home last night.

Mrs. Swezy told Deputy Sheriff R. F. Bertrand and Sgt. Edward Levine that her husband had hit her and cut her on the forearm with a pair of scissors. Officers found a pair of scissors under the bed. Swezy had disappeared from his home.

Mrs. Swezy was treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries under her eye, forearm and chest and released.

Workmen Fall, Injured In Two Accidents

Two workmen were hospitalized with injuries suffered in separate industrial accidents in Marin today.

John J. O'Connell, 50, of San Francisco, suffered a concussion, fractured right wrist, and fractured pelvis when he fell from an eight-foot ladder at the county civic center north of Santa Venetia about 9 a.m. He is an iron worker.

Jack Kerr, 38, of 140 Novak Court, Petaluma, fell from a roof on Walters Road in Ross about an hour later. He suffered face cuts and a possible jaw fracture. Kerr is a painter employed by Mazza Brothers of San Rafael.

Both men were taken by United Ambulance to Marin General Hospital, where they were described as in satisfactory conditions.

Machinists Back On Job Here Today

Striking machinists at the Bergman Manufacturing Co. of San Rafael went back to work this morning. An agreement was reached between the union and management Tuesday.

The strike began on April 21 when the 65 members of Machinists Union 238 walked out over failure of contract negotiations.

O. E. McNally, business representative of the union, would not disclose the exact terms of the new three-year contract accepted Tuesday.

The contract calls for wage increases during the three year period, but McNally would not state how much these were.

Projector Missing

Joseph M. Jacobsen of 112 Gloria Drive, San Rafael, told police he absent-mindedly left his slide projector on the curb at 11 Marin Street after showing some slides. He missed it when he arrived home. When he returned, it wasn't there.

tion without prejudice until a tentative map is presented, the density of which conforms to the Mill Valley master plan, we would be agreeable to reviewing the tentative map."

Goheen appeared to ask the council to overrule the city planning commission's opposition to rezoning. "We are in the process of preparing a master plan," he said. "We don't have the slightest idea of what the density of the plan will be." He said he doubted if it would be over the county's limits which would be under 700 units for the 188 acres. He said he didn't see how one could condemn a plan when it is incomplete.

"We should make the density the criteria on the approval," retorted Wornum. He said he would like to see the density compare to Mill Valley's Master Plan—464 to 511 units for the area.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rodman, former city councilman, led what Acting Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks called "one of the best organized lobbies to come before us." Mrs. Rodman said the chambers could be packed by a portion of the 500 people who have signed a protest petition but that she asked only one representative from each area concerned to appear.

The council allowed her to introduce Arthur K. Smart of the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs; F. J. McClain, president of the Alto District Assn.; N. Robert Heyer, president of the Sutton Manor Improvement Assn., and Mrs. W. W. Nichols of the Meadowsweet Improvement Assn.

Mrs. Nichols, who said, "We do not oppose apartments but the rezoning," told council members: "We have left our children and families all in an uproar fighting this thing. . . . I have been out for two straight weeks."

McClain said, "We would like the same treatment on the east side of the railroad tracks as is given on the west side."

Smart said: "We have a lot of planned confusion here. We must not let the confusion play against the interest of the people."

Mill Valley Planning Consultant Robert Cornish said: ". . . it would be advisable for the county before rezoning such area to revise the zoning ordinance to include density control."

"There seems to be quite a few apartments along enchanted knolls," said Goheen. "I wonder if that has changed the entire character of the community?"

"It hasn't helped it any," Mrs. Rodman snapped.

Four letters were read in opposition to rezoning.

Meeting Called Off

An adjourned meeting of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board, set for last night, was called off because information needed for the meeting was not available, Secretary Samuel A. Fletcher said today. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. May 15 at the Trestle Glen treatment plant.

STOCKS TODAY

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.2 million shares compared with 4.94 million yesterday.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to around a point but some specially-situated stocks did much better.

Doctors Veto Modification, Abolition Of Loyalty Oath

Marin Proposal Rejected By State Group

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California Medical Association's governing body has rejected two proposals to modify and one to abolish its loyalty oath.

Instead, the House of Delegates resoundingly voted by voice yesterday to leave intact the existing oath which says:

"I do not belong and have not belonged to any organization advocating the overthrow or change in the form of government of the U.S.A. by violent or unlawful means, nor do I belong or have belonged to any organization while it was listed, published or held to be subversive by the Department of Justice . . ."

The oath is taken by delegates, officers, and employees of the association.

The chairman of the San Mateo County Medical Society delegation introduced a bylaws change that would have deleted the oath.

The resolution said, in part, "The signing of an oath disclaiming disloyalty is an infringement on constitutional liberties . . . The loyal need sign no oath and the disloyal will sign anyway, so that the oath can serve no useful purpose."

Dr. Henry S. Richanbach of San Mateo County said in arguing for the proposal:

"These highly explicit loyalty oaths are an attempt to enforce conformity of opinion."

He said the proposal was identical to one offered by the San Francisco delegation at last year's meeting of the House of Delegates.

Dr. Allyn J. McDowell, Los Angeles, retorted that he felt compelled to answer arguments that the oath is useless, that Communists will sign it anyway.

"This is what Alger Hiss was caught on," he exclaimed. "Perjury—that's basic."

He urged the doctors to "leave our loyalty oath as it is"—and they did.

Delegates voted down a bylaw amendment submitted by a committee. This change would have added a disclaimer of membership in subversive groups "within the five years immediately preceding the taking of this oath."

Also voted down was a proposal from the Marin Medical Society to shorten the oath to:

"I hereby declare my loyalty to the United States of America and to the Constitution of the California Medical Assn."

In another action at the concluding session of their annual meeting, the physicians urged the American Medical Association to polish up its public image.

A resolution adopted by the delegates said, in part:

"The present public relations policy of the AMA as exemplified by recent television broadcasts and news releases has resulted in an erroneous impression that the AMA is opposed to the principle of providing medical care to the indigent . . .

"The changing socio—economic structure of this country requires that the AMA assume the leadership in the socio—economic field and accelerate its positive program for the distribution of medical care . . .

"The AMA should exert vigorous leadership in the development of better methods of providing voluntary pre-paid medical care for all segments of the public."

Earlier yesterday the delegates voted 296-63 to merge the medical and osteopathic professions. The proposal next faces action before the California Osteopathic Assn. at its meeting in nearby Long Beach on May 17. The proposal's stated primary purpose is to improve health services and expand medical teaching facilities.

PRESIDENT GETS A TRIM

Library In Mill Valley Will Join Bay Group

The Mill Valley City Council last night approved the Mill Valley library's joining the 14-member North Bay Cooperative Library System.

With this approval, the library plans to become a member beginning July 1, Mrs. Ruth Schlemmer, public relations officer, said today.

The system, which operates under a federal grant, provides cataloguing, joint buying and preparation of books for libraries. It charges member libraries 50 cents per book. The library now receives a similar service from the State Library at Sacramento at no charge; However, the State Library will enforce a 50-cent charge starting July 1.

Acting Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, who opposed the plan a year ago when the City Council turned it down, said he now favors the system. "In the long run I think it will be beneficial to the library and can be operated successfully," he said.

The council also:

1. Heard first reading of an amendment to the sewer ordinance which changes the cost of sewer hokup from $200 per structure to $400 per dwelling unit outside the city and from $100 per structure to $100 per dwelling unit inside the city.
2. By resolution, commended retired Police Chief James P. McGowan for his "devotion to the city" during his tenure as chief lasting almost 25 years.
3. Continued discussion on substandard lots until next meeting.
4. Approved subdivisions of James E. Egger and Herbert Shapiro for a shopping center on their properties at Miller and La Goma Avenues.
5. Referred to the Planning Commission a letter from the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce requesing the city Council and Planning Commission to rezone the nine-acre Bothin property at Miller Avenue and Camino Alto from professional - administrative to "straight commercial."
7. Gave permission to Cub Scout Pack 28 to use Throckmorton Avenue in front of Old Mill School May 21 for its annual soap box derby.
8. Heard that traffic Officer R. W. McNally, hired last November to handle school children crossing East Blithedale Avenue at Park School, will end his job Friday at which time the new traffic lights will be in full use.

Pay Hike Set In Lagunitas

A $200-a-year salary increase for teachers in the Lagunitas School District is embodied in a new salary schedule confirmed at a meeting of the board of trustees last night.

Contracts are to be made for next year, it was decided, on a range beginning at $4,800 and going to $8,300 in 14 steps. The former range was $4,600-$8,100.

It was also decided that new contracts will be worked out, on salaries not yet considered, with the district's non-teaching personnel working on a 12-month basis and including the custodian, bus driver and secretary. Formerly the secretary was on an 11-month basis.

Resignation of Frank Dietz as a teacher was accepted. He is going to Woodstock, Vt.

The board decided to put in writing a previously informal policy that an ailing child will not be sent home until there is assurance that a parent is at home to receive him.

Mill Valley Relents —Treasurer Gets $50

The Mill Valley City Council, becoming more and more hard-hearted over City Treasurer William G. Rutherford's ballooning expenses, relented last night to vote him $50 for May and $50 for June for operating expenses.

Council members also approved payment of two outstanding warrants, for $58 to Harry Aubuchon for accounting work and for $20 to Mrs. Mary A. Scarlet for secretarial work.

Acting Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks said: "I'm getting a little sick of hearing about this problem. We run into the same thing week after week. It is not of our making and we don't have a solution. The city treasurer is an elected official."

Three council members met at noon yesterday in a "work session" with Rutherford and former Treasurer E. H. Daniel. They discussed the fact that the $1,200 annual budget had been overspent by $713 and that funds were needed for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Councilman Michael Wornum moved last night to allow Rutherford $100 for each month but his motion died for lack of a second.

"I don't want to give him anything but I'll settle for $50," Councilman George D. Monardo said.

Wornum told the council: "We are not responsible for the choice of the city treasurer. He was elected by the people and they expect him to do a job.

The $100 for May and June voted last night is intended to carry the treasurer's office to the end of the fiscal year.

Strike Injunction Ban To Get Separate Vote

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly voted 63-1 today to strike a provision repealing the jurisdictional strike ban from legislation limiting management's right to stop strikes by obtaining court injunctions.

Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Montebello), author of the amendment, said it would permit the house to vote on the injunction issue alone. The action delayed a vote on the bill until next week.

"This is the most important bill that the legislature will have before it this session in the field of labor management relations," said Assemblyman Phillip Burton, (D-San Francisco), the author, before debate began.

"The abusive use by management of injunctions has all too frequently crippled labor's efforts to organize the unorganized workers."

Assemblyman Harold Levering (R-Los Angeles), replied that the bill, backed by the AFL-CIO's California Labor Federation, would harm both management and workers.

Wife To Be Observed At Hospital

Mrs. George Stewart, wife of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant, was committed to Sonoma State Hospital last night after an apparent suicide attempt.

Air Police and Novato police reported that Mrs. Stewart, who has a heart illness, threatened to take an overdose of heart stimulants. She locked herself in a bedroom of the Stewart home, 625 Morgan Drive, Rafael Village, then climbed out the first floor window of the bedroom and drove off in the family car.

She drove south on Highway 101, refusing to stop when sheriff's deputies and San Rafael police gave chase. She finaly was boxed in by police cars and forced to stop near the California Park overpass south of San Rafael.

She told authorities she was driving to the Golden Gate Bridge to jump. She is the wife of S/Sgt. George Stewart of the 4661st Support Squadron at the base.

Sheriff's deputies estimated she was traveling at speeds up to 85 miles per hour.

Check Burglars Cash Their 1st

Novato Police Chief Roy McLaren reported the check, for $148.50, was cashed at Kay Jewelers in San Francisco.

Burglars jimmied open a warehouse door of the company sometime Monday night. They used a huge roll of paper as a battering ram to break down the office door, then took the check writer and two and one-half pads of blank checks. The company is located on Highway 101 east of Club Rio.

HAND QUICKER THAN THE EYE —$20 WORTH

The hand proved quicker than the eye yesterday for two Sausalito 14-year-olds, Kenny Pedersen of 416 Locust Street and Forrest Allen of 501 Johnson Street.

The boys took an envelope with $20 in it to the Bank of America to deposit cancer drive funds collected by Kenny's mother, Mrs. Patricia Pedersen. But the bank was closed.

The boys walked to Vina Del Mar Plaza and sat down. Then they put the envelope—too big for their pockets—on a bench and walked around block, "keeping an eye on the money," they told police. Suddenly, the envelope disappeared.

Kenny told his father, Sausalito fireman Ralph K. Pedersen, he will work all his off time to replace the money.

Trying To Escape From His Debts —Not Authority, Convict Says

Prison inmates gamble with cartons of cigarettes, and those who go into debt are haunted by exorbitant interest rates and constant pressure from collection gangs who maintain contact between prisons.

This information came from the lips of hardened convicts in isolation at San Quentin, who testified yesterday before a Marin Superior Court jury hearing a case of attempted prison escape.

And on the strength of the testimony, inmate Eugene D. Edwards Jr., 25, robber and bad check artist from San Bernardino County, hoped to be acquitted today.

A jury of five men and seven women was to decide whether Edwards really tried to escape last Nov. 23 when he fashioned a dummy in his cell and hid in the furniture factory.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas W. Storer, prosecuting the case before Judge N. Charles Brusatori, argued that Edwards was caught hiding with a hook, which could be used to scale the wall to freedom.

Edwards, who refused the services of the public defender, acted as his own lawyer. He readily admitted the facts but said he rigged the phony "escape plot" so prison authorities would consider him a disciplinary problem and transfer him out of San Quentin. Edwards said he wants a transfer badly because he is one of the unfortunate debtors who has been tracked down from Soledad State Prison by debt collectors.

"My life is in danger," Edwards told the jury.

Inmate witnesses, called by Edwards, testified that interest on gambling debts accumulates at the rate of two-thirds of the principal every 30 days. Furthermore, they said, the debt follows the prisoner from one prison to another, with constant pressure from debt collectors.

To back up his claim, Edwards paraded a half dozen tough convicts, who said they were trying to collect from Edwards. Under Edwards' questioning, the fellow convicts admitted that it is easy to communicate between Soledad and San Quentin because inmates are always being transferred.

In his final argument, Edwards declared, "I had no intention of escaping." He said he just wanted a transfer and asked the jury to acquit him "if you have any reasonable doubt at all."

Prosecutor Storer admitted the convict had put up a "creditable defense," but reminded the jurors that the very fact that Edwards was being pressured for debt payment may be the reason why he wanted to escape prison. A mere transfer would not have helped at all, if, as Edwards contends, the debt collectors follow him from prison to prison, Storer pointed out.

Edwards is already serving five years to life. Penalty for attempted escape is another one year to life.

Harold Ramsey of the Lockheed Solar Observatory in Los Angeles will lecture at 7:45 p.m. today in Olney Hall, College of Marin. Yesterday's Independent-Journal incorrectly said the lecture would be last night. Ramsey will show time-lapse films illustrating the wave-like disturbances initiated by solar flares.

People Lined Up At Doors For San Anselmo Bargains

People were waiting at the doors of the San Anselmo business firms this morning, each with a bargain days coupon in his hand, said Mrs. Patricia Mann, chairman of the merchants committee and owner of the Yarn Nook.

"Business is awfully good," Mrs. Mann said. "The streets are very very busy and lots of people are walking around."

Coupons for the various San Anselmo stores were printed in last night's Independent-Journal. These are good for prizes which range from $5 upward in value.

"Values were good, so people are just trying to get there first," Mrs. Mann said about the early morning crowd coming into town.

The promotion will last through Saturday. Drawings for the prizes will be Monday morning.

A SPECIAL SECOND REWARD

Strike Injunction Ban To Get Separate Vote

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Assembly voted 63-1 today to strike a provision repealing the jurisdictional strike ban from legislation limiting managemen's right to stop strikes by obtaining court injunctions.

Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Montebello), author of the amendment, said it would permit the house to vote on the injunction issue alone. The action delayed a vote on the bill until next week.

"This is the most important bill that the legislature will have before it this session in the field of labor management relations," said Assemblyman Phillip Burton, (D-San Francisco), the author, before debate began.

"The abusive use by management of injunctions has all too frequently crippled labor's efforts to organize the unorganized workers."

Assemblyman Harold Levering (R-Los Angeles), replied that the bill, backed by the AFL-CIO's California Labor Federation, would harm both management and workers.

Wife To Be Observed At Hospital

Mrs. George Stewart, wife of a Hamilton Air Force Base sergeant, was committed to Sonoma State Hospital last night after an apparent suicide attempt.

Air Police and Novato police reported that Mrs. Stewart, who has a heart illness, threatened to take an overdose of heart stimulants. She locked herself in a bedroom of the Stewart home, 625 Morgan Drive, Rafael Village, then climbed out the first floor window of the bedroom and drove off in the family car.

She drove south on Highway 101, refusing to stop when sheriff's deputies and San Rafael police gave chase. She finaly was boxed in by police cars and forced to stop near the California Park overpass south of San Rafael.

She told authorities she was driving to the Golden Gate Bridge to jump. She is the wife of S/Sgt. George Stewart of the 4661st Support Squadron at the base.

Sheriff's deputies estimated she was traveling at speeds up to 85 miles per hour.

Check Burglars Cash Their 1st

Novato Police Chief Roy McLaren reported the check, for $148.50, was cashed at Kay Jewelers in San Francisco.

Burglars jimmied open a warehouse door of the company sometime Monday night. They used a huge roll of paper as a battering ram to break down the office door, then took the check writer and two and one-half pads of blank checks. The company is located on Highway 101 east of Club Rio.

HAND QUICKER THAN THE EYE —$20 WORTH

The hand proved quicker than the eye yesterday for two Sausalito 14-year-olds, Kenny Pedersen of 416 Locust Street and Forrest Allen of 501 Johnson Street.

The boys took an envelope with $20 in it to the Bank of America to deposit cancer drive funds collected by Kenny's mother, Mrs. Patricia Pedersen. But the bank was closed.

The boys walked to Vina Del Mar Plaza and sat down. Then they put the envelope—too big for their pockets—on a bench and walked around block, "keeping an eye on the money," they told police. Suddenly, the envelope disappeared.

Kenny told his father, Sausalito fireman Ralph K. Pedersen, he will work all his off time to replace the money.

Trying To Escape From His Debts —Not Authority, Convict Says

Prison inmates gamble with cartons of cigarettes, and those who go into debt are haunted by exorbitant interest rates and constant pressure from collection gangs who maintain contact between prisons.

This information came from the lips of hardened convicts in isolation at San Quentin, who testified yesterday before a Marin Superior Court jury hearing a case of attempted prison escape.

And on the strength of the testimony, inmate Eugene D. Edwards Jr., 25, robber and bad check artist from San Bernardino County, hoped to be acquitted today.

A jury of five men and seven women was to decide whether Edwards really tried to escape last Nov. 23 when he fashioned a dummy in his cell and hid in the furniture factory.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas W. Storer, prosecuting the case before Judge N. Charles Brusatori, argued that Edwards was caught hiding with a hook, which could be used to scale the wall to freedom.

Edwards, who refused the services of the public defender, acted as his own lawyer. He readily admitted the facts but said he rigged the phony "escape plot" so prison authorities would consider him a disciplinary problem and transfer him out of San Quentin. Edwards said he wants a transfer badly because he is one of the unfortunate debtors who has been tracked down from Soledad State Prison by debt collectors.

"My life is in danger," Edwards told the jury.

Inmate witnesses, called by Edwards, testified that interest on gambling debts accumulates at the rate of two-thirds of the principal every 30 days. Furthermore, they said, the debt follows the prisoner from one prison to another, with constant pressure from debt collectors.

To back up his claim, Edwards paraded a half dozen tough convicts, who said they were trying to collect from Edwards. Under Edwards' questioning, the fellow convicts admitted that it is easy to communicate between Soledad and San Quentin because inmates are always being transferred.

In his final argument, Edwards declared, "I had no intention of escaping." He said he just wanted a transfer and asked the jury to acquit him "if you have any reasonable doubt at all."

Prosecutor Storer admitted the convict had put up a "creditable defense," but reminded the jurors that the very fact that Edwards was being pressured for debt payment may be the reason why he wanted to escape prison. A mere transfer would not have helped at all, if, as Edwards contends, the debt collectors follow him from prison to prison, Storer pointed out.

Edwards is already serving five years to life. Penalty for attempted escape is another one year to life.

6,000 Square Feet Of Beer, Wine, And A Warehouse Of Bargains

New quarters for Sylvio E. De Maestri and son Joe (De Maestri Distributing Co.) at 628 Lindaro Street, San Rafael, give them about 6,000 square feet for their stocks of Falstaff beer, Calso water, Eleven Cellars and Cribari Wines — one-third more space than they had at 11 Bay Street, San Rafael.

The 628 Lindaro spot was formerly occupied by Standard Sales Co. that moved its stocks to San Francisco about a month ago.

Joe, of course, wasn't around for the move last week — too busy trying to score up points for the Yankees.

ANOTHER AUCTION of unclaimed storage goods is on the calendar for 10 a.m. this Saturday at the warehouse of United Moving and Storage, Francis and Magnolia, Larkspur. United features one every year on the first Saturday in May.

Refrigerators, stoves, washing machines, TV sets, furniture and household goods will go to the highest bidder, plus the usual collection of boxes, cartons, barrels, footlockers and trunks with contents unknown. Your guess is as good as anyone's on the value of the latter items.

Editor Maurice Flagg from Washington, D. C., recently spent about 10 days in the county taking in junior progress at high schools, the Katharine Branson School, Marin Aid to retarded children and other centers—all of which will be illustrated by photographs from the camera of Ken Molino.

The Red Cross Journal periodically picks different areas of the country to publicize—Marin County was chosen this year because junior activities are far ahead of the average. The magazine is circulated throughout the United States.

WITHIN the next year or so, look for more Wilshire Holiday service stations in Marin. Parent firm Gulf Oil Co. is on a big expansion program and this county is among the areas hot on the list for building up business.

Desirable locations are corners properly zoned, about 150 by 150 feet in size—and traffic, of course.

Don Minto who had the place for more than two years is back with his father Austin and brother Ray at Minto's Shell Service in Kentfield. Says Don: "The family was too much spread out."

THE JOHN HANCOCK Mutual Life Insurance Co. officially recognizes the opening of its North Bay area general agency office at 1726 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael tomorrow.

General agent Richard A. Secrist of Novato who was appointed to pioneer the territory on the first of the year now has six agents employed and says the office is still in the recruiting stage—he'll have 18 or 20 by the end of 1961. Secrist, a certified life underwriter, has been with the company since 1950.

The San Rafael office is the fifth general agency to be opened in the Bay Area; others are located in San Francisco (Western home office), San Mateo, San Jose and Oakland.

John Hancock is the fifth largest life insurance company in the United States. It's home office is in Boston. Assets amount to more than six billion dollars. Total life insurance in force is 26.2 billion dollars, with 1.4 billion dollars in force in California.

Ann Curtis Cuneo and her senior synchronized swimming team, will present a water ballet in the swimming pool.

There will be prizes with the proceeds going to the Terra Linda Recreation Fund.

Boy, 5, Sues Mill Valley For Injury

A 5-year-old Marinwood boy, struck down by a car in San Rafael last year, is suing the City of Mill Valley and one of its employees for $25,000 damages.

The suit was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court by the boy's father, Lawson L. Wood of 295 Adobestone Court. His son Michael was hurt in a mishap last Aug. 30 at McPhail's Yard, 530 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Driver of the car was William R. Brock of 40 Strawberry Circle, an employee of the City of Mill Valley, according to the suit.

A demonstration of bicycle safety will be given at 10:30 a.m. May 16 at Old Mill School in Mill Valley by officer Paul Zencious, Marin County safety coordinator of the California Highway Patrol.

Ex-Navy Pilot Turns To Missionary Work

Twelve years a Navy flyer, Ralph W. Burnett of Santa Venetia is studying to become a missionary at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary and will leave in August for further training in Costa Rica.

Burnett, 38, will go to Costa Rica with his wife, Patricia, and four sons. He will study Spanish for one year, then be assigned to Buenos Aires for five years as treasurer of the Argentine Baptist Mission, a Southern Baptist Missionary organization.

The ex-pilot flew the Atlantic in anti-submarine warfare during World War II. After the war he spent time at studies and then four years teaching accounting and economics at Oklahoma Baptist University. He went back into Naval service in 1952.

Burnett, who lives at 327 North San Pedro Road, said he became interested in missionary work two years ago while stationed in Japan as a transport pilot.

He said he had occasion to visit countries in Southeast Asia and made it a practice to call on missionaries. In Hong Kong he met a missionary who was doing the same type of work to which Burnett will be assigned. Seeing a need for workers, he requested a position in December of 1959. He retired from the Navy as lieutenant commander last June.

Burnett holds a bachelor of science degree in business and a master of business administration degree.

The Burnetts sons are Daniel, 12; David, 10; Donald, 8, and Douglas, 6.

Children who will attend San Clemente and Neil Cummins Schools will register at the Neil Cummins School. Those who will attend the Larkspur-Corte Madera and Henry C. Hall Schools should register in those respective schools.

A child must be five years old by Dec. 2, 1961 to be eligible. Proof of age must be presented at the time of registration.

Skipper Of Sunken Ship Says Lack Of Panic Saved 13 Boys

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The skipper of the ill-fated student cruise ship Albatross today credited the refusal of the boys to panic for the fact that 13 survived when a sudden storm sank the vessel in the Gulf of Mexico.

Christopher B. Sheldon of Darien, Conn., was interviewed in the stateroom of a rescue ship while cruising toward Tampa.

"The crew was very orderly about getting off the ship," he said. "This was the principle reason so many of us got off."

Six of the 19 aboard went down with the Albatross when a sub-tropical storm broke over the vessel without warning yesterday and drove it to the bottom in one minute.

Ten of the survivors are boys, ranging in age from 15 to 18. Most of from wealthy families.

Four of the dead were classmates. The others were a cook and Dr. N. Alice Sheldon, wife of the skipper.

The black-hulled Gran Rio, freighter flying the Surinam flag, picked up the survivors 24 hours after the square-rigged brigantine sank. The Gran Rio entered Tampa Bay shortly after dawn today.

David Tod Johnstone, 17, of Stonington, Conn., was at the wheel when the Albatross was staggered by the blow of the storm.

When the ship started to go over, Philip Le Boutillier, 17, of Perrysburg, Ohio, went to Johnstone's aid.

"She went to one side," Tod said. "We thought she would right herself but we had water on deck. We thought she would come back up but she didn't.

Phil said Tod "grabbed me and pulled me out of the wheelhouse and up toward the railing."

The boys said there was little surface wind when the vessel keeled over, but a heavy gust struck the rigging. There was lightning and some rain.

Charles Tad Sahler, 18, of Pittsford, N. Y., called the v "a white squall. It's the first time I've ever seen one and I never want to see another again."

A white squall, he said, comes up without notice and passes quickly, above the water level.

Eichler Permit For 122 Homes May Be Biggest In San Rafael

In April Eichler Homes took out permits for 122 new houses which may be the biggest addition to the City of San Rafael ever covered by a single building permit.

When these three and four-bedroom homes are sold, the city will gain something like 600 population. In the meantime, building the houses will give the local economy a big boost.

Alvin Shapro, vice president in charge of production for Eichler Homes, said pouring of concrete foundations began Tuesday.

"Production will increase until June 1, when we will begin building at the rate of 10 houses a week," Shapro said.

Eichler will have 50 men working on the job, Shapro said. "This will add $8,000 to San Rafael's weekly payroll," he said. In addition to this will be the payrolls of sub-contractors, with whom Eichler will spend $1,098,000, according to Shapro.

"We have already spent $488,000 for utilities, curbs and gutters, and streets for those houses," he added.

The houses will be built on Duran Drive, Cortes Court, Diego Drive, Montecillo Road, Serra Way, and Del Ganada Road.

The company averages $200 a house in local purchases such as gasoline to run the trucks, small tools and building materials, Shapro said. This comes to $24,400 for the project.

Jerry Henderson, local representative for Eichler Homes, said that he expects all of the houses to be sold within one year. This $3,294,000 selling job itself will require considerable additional work, he said.

Building Permits

Novato Street Widening Session Set

Thirty-six property owners on Center Road in Novato have been invited to meet May 11 with Charles A. Joseph, city public works director, to discuss widening of the street.

Under preliminary plans, the street would be widened from its present 30-foot right-of-way and approximate 16-foot actual width to 40 feet from curb to curb, plus sidewalks, on a 60-foot right-of-way.

The meeting at 8 p.m. at the city hall will be for property owners between Diablo and Tamalpais Streets, where Center Road is particularly narrow, deeply ditched along the side and has no sidewalks.

Total cost of the project is expected to be $69,109, with $23,980 coming from residents, in addition to the value of property needed for the widening. The remainder of the total would come from state gas tax rebate to the city.

The discussion is expected to center on the method of financing the project, through voluntary contribution of funds and land or an assessment district.

Eichler Permit For 122 Homes May Be Biggest In San Rafael

In April Eichler Homes took out permits for 122 new houses which may be the biggest addition to the City of San Rafael ever covered by a single building permit.

When these three and four-bedroom homes are sold, the city will gain something like 600 population. In the meantime, building the houses will give the local economy a big boost.

Alvin Shapro, vice president in charge of production for Eichler Homes, said pouring of concrete foundations began Tuesday.

"Production will increase until June 1, when we will begin building at the rate of 10 houses a week," Shapro said.

Eichler will have 50 men working on the job, Shapro said. "This will add $8,000 to San Rafael's weekly payroll," he said. In addition to this will be the payrolls of sub-contractors, with whom Eichler will spend $1,098,000, according to Shapro.

"We have already spent $488,000 for utilities, curbs and gutters, and streets for those houses," he added.

The houses will be built on Duran Drive, Cortes Court, Diego Drive, Montecillo Road, Serra Way, and Del Ganada Road.

The company averages $200 a house in local purchases such as gasoline to run the trucks, small tools and building materials, Shapro said. This comes to $24,400 for the project.

Jerry Henderson, local representative for Eichler Homes, said that he expects all of the houses to be sold within one year. This $3,294,000 selling job itself will require considerable additional work, he said.

Building Permits

Novato Street Widening Session Set

Thirty-six property owners on Center Road in Novato have been invited to meet May 11 with Charles A. Joseph, city public works director, to discuss widening of the street.

Under preliminary plans, the street would be widened from its present 30-foot right-of-way and approximate 16-foot actual width to 40 feet from curb to curb, plus sidewalks, on a 60-foot right-of-way.

The meeting at 8 p.m. at the city hall will be for property owners between Diablo and Tamalpais Streets, where Center Road is particularly narrow, deeply ditched along the side and has no sidewalks.

Total cost of the project is expected to be $69,109, with $23,980 coming from residents, in addition to the value of property needed for the widening. The remainder of the total would come from state gas tax rebate to the city.

The discussion is expected to center on the method of financing the project, through voluntary contribution of funds and land or an assessment district.

Price-Fixing Called Benefit For Consumer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Westinghouse executives today defended price-fixing as a necessary device to keep workers employed and to develop modern electrical equipment for the benefit of consumers.

The executives, Landon Fuller and J. T. Thompson, told a Senate hearing they were sincerely sorry they had broken the antitrust laws by meeting with competitors to keep prices profitable.

But they said they went to price-rigging meetings off and on since the early 1930s for unselfish motives.

"We thought we were doing a good job for our employees and our customers," Fuller told the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Fuller is manager of switchgear apparatus in Westinghouse's East Pittsburgh Division. Thompson is sales manager of assembled switchgear.

Thompson related that until his conviction for price-fixing he always thought it was an illegal but not criminal activity. He said he believed that criminal acts meant "damaging somebody" and "we never did that."

The price-rigging sessions, he testified, were designed to keep prices profitable when demand slackened. The price-fixers thought they were protecting themselves against "sharp purchasing practices" so their companies could survive and keep workers on the job, Thompson added.

Tomales Unification Plans Are Discussed

Representatives of seven elementary school district boards and the Tomales Joint Union High School District last week made four recommendations in connection with the proposed unification of the high school district.

The representatives met at Tomales High for an informal work session to make recommendations to the Augmented County Committee on School District Organization, E. L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent, reported.

The augmented committee earlier in April had adopted a tentative recommendation for unification of the district and election of a seven-trustee board.

The board representatives last week recommended four trustee areas to be in Marin County and three in Sonoma (the Tomales High School District cuts across county lines). There would be two trustees areas in the West Marin-Point Reyes area; two in the Tomales Bay District; one in Bodega Bay; one in Bloomfield; one covering American Valley, Potter and Watson districts.

The representatives also recommended that the augmented committee should propose a maximum tax for the first year of operation of the new unified district. If the committee did not do this, the new district automatically would start at the statutory maximum—$1.55 per $100 of assessed valuation in its case. Many of the districts in the high school area are now operating at a higher rate.

The representatives also said the augmented committee should propose that an election be held to determine whether every district would assume responsibility for every other district's bonds in case of unification.

A public hearing on the proposal for unification must be held before the county committee adopts a final recommendation. The board representatives recommended a public hearing and the next meeting of the augmented committee be held the same night. No date has been set yet.

The representatives also discussed pupil distribution and agreed it would be desirable in the near future to have a new building in the American Valley area. For the first year of operation, however, they felt the new district could absorb all of the pupils.

Anti-Litter Plan Going To Council

An anti-litter ordinance, aimed at keeping stores from sweeping their debris into the streets, will be proposed to the San Rafael City Council, said Gene O'Connor, president of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee.

"A study is now being made by the San Rafael Beautiful Committee," O'Connor said, "to determine what kind of an ordinance San Rafael should have to prevent stores from sweeping debris into the gutters and enforce disposing of rubbish into the public waste receptacles."

The ordinance to be proposed to the city council will probably be patterned after the one in Los Angeles, O'Connor said.

President, News Exec Will Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy plans to discuss with a group of newspaper executives next Tuesday problems facing a free press in times of international dangers.

The meeting was arranged at the request of publishers and editors, the White House said.

In an address last week to the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., Kennedy advocated self-restraint in news stories that conceivably could give valuable secret information to the enemy.

The President said in the address that "no war ever posed a greater threat to our security" than the cold war threat of communism.

The publishers and editors requested the meeting after that speech, Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said yesterday. Their telegrams were received Tuesday.

Final examinations will put a damper on spirits June 8-9, but the senior ball is scheduled June 10 at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael. Ernie Heckscher and his band will play from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. when Kelly's Jazz Combo takes over until 3 a.m.

Drunken Driver Draws $236 Fine

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on Monday. He told the judge he plans to leave for the Orient next week for a new job with a government agency.

GETS HONOR IN RYUKYUS—Army Sp4 Thomas J. Rawlins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rawlins, 9 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo, has been selected as "Soldier of the Month" of the Ninth Logistical Command's headquarters on Okinawa.

Anti-Litter Plan Going To Council

An anti-litter ordinance, aimed at keeping stores from sweeping their debris into the streets, will be proposed to the San Rafael City Council, said Gene O'Connor, president of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee.

"A study is now being made by the San Rafael Beautiful Committee," O'Connor said, "to determine what kind of an ordinance San Rafael should have to prevent stores from sweeping debris into the gutters and enforce disposing of rubbish into the public waste receptacles."

The ordinance to be proposed to the city council will probably be patterned after the one in Los Angeles, O'Connor said.

Named To Order

Michael W. Leibert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Leibert of 5 Edgewater Road, Belvedere, a junior at Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash., has been named to the Order of Wailatpu, senior men's honorary society on the Whitman campus.

San Jose District Summer School Set

Summer school for students in the San Jose School District will be from July 5 to Aug. 1 at Pacheco School.

Students presently in grades two through seven may attend classes which will include mathematics, reading, creative writing, literature, science, art, crafts, physical education and music. Donald Slezak will be principal of the summer session.

President, News Exec Will Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy plans to discuss with a group of newspaper executives next Tuesday problems facing a free press in times of international dangers.

The meeting was arranged at the request of publishers and editors, the White House said.

In an address last week to the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., Kennedy advocated self-restraint in news stories that conceivably could give valuable secret information to the enemy.

The President said in the address that "no war ever posed a greater threat to our security" than the cold war threat of communism.

The publishers and editors requested the meeting after that speech, Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said yesterday. Their telegrams were received Tuesday.

Senior Fun Planned By Novato Grads

Senior class activities at Novato High School, preceding graduation on June 15, will include a tug-of-war against all comers, picnic and dance.

Activities will begin at 7 p.m. May 24 when the class will sponsor a public showing of two films in the school gymnasium, "Mardi Gras" and "Sink the Bismark," to help finance a class gift to the school and class activities.

Fifteen senior boys will take on teams from each class June 2 after school in a tug-of-war. The losers will get doused with water.

Final examinations will put a damper on spirits June 8-9, but the senior ball is scheduled June 10 at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael. Ernie Heckscher and his band will play from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. when Kelly's Jazz Combo takes over until 3 a.m.

Rev. J. Hudson Ballard will be speaker at the baccalaureate program beginning at 8:30 p.m. June 11 at the high school. The senior breakfast follows on July 12 at Novato Joe's, and the senior picnic at Stinson Beach.

On June 13, the senior assembly will include presentation of the class gift to the school, skits and a reading of the class will. The senior banquet will follow at noon at Sabella's. The awards assembly will be that night.

Graduation ceremonies begin at 8:30 p.m. at the high school on June 15.

Two Enid Foster Satires Slated For Sausalito

Two satires by Enid Foster will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday and again May 14 and 15 at the Tristamba in the Village Fair at 777 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

The author calls the satires "a new look into our culture's oldest themes." Miss Foster presented a series of satires last September and October at the Sausalito Little Theater.

One satire, "The Serpent's Craft," is based on the Book of Genesis and features Gale Davies as Eve and Jack Wood as Adam. Peter Monk plays the devil. "Medea and Jason," starring Lynn Arden and Hal Ogle, is the second satire.

Tikcets may be obtained through the Shop Tristamba.

Drunken Driver Draws $236 Fine

James Edward Findley of Petaluma, retired from the United States Army at age 38, drew a $263 fine and five days in county jail yesterday for his second drunken driving offense.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 on Monday. He told the judge he plans to leave for the Orient next week for a new job with a government agency.

Findley was previously convicted of drunken driving in 1959 in Monterey County.

Robert E. S. Thompson, 48, an executive with a New York construction company, paid $210 fine and lost his California driver's license for 90 days. He was caught on Richardson Bay Bridge on April 18.

Arts Quartet Summer Series Tickets On Sale

Season subscriptions are now on sale to the Marin Arts Quartet's summer series of concerts, according to the committee headed by Dr. and Mrs. Richard R. Hughes of Kentfield, Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Smith of San Anselmo and Mrs. Nancy Ingalls of Ross.

For three years the quartet has presented a winter series of programs at the Outdoor Art Clubhouse in Mill Valley. The concerts this summer are scheduled on three consecutive Sundays, June 11,18 and 25 at 8 p.m., again at the Outdoor Art Clubhouse.

New to the quartet this year is violinist Everett O'Bannon. A graduate of Stanford University, he came to the San Francisco Symphony from playing in the Houston Symphony. He is a member of the Cappella di Musica Chamber Orchestra of San Francisco and played in the "Candlelight Concerts" at Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

The other members of the quartet, familiar to local music lovers through many performances in Marin, are violinist Charles Meacham of the San Francisco Symphony, who has been concertmaster of the Marin Symphony since its formation in 1952; cellist Jean Maguire, who plays with the San Francisco Symphony and has been principal cellist of the Marin Symphony since its beginning, and violist Albert White, producer-director of the KCBS live weekly program "Masters of Melody."

The quartet will make its first appearance this year at the new "Festival of the Performing Arts," June 2-4 in Angelico Hall of Dominican College, San Rafael.

Season subscriptions to the summer series of concerts may be obtained by writing P.O. Box 861, Ross. Further information is available from any of the committee members.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

San Rafael Tabbed As Favorite In Marin Track, Field Contests

Glidden Benefield of Tamalpais High School, dean of Marin's track and field coaches, predicts San Rafael Bulldogs, the Marin Athletic League's dual meet champions, will repeat with team truimphs in the league's trials tomorrow and the finals May 12.

"They (the Bulldogs) have too much depth in the field events for the rest of us," Benefield offered after studying charts of league dual meets.

Benny said the race for runnerup honors should be a dog fight between his own Tam Indians, the Drake Pirates and Novato's Hornets. Marin Catholic and Redwood don't figure to threaten, in team competition, said Benefield.

For individual glory as high point men, the Tam coach looks for Marin Catholic hurdler Rich Ongaro, San Rafael weight man Dennis Nickel and Tam sprinter Lonnie Carter as possible double winners.

Ongaro, unbeaten in both high and low hurdles, also is a threat for a triple with a chance in the high jump.

If you'd like to gander the preps in the trials, they'll be running, jumping and throwing at Drake's athletic field tomorrow starting at 3:30 p.m. Then the qualifiers will assemble at San Rafael High on May 12, 6:30 p.m., in the finals.

880 —Novato's Mike French consistently best in the county. San Rafael's Bill Andrewsen and Redwood's Randy Keller ranked next.

Shot — San Rafael's Dennis Nickel best. Drake's Collins could take it.

Carl Brown of Drake High brings us up to date on the league records, all set last year, at stake tomorrow and May 12, to wit:

120 H.H. — Hector, Tam, 15.1 seconds; 880 — Blair, Drake, 2:03.5; 100 — Helms, Tam, 10.2; 440 — McNern, Novato, 51.9; 180 L.H.—Cook, Tam, 20.4; 220 — McNern, Novato, 22.6; Mile — Stephens Redwood, 4:48.5; 880 Relay, Novato, 1:34.1; Shot, Cook, Tam, 48-9¼; Broad Jump, Cain, Drake, 19-3¾; Discus — Francisco, San Rafael, 142-0; High Jump, Edwards, Tam, 6-1½; Pole Vault — Farber, Drake, 11-0.

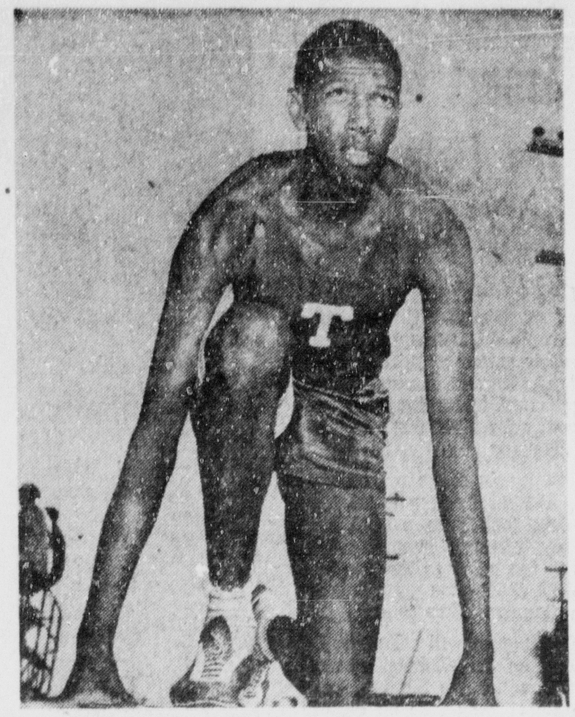
MILE CHAMP—San Rafael High's Jay Lathrop (above) is solid favorite to win the mile championship in the Marin Athletic League's track and field trials tomorrow at Drake High. Lathrop has been clocked at 4 minutes and 37 seconds this season, by far the best performance in Marin. (Jim Kean photos)



TAM THREAT—Tam High's Jim Mitchell (above), an early season triple winner but lately hampered by a leg injury, is rated a possible winner in the broad jump at tomorrow's Marin League track and field meet. See "Along Marin's Sports Trail" for rundown on favorites in all events.

MARIN ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Drake, S.R. In Big Game; Finn Is Prep Of Week

Defending champion Drake Pirates, winners of the Marin Athletic League's tournament and early season favorites to repeat their round-robin title, approach sort of a "point of no return" tomorrow.

Coach Verle Sorgen's San Anselmo club, upset twice in five league games, takes on the first place San Rafael Bulldogs tomorrow at San Rafael's Albert Field in the game of the week, which will be broadcast by Radio KTIM at 4 p.m. One game behind co-leaders San Rafael and Tamalpais, the Pirates will have all the pressure on their shoulders. For after San Rafael, Drake meets Tam next Tuesday and the Pirates' thin pitching staff is due for more than its share of work.

San Rafael Coach Jack Sims will hurl his ace fireballer Jack Sovereign against Drake tomorrow and the Pirates probably will counter with Dave LeBeck. Drake used Nino Geminiani, star of its staff, against Marin Catholic Tuesday and Nino was victim of poor defense as Marin scored a 4-3 upset victory.

Elsewhere tomorrow, Tamalpais plays at Redwood and Marin Catholic is at Novato. All games start at 4 p.m. at the league's round robin schedule embarks on the second round.

PREP OF WEEK

Marin Catholic's Bill Finn has been named "Prep of the Week" for his clutch pitching performance in that startling 4-3 win over Drake. With the winning runs on the base in the last inning, Finn got Drake's dangerous Lee Malcolm to ground the ball to third baseman Bob Williams whose throw to first sacker Steve Williams nailed Malcolm by two steps for the final out.

Finn will receive a "Prep of the Week" certificate of honor from the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM.

25 Pct. Of NBA Players Thinking Of Joining ABL

CHICAGO (AP) — The new American Basketball League says 25 per cent of the National Basketball Assn. personnel is making overtures about the ABL.

The ABL directors said yesterday that President Maurice Podoloff of the NBA was conducting a villification campaign against the ABL and voted to contest litigation by the NBA arising from a suit against the San Francisco ABL entry.

In a suit filed in Federal Court in San Francisco, the New York Knicks of the NBA are seeking to prevent Ken Sears from playing with the San Francisco Saints of the ABL.

Offcial: 15 Enter Run For The Roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fifteen of the nation's best 3-year-olds were entered today for Saturday's running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

There were no surprises as the names of the thoroughbreds, headed by Katherine Price's Carry Back, were dropped into the entry box for the 87th edition of America's glamor race.

If all 15 face the starter at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, the 1¼-mile race will gross $163,000 with the winner picking up $120,500 to go with the glory and prestige surrounding the run for the roses before an expected turnout of some 100,000.

The race will be on CBS television and radio from 2 to 2:45 p.m. PDT.

Carry Back actually was the first horse entered. Jack Price, who trains the colt for his wife, filled out an entry blank late yesterday.

Trainers were slow entering their charges, but by the time the list closed, Carry Back had been joined by Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, Globemaster, the Alberta Ranches' team of Four-And-Twenty and Flutterby, Jacob Sher's Sherluck, Ethel D. Jacobs' Dr. Miller, and Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise.

With entries closing half an hour earlier than in the past, it looked as if the field would be held to 14. But in came the entry of Loyal Son to join such other lightly regarded horses as Ronnie's Ace, Light Talk, Bass Clef, Jay Fox, Dearborn and On His Metal.

Carry Back and Dr. Miller drew the outside gates in the draw for post positions with Carry Back No. 14 and Dr. Miller No. 15. Neither starts fast and thus will have less chance of getting into a jam at the first turn.

Such early speed horses as Sherluck, No. 3, and Four-And-Twenty, No. 4, also were well-placed. Globemaster and Crozier, who also like to race on the front end, drew No. 8 and 11, respectively.

Ol' Miracle Whip Spahn Convinces All His Critics

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Warren (No-Hit) Spahn, the 40-year-old miracle whip of Milwaukee, finally has convinced everyone—including the once skeptical but no longer Los Angeles Dodgers.

It used to bug Spahn that he never could seem to beat the Dodgers. It annoyed him that the fact was regularly bandied about in National League dugouts and it botthered him even more that the Braves would accommodatingly skip his turn each time they met Walt Alston's gang.

Perhaps as a reward for his no-hitter against the Giants last Friday, Spahn was allowed to start against the Dodgers in Milwaukee last night for the first time since June 5, 1959.

The hawk-nosed southpaw wasn't able to turn in another no-hitter, but he came close with a sparkling two-hit 4-1 victory that was the 291st of his major league career and left him only nine wins shy of Lefty Grove's 300-game total.

Spahn struck out nine and walked only two in bringing his season record to 3-1.

"I think I had better stuff than last Friday," he said elatedly after the game.

The only two hits Spahn gave up were Jim Gilliam's bloop double to left center with two out in the third inning and Tom Lavis' clean single with two out in the ninth.

Spahn, who has allowed a total of only four runs in his first four starts so far this season, did his part with the bat, too, last night, collecting a double and two singles in his first voctory over the Dodgers since July 30, 1958. He now owns a 2-9 record against the Dodgers since the Braves moved to Milwaukee in 1953 and a lifetime mark of 15-30 against them.

The Braves nicked loser Stan Williams for one run in the first inning and what proved to be the winning run in the second on Spahn's double and a single by Lee Maye. Eddie Mathews singled home two more runs in the seventh.

San Francisco regained the National League lead with an 8-4 victory over Chicago while St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh into second place with a 3-1 decision. Cincinnati stretched its winning streak to four games by beating Philadelphia, 9-3.

GIANTS RALLY

The Giants broke a 3-3 tie with the Cubs when they rallied for three runs in the seventh with the aid of two errors and a wild pitch by reliever Don Elston. Rookie Jack Curtis, who was tagged for a two-run homer by Orlando Cepeda in the sixth, was the loser. The winner was Billy O'Dell, who took over for starter Mike McCormick in the first inning and gave way for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Ernie Banks hit his fourth and fifth homers.

Catcher Smoky Burgess' throwing error helped the Cardinals to two runs during a three-run rally in the fifth that took care of the Pirates. Winner Bob Gibson blanked Pittsburgh until the eighth when Rocky Nelson homered and Lindy McDaniel took over. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was the loser.

Jim Maloney and Bill Henry combined to pitch the Reds to their victory over the Phillies. Maloney was the winner although he bowed out after Clay Dalrymple rocked him for a three-run homer in the eighth. The Reds scored their first four runs off loser John Buzhardt and Gus Bell highlighted a four-run rally in the seventh with a three-run double. Gordy Coleman hit his fifth homer for the Reds.

San Rafael Tabbed As Favorite In Marin Track, Field Contests

Glidden Benefield of Tamalpais High School, dean of Marin's track and field coaches, predicts San Rafael Bulldogs, the Marin Athletic League's dual meet champions, will repeat with team truimphs in the league's trials tomorrow and the finals May 12.

"They (the Bulldogs) have too much depth in the field events for the rest of us," Benefield offered after studying charts of league dual meets.

Benny said the race for runnerup honors should be a dog fight between his own Tam Indians, the Drake Pirates and Novato's Hornets. Marin Catholic and Redwood don't figure to threaten in team competition, said Benefield.

For individual glory as high point men, the Tam coach looks for Marin Catholic hurdler Rich Ongaro, San Rafael weight man Dennis Nickel and Tam sprinter Lonnie Carter as possible double winners.

Ongaro, unbeaten in both high and low hurdles, also is a threat for a triple with a chance in the high jump.

If you'd like to gander the preps in the trials, they'll be running, jumping and throwing at Drake's athletic field tomorrow starting at 3:30 p.m. Then the qualifiers will assemble at San Rafael High on May 12, 6:30 p.m., in the finals.

Shot — San Rafael's Dennis Nickel best. Drake's Collins could take it.

Carl Brown of Drake High brings us up to date on the league records, all set last year, at stake tomorrow and May 12, to wit:

120 H.H. — Hector, Tam, 15.1 seconds; 880 — Blair, Drake, 2:03.5; 100 — Helms, Tam, 10.2; 440 — McNern, Novato, 51.9; 180 L.H.—Cook, Tam, 20.4; 220 — McNern, Novato, 22.6; Mile — Stephens Redwood, 4:48.5; 880 Relay, Novato, 1:34.1; Shot, Cook, Tam, 48-9¼; Broad Jump, Cain, Drake, 19-3¾; Discus — Francisco, San Rafael, 142-0; High Jump, Edwards, Tam, 6-1½; Pole Vault — Farber, Drake, 11-0.

CONNOLLY

Any person who hangs around sports long enough will tell you that there is no more important factor in the sporting game than that good old law of averages, which says things are bound to even up.

It makes no difference what you're after, if you've got the time, the breaks are bound to come your way sooner or later.

If anybody had approached me a few weeks ago and told me that Chuck Hiller, rookie S.F. Giant second sacker, would force Don Blasingame off the ball club, I'd a slugged him.

Would anybody bet that Tom Haller would chase Bob Schmidt? It isn't in the law of averages for a rookie to move a settled performer into the also-ran class.

But it happened. For better or for worse, both players, figuring the law of averages, were never expected to be shoved aside for a couple of rookies.

Knowing what I know now about the law of averages, I'm convinced it is a cruel and frightening thing.

The Giants, as I have said all along, figure to be good or bad. They do not rate in the mediocre class.

Yet the law of averages makes them stars one day and bums the next.

No pitcher in my book has any more stuff or throws any harder than Jack Sanford, sturdy righthander. He figures to be far and away one of the best in the league. Yet the law of averages puts him in the doubtful class. He blows up when he shouldn't and recovers his composure when it isn't expected.

Harkening back to explain why the Giants are either good or bad, let me take them individually.

Willie Mays has to be excellent. He can't be just good or he can't be mediocre. He has to be the best or nothing.

Felipe Alou either hits hard or he doesn't hit at all, and his speed doesn't mean anything unless he's hitting. His arm, one of the best in the league, is governed by his ability to hit. If he doesn't hit, he doesn't seem to throw well.

Harvey Kuenn hasn't shown me yet he is a $40,000 a year player. He may come along, as he is expected, later on. But right now he goes down in my book as pretty much of a flop.

Willie McCovey can't be "just so-so." He either has to hit like 'ell, or he ain't worth the foam off a bottle of Falstaff.

The infield of the Giants, shaky at its best, has to be sparkling good or terrible. They either have to hit or fold up. They can't go on, without power.

The same goes for the Giant pitching. They figure to be the tops in the league. They are going well now because Manager Alvin Dark is letting them pitch.

In past years a pitcher with the Giants was in and out of a ball game with a wink. Bill Rigney never understood that a pitcher might be able to work himself out of a jam. Instead Rigney yanked them with abandon.

Gil McDougald To Scout For N.Y.'s Nat'l League Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil McDougald is ready to start a new career as a baseball scout at the age of 32. The former infielder who quit the New York Yankees because he didn't want to travel has hooked on with the New York team in the National League.

McDougald is reunited with his old boss, George Weiss, president of the new club. He will scout the central and north New Jersey area, concentrating on high schools and colleges.

"We checked with Commissioner Ford Frick," said McDougald. "He said I was on the Yankees' voluntary retired list but was under no obligation as long as I was not a player, coach or manager."

When McDougald left the Yankees he said he didn't want to travel and also wanted to devote more time to his building maintenance business.

"My business work is mostly at night," he explained. "For the present I can handle both jobs. I have been watching a lot of games because I like baseball. I figure I might as well be scouting as just looking at the games. This way all my travel will be in the state of New Jersey and I can get home every night."

"I think I had a couple of years left in me as a player," McDougald said. "But the rest of it would have been the hard, rough way. Maybee hitting .270, .260, .250 or maybe even lower. I wanted to get out when things were still going pretty good."

LAS VEGAS

Smart Money On Palmer And Player

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The click of a club hitting a golf ball replaced, momentarily, the familiar sound of rattling dice today as the ninth annual Tournament of Champions got under way for a $40,000 purse in this Nevada gambling resort.

Twenty-six name professionals, headed by a pair of top experts locked in a duel for money winning honors, were set to tee off over the par 36-36—72, 7,000-plus yard Desert Inn Country Club course.

The winner will collect $10,000 when the 72-hole, spring classic winds up Sunday, and the smart money is on either Arnold Palmer or Gary Player.

Palmer is the 1960 United States Open champion and twice winner of the Masters. In 14 tournaments this year he has earned nearly $40,000.

South Africa's Player has competed in 15 tournaments, won $47,068 and his biggest plum came when he defeated Palmer in the recent Masters at Augusta, Ga.

To be invited, a player must have won at least one big PGA tournament during the past 12 months.

Only one man, Gene Littler, has won Tournament of Champions more than once, and the San Diego pro did it three times in succession—in 1955-56-57.

Past winners back again are Jerry Barber, who hauled in the $10,000 last year; Art Wall Jr., 1954; Canada's Stan Leonard, 1958, and Mike Souchak, 1959.

Play today was to begin at 1 p.m., PDT. The weather man promised sun and possible gusty winds.

McElhenny, Minnesota Still Can't Agree On Pay Terms

SANTA CLARA (UPI)—Hugh McElhenny, former San Francisco 49er halfback who was acquired this winter by the Minnesota Vikings, said yesterday that he had not come to terms with the new NFL club.

McElhenny first said that he might retire rather than leave his grocery business in the San Francisco Bay Area, but since has indicated he may be changing his mind.

"We're still playing footsie and I have not sent them a signed contract," he said when asked to comment on a published report he had agreed to play for Minnesota next season.

"Most likely we will come to terms, but we still have to discuss a lot of factors," he said.

"The Viking have been very fair, but my partners and I have one supermarket going and we are breaking ground for another June 1 which we plan to open in October or November. I would have to be around then to sign certain papers," he added.

Gonzales Wins Title

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pancho Gonzales defeated Frank Sedgman 6-3, 7-5 last night and won his eighth Cleveland pro tennis tournament in nine years. He didn't compete last year.

W. Va. Likely To Obtain Marlins

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The much-travelled San Juan Marlins — formerly Miami — of the International Baseball League likely will wind up in Charleston, W. Va., within a couple of weeks.

The prinicipal reason seems to be that International League admission prices are too high for the average Puerto Rican fan.

League President Tommy Richardson said in Buffalo, N. Y., that the league's directors had agreed the franchise must be moved because costs of travel to San Juan were running much higher than the visiting clubs' share of the gate receipts.

Cellar Clubs Clip Contenders In A.L.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those new American League clubs, the Washington Senators and Los Angeles Angels, are at the bottom of the heap as expected, but try telling Detroit and Baltimore that they're a couple of patsies. The Senators turned on the Tigers last night for a 5-4 victory. That gave the New York Yankees a share of the lead with Detroit after the defending champs whipped the Minnesota Twins 7-3.

And the Angels knocked the Orioles out of a chance to tie for third with a 7-6 job on the Birds, coming from behind on two-out home runs by Ted Kluszewski and Earl Averill in the ninth inning.

Cleveland defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-3; and Kansas City beat Boston 9-8 in 10 innings.

The Senators did it the hard way, coming from behind and then breaking a 3-3 tie on Dale Long's two-run double in the sixth off Frank Lary, who had won eight straight, four this season. Rookie Joe McClain won his third, although needing Dave Sisler's relief.

The Angels came from five runs behind against the Orioles, who scored all their runs on two homers by Jim Gentile and a solo shot by Whitey Herzog. Klu started the winning rally with his sixth home run, off losing reliever Skinny Brown (0-1). Tex Clevenger won his second in relief.

YANKEE VICTORY

The Yankees scored three unearned runs in the fourth off Pete Ramos (2-1), then beat the Cuban right-hander with another unearned run in a four-run seventh. Hector Lopez' single drove in the clincher and Roger Maris capped the inning with a three-run homer. Bob Turley (3-1), was the winner.

A pinch single by Bob Hale broke it up for the Indians after a two-out double by Johnny Romano in the ninth. The White Sox tied it 3-all in their ninth before reliever Frank Funk cut them down for his second victory. Gerry Staley was the loser in relief.

The A's blew an 8-0 lead when the Red Sox scored twice in the seventh and then ganged up on Ray Herbert for six in the ninth that tied it. Kansas City finally nailed it when Andy Carey doubled in the 10th and Jerry Lumpe singled off reliever Mike Fornieles (0-1). Don Larson was the winner.

CONNOLLY

Any person who hangs around sports long enough will tell you that there is no more important factor in the sporting game than that good old law of averages, which says things are bound to even up.

It makes no difference what you're after, if you've got the time, the breaks are bound to come your way sooner or later.

If anybody had approached me a few weeks ago and told me that Chuck Hiller, rookie S.F. Giant second sacker, would force Don Blasingame off the ball club, I'd a slugged him.

Would anybody bet that Tom Haller would chase Bob Schmidt? It isn't in the law of averages for a rookie to move a settled performer into the also-ran class.

But it happened. For better or for worse, both players, figuring the law of averages, were never expected to be shoved aside for a couple of rookies.

Knowing what I know now about the law of averages, I'm convinced it is a cruel and frightening thing.

The Giants, as I have said all along, figure to be good or bad. They do not rate in the mediocre class.

Yet the law of averages makes them stars one day and bums the next.

No pitcher in my book has any more stuff or throws any harder than Jack Sanford, sturdy righthander. He figures to be far and away one of the best in the league. Yet the law of averages puts him in the doubtful class. He blows up when he shouldn't and recovers his composure when it isn't expected.

Harkening back to explain why the Giants are either good or bad, let me take them individually.

Willie Mays has to be excellent. He can't be just good or he can't be mediocre. He has to be the best or nothing.

Felipe Alou either hits hard or he doesn't hit at all, and his speed doesn't mean anything unless he's hitting. His arm, one of the best in the league, is governed by his ability to hit. If he doesn't hit, he doesn't seem to throw well.

Harvey Kuenn hasn't shown me yet he is a $40,000 a year player. He may come along, as he is expected, later on. But right now he goes down in my book as pretty much of a flop.

Willie McCovey can't be "just so-so." He either has to hit like 'ell, or he ain't worth the foam off a bottle of Falstaff.

The infield of the Giants, shaky at its best, has to be sparkling good or terrible. They either have to hit or fold up. They can't go on, without power.

The same goes for the Giant pitching. They figure to be the tops in the league. They are going well now because Manager Alvin Dark is letting them pitch.

In past years a pitcher with the Giants was in and out of a ball game with a wink. Bill Rigney never understood that a pitcher might be able to work himself out of a jam. Instead Rigney yanked them with abandon.

Gil McDougald To Scout For N.Y.'s Nat'l League Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil McDougald is ready to start a new career as a baseball scout at the age of 32. The former infielder who quit the New York Yankees because he didn't want to travel has hooked on with the New York team in the National League.

McDougald is reunited with his old boss, George Weiss, president of the new club. He will scout the central and north New Jersey area, concentrating on high schools and colleges.

"We checked with Commissioner Ford Frick," said McDougald. "He said I was on the Yankees' voluntary retired list but was under no obligation as long as I was not a player, coach or manager."

When McDougald left the Yankees he said he didn't want to travel and also wanted to devote more time to his building maintenance business.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

So you are figuring on where to go for fish on the weekend, eh? You are lucky. You have a wide choice. If it's stripers that appeal to you, better make plans to work the waters of the back country—around Antioch, False River, the San Joaquin, Frank's Tract and the Big Break; Sherman Island Lake, and the Sacramento near the Dairy and the Rio Vista sector. If it's catfish you'll be after, just about every favorite spot in the back country of Old River, Middle River and even the Tract should yield limits of the smoothskins.

Should you have a yen for a mess of fresh salmon, better get on the ball and reserve a seat aboard one of the party boats. Some of the fastest and finest salmon trolling of this or any other year at the time has been had for the past several days. From Sunday on, as a matter of fact. Lots of fish and heavy.

FOR TROUT, try the local Marin County Lakes or Lake Merced if you only have a day's trip planned. The weather over the weekend slowed down results in the higher elevations, but the Marin lakes and Lake Merced yielded some fine creels. Most of the fish taken from Merced were taken ala artificial lures, sugared roe and various plugs and lures.

A GLANCE at your tide-table book will inform that we are now right in the middle of a series of minus tides, and as I have noted through the years, the local bass fishing goes into the doldrums until the tides are back to normal. Not so in the back country. Minus tides don't affect striper fishing nearly so adversely in the Delta Region as it does in the local bay region. Oh, fish are to be caught even with the minus tides, but most of such fish will be the inexperienced bass, too small to know better and too small to keep—legally. That's why the back country is recommended for the weekend.

BY THE WAY, the present tides make for some better-than-usual clam digging. Many people will hit the beaches in search for clams and abalones and mussels. Here's hoping they forget the mussels until November. The annual run of red water has caused the annual quarantine on mussels. I don't know of anyone dying as a result of eating a contaminated mussel, but some have been mighty close to it and a flock of them have been deathly sick as a result. The Department of Fish and Game has issued a warning against taking any mussels and advises that all clams be thoroughly cleaned before being eaten. "Remove all DARK PARTS of all clams as that is where most of the poison accumulates," the warning states.

As far as I know the danger of poisoning doesn't apply to abalone, but it might be wise to treat them as you do the clams. Remove all dark portions and clean each very thoroughly.

I SHOULD mention that during these minus tides days very often the bass fishing in the Mission Rock sector is tops. Last Sunday was very productive and Monday was fair to good in the morning with rough water hampering the afternoon efforts.

JUST HAD A phone call from Ed Mansfield of Oakland. Ed had just returned from a trip after bass in the upper San Pablo Bay. Used his spinning outfit with four-pound-test line and took most of his fish on a one-quarter-ounce Brown Godart spinning lure. He cast and retrieved and also trolled. Caught and released 11 bass most of which were under the legal 16 inches, but claimed he had a real thrill with every fish hooked. I say "Amen" to that.

Little League Opens In Tiburon Saturday

Opening day festivities for Tiburon Little League baseball will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at Judge Field, Southern Marin Recreation Center, in Tiburon.

Thirteen uniformed teams will be on hand when Bill Carroll, president of the Little League, tosses out the first baseball. The league consists of four major league teams and nine minor, with a total of nearly 200 boys.

Ceremonies also will include presentation of the flag by a special color guard from the new Belvedere Boy Scout troop.

The teams will "pose" for family and press photographs for 20 minutes prior to the opening day series of five games, at 11 a.m., 1 and 4 p.m. In the major league games the Falcons, last year's championship team, meet the Seals at 11 a.m. and the Lions take on the Octopi at 1 p.m.

Meanwhile, on the minor league diamond in the same field, the Roosters meet the Cardinals at 11 am, the Jets play the Braves at 1 pm and the Cubs wind up the day-long opener against the Riders at 4 p.m. Games continue week nights and Saturdays through July.

Kids' Olympic Games Slated In Oakland

The 11th annual AAU Junior Olympic Games will be held June 17 and 18 at Oakland's Castlemont High School, Joe Rae, Pacific Association president, announced today.

The meet, which currently claims 36 national champions, drew more than 900 competitors last year. This is the only meet in northern California where records will be recognized nationally.

Track and field events are open to boys and girls in four age groups: seniors, 16 and 17; intermediates, 14 and 15; juniors, 12 and 13; midgets, 11 and under.

Athletes may get applications and information by writing to the Oakland Police Department which is sponsoring the meet, 611 14th Street, Oakland 12.

San Rafael Over Drake

I-J Fish and Game Writer

STEVENS

So you are figuring on where to go for fish on the weekend, eh? You are lucky. You have a wide choice. If it's stripers that appeal to you, better make plans to work the waters of the back country—around Antioch, False River, the San Joaquin, Frank's Tract and the Big Break; Sherman Island Lake, and the Sacramento near the Dairy and the Rio Vista sector. If it's catfish you'll be after, just about every favorite spot in the back country of Old River, Middle River and even the Tract should yield limits of the smoothskins.

Should you have a yen for a mess of fresh salmon, better get on the ball and reserve a seat aboard one of the party boats. Some of the fastest and finest salmon trolling of this or any other year at the time has been had for the past several days. From Sunday on, as a matter of fact. Lots of fish and heavy.

FOR TROUT, try the local Marin County Lakes or Lake Merced if you only have a day's trip planned. The weather over the weekend slowed down results in the higher elevations, but the Marin lakes and Lake Merced yielded some fine creels. Most of the fish taken from Merced were taken ala artificial lures, sugared roe and various plugs and lures.

A GLANCE at your tide-table book will inform that we are now right in the middle of a series of minus tides, and as I have noted through the years, the local bass fishing goes into the doldrums until the tides are back to normal. Not so in the back country. Minus tides don't affect striper fishing nearly so adversely in the Delta Region as it does in the local bay region. Oh, fish are to be caught even with the minus tides, but most of such fish will be the inexperienced bass, too small to know better and too small to keep—legally. That's why the back country is recommended for the weekend.

BY THE WAY, the present tides make for some better-than-usual clam digging. Many people will hit the beaches in search for clams and abalones and mussels. Here's hoping they forget the mussels until November. The annual run of red water has caused the annual quarantine on mussels. I don't know of anyone dying as a result of eating a contaminated mussel, but some have been mighty close to it and a flock of them have been deathly sick as a result. The Department of Fish and Game has issued a warning against taking any mussels and advises that all clams be thoroughly cleaned before being eaten. "Remove all DARK PARTS of all clams as that is where most of the poison accumulates," the warning states.

As far as I know the danger of poisoning doesn't apply to abalone, but it might be wise to treat them as you do the clams. Remove all dark portions and clean each very thoroughly.

I SHOULD mention that during these minus tides days very often the bass fishing in the Mission Rock sector is tops. Last Sunday was very productive and Monday was fair to good in the morning with rough water hampering the afternoon efforts.

JUST HAD A phone call from Ed Mansfield of Oakland. Ed had just returned from a trip after bass in the upper San Pablo Bay. Used his spinning outfit with four-pound-test line and took most of his fish on a one-quarter-ounce Brown Godart spinning lure. He cast and retrieved and also trolled. Caught and released 11 bass most of which were under the legal 16 inches, but claimed he had a real thrill with every fish hooked. I say "Amen" to that.

Little League Opens In Tiburon Saturday

The teams will "pose" for family and press photographs for 20 minutes prior to the opening day series of five games, at 11 a.m., 1 and 4 p.m. In the major league games the Falcons, last year's championship team, meet the Seals at 11 a.m. and the Lions take on the Octopi at 1 p.m.

Meanwhile, on the minor league diamond in the same field, the Roosters meet the Cardinals at 11 am, the Jets play the Braves at 1 pm and the Cubs wind up the day-long opener against the Riders at 4 p.m. Games continue week nights and Saturdays through July.

TRAPPER—William A. Bergin Jr. of the County Agriculture Department places bait in a trap for Japanese beetles on Hamilton Air Force Base, as part of a survey program to find if the beetles are coming to Marin. The plane in background is an F-101 jet on its way to a landing.

Beware Pesky Japanese Beetles —The Traps Are Now Being Laid

By ELLEN BRY

A quiet-spoken man from the Marin County Department of Agriculture this week began setting out traps, stalking his prey at Hamilton Air Force Base under the whine and boom of jets.

William A. Bergin Jr. of Santa Venetia is an entomologist. He's looking for Japanese beetles in the grass on the base. But he's hoping none will be caught in his traps.

The Hamilton traps are intended to find if the beetles are being brought to Marin aboard fighter and training planes. Traps also are being placed at Fort Baker, where ships passing close to shore might be beetle carriers.

The Japanese Beetle lives in the earth as a grub for about 10 months a year, chewing roots. In spring and summer he turns to a beetle, devouring foliage, blossoms and fruit.

About 20 traps are being set at Hamilton and Fort Baker, with strongly scented bait which lures the male beetle. He falls into the narrow bottom of the metal trap and can't get out.

Bergin will check the traps weekly. He knows he'll occasionally get stung by bees and hornets which also have been trapped. No Japanese Beetle has been found in Marin County so far.

Other traps are to be placed in residential areas in the county to check on the fruit fly population, which attacks fruits and vegetables, laying inside their skin. The eggs hatch and the grubs make a meal of the fruit or vegetable and leave a "pulpy mess inside," Bergin explains. Three flies were found in the state last year.

Traps also will be set at Mount Tamalpais and Samuel P. Taylor State Parks to find if campers are bringing in Gypsy Moths, which can defoliate trees. Checks also are being made on the Citrus White Fly and pear insects, all of which can be as destructive as any predator.

The traps are for detection only. If damaging insects are found, "we'll have people swarming all over to kill them," Bergin says.

LUXURY SPENDING EXAMPLES GIVEN

Hunting Safaris, Yachts, Nightclubs All Paid For By Government Subsidies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A corporation president has been taking friends on a hunting trip to Wyoming every year. A manufacturer has been paying $1,800 a month rent for a hunting lodge. A beverage maker spent more than $10,000 entertaining customers and their wives at the Kentucky Derby.

There is a businessman's club in which every member is supposed to give a big party once a year for the others. A dairy owner took his wife with him on an African hunting safari. An undertaker bought a yacht on which he entertained visiting clergymen and other undertakers.

It cost a manufacturing firm $127,067 a year to maintain a private club house and entertain customers there. A corporation executive spent $1,500 for a 12-day vacation trip to Las Vegas for himself, his wife, a customer and the customer's wife.

All of this "luxury spending" had at least two things in common:

In each case the federal treasury "subsidized" the cost. Under existing law the taxpayer—or his employer if he footed the bill—was allowed to deduct all, or most, of the expense from taxable income. A dollar of "deductible" entertainment costs a corporation 48 cents and the federal treasury 52 cents.

In each case such deductions for "luxury spending" would be barred or sharply curtailed by changes President John F. Kennedy wants Congress to make in tax rules governing business entertainment and expense account spending. No longer could taxpayers charge off on their tax returns the cost of buying yachts.

Without naming names, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon presented about 50 examples of tax-deductible "luxuary spending" to the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday and outlined the administration's plan for putting an arbitrary stop to it.

The plan is just one part of a seven-point tax revision program the administration is trying to push through Congress. The over-all proposal would grant 1.7 dollars a year in tax relief to business to encourage economic expansion and impose a slightly heavier tax burden on other taxpayers.

Just Being Active Demo, Says Oilman

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An oil executive said last night he was just taking an "active part in public affairs" when he asked the oil industry to buy interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall's $100 tickets to President John F. Kennedy's birthday dinner.

Republicans have accused Udall of trying to "blackjack" the oil industry into buying the tickets to the Democratic dinner. They have demanded Kennedy fire Udall.

But oilman J. K. Evans said he wrote letters to 56 industry officials asking them to buy tickets to the May 27 dinner because of his admiration for Udall and the Democratic Party.

The statement Evans issued didn't say whether Udall asked him to write the letter. Udall said he only mentioned to Evans that it would be nice if some oilmen attended the dinner, and the letter "went far beyond what I intended."

The letter Evans wrote said Udall had asked him "as a personal favor" to solicit the oil and gas industry.

Udall, he added, had a "very sizable quota" of the tickets to sell.

Minimum Pay Passage Boost To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy's legislative program has been given a tremendous boost by passage of his minimum wage bill after it was nearly throttled in the House.

The measure, cut and trimmed in minor areas in a successful effort to pick up support, emerged from Congress yesterday with its key provision for extending minimum wage coverage.

The Senate, as expected, approved it resoundingly 64 to 28. The big surprise was in the House, which had twice rejected similar measures. The House approved it 230 to 196.

Hard prodding by the White House and the House Democratic leadership on wavering members, plus concessions written into the bill, combined to give the administration its comeback victory.

The bill raises the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.15 in four months and to $1.25 two years later.

Secret Session Bill On Brown's Desk

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A bill aimed at opening "discussion" meetings of local legislative bodies to the public is awaiting action by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The measure, by Assemblyman Frank Luckel (R-San Diego) amends the present law prohibiting closed meetings of city councils, boards of supervisors and other local agencies.

It would void any action taken at any meeting other than a regular or special meeting.

The original bill would have made it a misdemeanor for members of a legislative body to attend such a meeting even if no action were taken. The Senate rewrote this provision and this language appears in the measure sent to the governor:

"Each member of a legislative body who attends a meeting of such legislative body where action is taken in violation of any provision of this chapter, with knowledge of the fact that the meeting is in violation thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

"Action taken" is defined as a collective decision by a majority of the board, a commitment or promise to vote one way or another, or an actual vote on a motion, proposal, resolution, order or ordinance.

The final bill makes it clear that the provisions apply to planning commissions, library boards, recreation commissions and other permanent boards or commissions of a local agency.

It also retains Luckel's proposal authorizing court action to prevent violations of the open meetings law.

"Each member of a legislative body who attends a meeting of such legislative body where action is taken in violation of any provision of this chapter, with knowledge of the fact that the meeting is in violation thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

"Action taken" is defined as a collective decision by a majority of the board, a commitment or promise to vote one way or another, or an actual vote on a motion, proposal, resolution, order or ordinance.

The final bill makes it clear that the provisions apply to planning commissions, library boards, recreation commissions and other permanent boards or commissions of a local agency.

It also retains Luckel's proposal authorizing court action to prevent violations of the open meetings law.

Thunderbirds, Jr. Horsemen To Assist At P-TA's 'Fiesta'

The West Novato Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring the annual West Novato School Fiesta to take place at the West Novato School from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, May 13.

One of the highlights of the fiesta will be the horse rides for the boys and girls. Supervising the horse rides will be Mr. and Mrs. George Vierra. Assisting with this event will be Reno Romanin, Shirley Worden and Mike Thomas of the Junior Horsemen of Novato and Carol Hansen and Bruce Johnson of the Novato Thunderbirds with the cooperation of Mrs. Paul Hansen and Mrs. Bert Johnson who direct these organizations.

Ten years ago Bob Watson founded the Junior Horsemen of Novato for young people between the ages of 10 and 18. The group presently maintains a membership of 25. Reno Romanin is now serving as president and Mr. Neill Cullins as Senior Advisor. One business meeting is held each month with guest speakers or films pertaining to good horsemanship. In addition, the club meets once a month for a social activity such as a ride, dance or picnic. The Junior Horsemen often participate as the color guard in rodeos, ride in playdays, and are now making plans for their horse show in September.

The Novato Thunderbirds were organized five years ago by Mrs. Bert Johnson who still leads the group. They have 22 members between the ages of 7 and 18. Essentially a bareback exhibition drill team, the young people must be skilled and experienced in their horsemanship. Aside from assisting the fiesta, the group is currently preparing for its second annual horse show to be given in May.

Thunderbirds, Jr. Horsemen To Assist At P-TA's 'Fiesta'

The West Novato Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring the annual West Novato School Fiesta to take place at the West Novato School from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, May 13.

One of the highlights of the fiesta will be the horse rides for the boys and girls. Supervising the horse rides will be Mr. and Mrs. George Vierra. Assisting with this event will be Reno Romanin, Shirley Worden and Mike Thomas of the Junior Horsemen of Novato and Carol Hansen and Bruce Johnson of the Novato Thunderbirds with the cooperation of Mrs. Paul Hansen and Mrs. Bert Johnson who direct these organizations.

Ten years ago Bob Watson founded the Junior Horsemen of Novato for young people between the ages of 10 and 18. The group presently maintains a membership of 25. Reno Romanin is now serving as president and Mr. Neill Cullins as Senior Advisor. One business meeting is held each month with guest speakers or films pertaining to good horsemanship. In addition, the club meets once a month for a social activity such as a ride, dance or picnic. The Junior Horsemen often participate as the color guard in rodeos, ride in playdays, and are now making plans for their horse show in September.

The Novato Thunderbirds were organized five years ago by Mrs. Bert Johnson who still leads the group. They have 22 members between the ages of 7 and 18. Essentially a bareback exhibition drill team, the young people must be skilled and experienced in their horsemanship. Aside from assisting the fiesta, the group is currently preparing for its second annual horse show to be given in May.

QUITE PLEASED WITH their silhouette portraits are Anne Marie and Anndy Lillestol. An added attraction of this year's Alto School Country Fair to be held Saturday at the school, will be the booth of Silhouette Lady, Mrs. Ernest Kurtzweil. She is a nationally known artist in the technique of silhouette snipping.

Alto School Fair To Feature Silhouette Lady On Saturday

All the favorite features from past years along with some innovations will be included in the Alto School's annual county fair Saturday from 1 to 7 p.m. on the school grounds.

According to fair chairman Mrs. John Harding, the fair will open with folk dancing by the children at 1 p.m. and close with a barbecued chicken dinner served from 5 to 7 p.m.

A favorite with the children is the hay ride, while parents enjoy browsing through white elephant treasures. The midway will again have booths and games for all ages, from the fish pond for small anglers to the test-your-strength for junior supermen.

An added attraction this year will be Silhouette Lady, Mrs. Ernest Kurtzweil, who will cut profile portraits. She is a nationally known artist in the intricate technique of silhouette snipping. Besides the silhouettes there will be needlework and other gift items suitable for mother's day.

No fair would be complete without snacks and goodies. Hot dogs, popcorn, coffee and pop will be available throughout the afternoon.

Proceeds will be used by the sponsoring P-TA to provide services otherwise unavailable to the school. This year these included paying for 2½ hours weekly music instruction for the third through sixth grades; purchasing an encyclopedia and nearly 200 books for the school library; providing a classroom pin-money fund for each teacher; buying materials for a tile mosiac mural made by sixth graders.

Among those serving on the committee with Mrs. Harding are Mesdames Miles D. Roan, dinner arrangements; A. E. Denk and Alto teachers, bake sale; F. R. Daulton, baseball throw; Louis Even, fish pond; E. F. Pfaff, dinosaur throw; Robert Murphy, grab bag; H. G. Hinrichs, hats; Alo Moore and Frank David, live fish; Richard Urbais, James Cruickshank and Rex Thompson, Mother's Day booth.

Others are Mesdames Harry Magill, sock-the-can; A. M. Zibilich, teen dancing; J. K. Lillestol and Tabor Kopan, toys and comics; Al Moore, hay ride; Duane Spangler, wheel of fortune; Robert Holland, coffee; Armand Pascual, hot dogs; M. J. Zak, snow cones, and Warren Staiger, ticket sales.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. McConnell will be cashiers; Armand Pascual will handle cokes, and William Secor will be in charge of guess-your-weight.

MARRIED ON Saturday at Mission San Carlos Borromeo in Carmel were Delia Meulenkamp, former Olympic swim champion and Jack Dooling. Present at the wedding were the bride's father, Gerrit Meulenkamp of San Rafael, with his wife, and the bride's mother, Mrs. Maria Meulenkamp of San Francisco and the bridegroom's father, John Dooling. The ceremony was followed by a reception at Highlands Inn. The newlyweds left for a 10 day honeymoon at Scottsdale, Ariz., and will reside in their own home in Woodside. The bride is a native of Holland and was graduated from Tamalpais High School.

Salvage Shop Makes Donations At Meeting

Major donations were $500 to Guide Dogs for the Blind; $500 to the Sausalito Little League; $100 to Salvation Army and $50 to the Social Service Auxiliary of Marin, earmarked for use in their work at the county hospital at Lucas Valley.

Mrs. Armstrong reported on her attendance at the dinner that ushered in Public Schools Week, held at Central School. The Salvage Shop has, for many years, made a monthly donation to the Sausalito School District to help supply hot lunches for children who would not have them otherwise.

The Shop has sponsored a Little League team — the "Seals"—since Little League started in Sausalito. The "Seals" are now the permanent owners of the coveted trophy given each year to the winning team. Instead of remaining in the Salvage Shop, the trophy will be given to Konrad Knudsen, the Seals' manager, who will see that each boy on the team has a turn at temporary ownership in his home.

The Sausalito Salvage Shop, established over two decades ago, the first of its kind in the county, mentions its donations with pardonable pride. All its funds, raised by the sale of donated, used articles, are given to organized charities or tax-free worthy causes, such as Little League. At the present time the Shop is in dire need of merchandise and its many friends can assist in the continuance of its good works by keeping the "salvage" coming. A telephone call to the Princess Street shop in Sausalito will bring a member of the pickup committee to collect saleable items.

Sit Down And Watch 'Separate Tables'

The final production of the Cove Players' theater season, "Separate Tables," will open tomorrow for three consecutive Friday and Saturday nights at the Tiburon Playhouse.

A drama of high wit and bittersweet possion, it is being directed by John King of Sausalito.

Dan Bradley of San Anselmo is featured as the charming and wistful old soldier, Major Pollack. His emotional involvement with Sybil Railton-Bell, played by Edith Schneider, also of San Anselmo, leads ot some startling disclosures which scandalize the guests of the English seaport hotel.

Babs Dreyfus of Mill Valley plays Sybil's mother, a formidable woman in the path of not-so-young love. Cast as the dotty Miss Meacham, Dolly Potter of Kentfield enlivens the drama with her horsey, British-tweed characterization of the hotel spinster. Her husband in real life, H. C. (Cliff) Potter, plays the part of the befuddled Mr. Fowler.

Set designs for "Separate Tables" are by Anne Hickey of Corte Madera. Costumers Betty Atterbury and Dorothy Boat, both of Belvedere, are ransacking the area for suitable drab horrors in the tea-gown department indicative of the British matron's upper-class taste.

Tickets may be reserved at Leonard Linn's Main Street store in Tiburon or purchased at the box office prior to the 8:30 curtain of the play.

Crash Victim Improves

Mahlon H. Davenport, 18, of 180 Bothin Road, Fairfax, was reported improving yesterday by the Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma, where he is recuperating from chest injuries suffered Friday in an auto accident.

Homestead Players To Repeat Performance

Mill Valley's Homestead Players will repeat last week's program of three one-act plays on May 19 at Brown's Hall.

Cyril Wright, president of the theater group, said the added performance has been scheduled because of community enthusiasm and record-breaking first night attendance. Tickets are available through Lila Heffner of 57 Sunnyside Avenue, Mill Valley.

Rep. Miller Says Debate On Housing Shaping Up

By REP. CLEMENT MILLER

The Senate is about ready to debate its version of the housing bill. In the House, hearings are steadily moving forward in the Banking and Currency Committee.

Implicit in all the testimony and debate is the earnest hope of all involved that this year the private housing industry (which includes the lumber industry) will again be able to play key roles in getting the economy off and running once again.

The key questions concern the market in homes. Is there a potential market yet unreached by private industry? If so, where is it and what tools are needed to reach it?

For years Congress has been told of the unmet needs of middle-income families — usually described as those with incomes from $4,000 to $6,000. These are the families we are told, who can spend about $65 to $95 a month for shelter.

When I was home, builders told me that there was a big market if we could get monthly charges to home buyers within this range. There are four million American families in this moderate income group who today are not homeowners.

The only way we could see to help private enterprise reach this market was to stretch out the mortgage repayment period, say to 40 years. (Now the limit—on Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance — is 30 years.) The administration is proposing 40-year FHA loans for a two-year trial period.

Most of us agree that broadening the base of home ownership provides certain benefits in the form of a more stable society not achieved by any other means.

There is no doubt in my mind that the move to ease FHA mortgage insurance terms will be successful. It is part of a long-range trend.

Not Candidate For Postmaster

Ernest Schallinger, Marin manager for Western Builders, said yesterday he is not a candidate for postmaster of Novato.

Schallinger, who is a member of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee and resides at 31 Hillside Terrace, Novato, had been mentioned as a candidate for appointment to succeed James N. Morris, who announced he is quitting as postmaster at the end of June.

He said, however, that after consideration he had decided not to seek the office.

Marin Schools Might Adopt Approach To Communism

We had called to our attention the other day by Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, the interest Los Angeles school officials are showing in presenting the true picture of Communism to today's students.

The L.A. County Board of Education has set up a committee of county and district administrators to discuss the problem. In their first meeting they reached agreement on seven major points. Here they are:

1. There is a real Communist threat. A loyal American citizen who doesn't believe this today is either a confirmed optimist or a non-reader.

2. The schools should do something about the Communist threat. To acquaint boys and girls with the philosophy, strategy, dangers and encroachments of Communism is a responsibility of education.

3. What the schools do should be based upon authentic and accurate information. The schools should use materials that present incontrovertible facts. They should be concerned with sound education. This may call for appropriate inservice activities for teaching personnel.

4. The schools should be responsible for developing their own programs of citizenship and patriotism. Outside groups may help, but schools are responsible to the public and must not become unduly involved in outside programs over which they exercise no control.

5. The positive side of our way of life should be strongly presented. This is basic to any consideration of the dangers of Communism. There should be emphasis on what we believe in and what we stand for.

6. Each school district has responsibility for its own program. However, there may be strength in coordinating our activities on an area-wide basis. It might be possible to do some things better together than to go our own separate ways.

7. There is need to keep those who support our schools fully informed concerning our programs of citizenship and patriotism. Too many times schools carry on good programs that are relatively unknown to the lay public.

Los Angeles officials called this "a project in survival in which all school districts can participate."

It appears to be an appropriate project for Marin schools to participate in as well.

Fun With Your Mower

Any time is a pretty good time to mow your lawn in Marin County but this is the time of year when a chore rises to the rank of a sport. Provided, that is, you take the correct attitude.

To the refugees from severe northern climes it is one of many pleasant surprises that the grass, not to mention the leaves, shrubs, flowers and weeds, grows more or less the year round. But in winter rain bothers the mower and chill weather slows the growth.

In summer things grow, with aid of sprinkling, but it can be a trifle warmish for following the lawn mower.

Now is the time for perfect combination of fast-growing things and man's springtime urge to take a little wholesome exercise. Choose your day and your hour and the exertion becomes real fun. You'll just feel a faint nostalgic twinge of regret that now nobody pays you the 25-cent-piece at the finish.

BOYS BRAVE FLAMES

Four boys with a ladder rescued a man from the roof of a blazing factory in Detroit before the fire department was able to reach the scene with 16 trucks and 60 men.

"Those little guys were tremendous," said the grateful worker. "I'd be either a cinder or in a hospital with broken legs if they hadn't gotten me down."

He had been trapped on a roof 25 feet above ground as a flash fire raced through the plant.

When the boys heard his screams for help, one ran to a nearby home and turned in the alarm; the others grabbed an extension ladder which they propped against the flaming building until the man climbed down to safety.

I Dreamed I Got Married Again, But My Wife Sort Of Spoiled It

NEW YORK (AP)—It was one of those rainy days when people speak their doubts about life.

"Suppose something happened to one of us, and it happened to you instead of me," I asked Frances, my wife of 24 years, "Would you suggest I get married again?"

"Please do," she said.

"Why?"

"Because, Rover," she replied, "I couldn't rest quiet in my tomb if I thought there was no one to call you when you are spending an evening at your club with your rowdy friends and remind you it is time to come home and get your sleep."

"That isn't exactly the kind of a second wife I had in mind," I murmured.

"Well, just what kind of a second wife do you have in mind?"

"To tell you the truth, she'd be about 23 years old and docile, with graduate degrees in political science and sociology so she could tell me what's wrong with people and the world, but wouldn't interrupt me when I discussed the future of baseball.

"She would be ravishingly beautiful with long auburn curls and green eyes and a fine old father, rich in money but poor in health."

"AND IF something happened to me," I said, "would you marry again?"

"Certainly," replied my wife.

"You would — really?" I asked, indignantly.

"Uh huh."

"Who? Some young deadbeat that would steal the insurance I left you and break your heart and leave you alone?"

"No."

"Then who?" I demanded.

"WHY I'D marry another pot-bellied, middle-aged, baldheaded, daydreaming oaf just like you," said Frances. "Once a woman gets used to a husband like that, what would she do with another kind—except feel lonesome?"

The sun came out then and the world smiled. You can't beat an endurable wife.

ABOUT DEATH PENALTY

Tie Vote Shows How Split Assembly Is

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A rarity in the Assembly — a tie vote with all 80 members recorded—shows how even is the division of opinion over the issue of capital punishment.

Not for at least a decade and going through literally thousands of roll calls has the lower house come up to a 40-40 tie vote.

Yet that is exactly what happened last week on a bill by Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan (D-Los Angeles) to declare a four-year moratorium on the death penalty.

Unlike the U. S. Senate or the State Senate for that matter, the Assembly has no provision for breaking a tie. In the state Senate, the lieutenant governor occasionally is called upon to vote to break a tie and the Vice President has cast tie-breaking votes in the U. S. Senate.

But every single member of the lower house voted on the moratorium bill, including Assembly Speaker Ralph M. Brown who, incidentally, voted "no."

Perhaps the evenness of the vote on the McMillan bill indicates that the only way the issue will be settled is to submit it to the people and let them decide.

The legislature, obviously, is making very little headway.

As far back as 1933, bills to abolish capital punishment have been introduced. Always, they have been beaten.

Ony occasionally has a measure actually gone to a vote in both houses. In 1933, the Assembly passed a repealer 48-31 but the Senate defeated it 6-33. As recently as 1957, a six-year moratorium passed the Assembly 44-29, but fell by the wayside in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

This year, a full-fledged abolition bill was submitted to the lower house and soundly defeated 24-54.

Although capital punishment has been one of the most widely debated issues in the state for at least a decade, the people never have been asked to vote on it.

Back in 1912, an attempt was made to qualify an initiative petition to abolish the death penalty. That effort failed when the proponents fell 8,000 signatures short of the number needed.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has introduced a constitutional amendment to repeal the death penalty. He has shown so far no indication to set the measure for hearing and start it on its way through the legislature. If the measure is pushed and wins, it would then be submitted to the voters, probably at the November 1962 election.

The McMillan bill was only a halfway measure but still could not muster enough support to win final passage.

It would have banned the imposition of the death penalty for a four-year period. The mortatorium would not apply to any person convicted of first degree murder; persons who in the course of a kidnaping, killed the victim; a prisoner who murdered any person or a person who killed a peace officer.

The McMillan bill would not have affected the 32 men and one woman currently awaiting execution in San Quentin's lethal gas chamber.

WRITER: Thanks, J. B. It wasn't easy, you know.

PRODUCER: I realize that, sweetie baby. You had to be careful not to offend the most delicate sensibilities. But you've come up with a sincere, heartwarming script on cannibalism. I love it.

Why Should Parents Be Afraid To Appear Before Their School Board?

A San Rafael parent arose before the Board of Education recently to offer her comments on life adjustment courses which she felt were a "sore point" with parents.

That Mrs. Charles Strom of 260 Linden Lane took the trouble to come to the meeting and voice her complaints was certainly unusual.

In the year and a half that we have been covering board meetings, very few parents have come either to praise or criticize. Many a meeting night the board has gone about its business with only administrators and a few staff members present.

SO WE WERE very happy to see Mrs. Strom get up and speak her mind. But we were very disturbed by a comment she made.

"Not many people have the courage to get up and say what I am saying to you," Mrs. Strom told the board.

Later she posed this situation: suppose a parent doesn't like some of the life adjustment courses. So she goes to the teacher, and the teacher offers a justification for why the courses are given.

"Do you say 'I still disagree and I want you to take it up with the superintendent and the board'?" Mrs. Strom inquired.

"It requires guts to do something like that," she declared.

DOES IT TAKE courage or guts for a parent to go before the board if something in the school, curriculum or other matters, disturbs him? And if so, why should it?

The more you think about it, the more frightening it is.

Why should a parent fear to go before the people he has helped elect and the superintendent and teachers who have the most important influences on his child — and say: "I don't like this. Can you do something about it?"

Is Mrs. Strom correct in her comments? We hope to hear from some other parents who have feelings on the subject. And if she is right, is it the board's fault, or the parents?

Perhaps it isn't lack of courage that keeps parents from questioning something they don't like. Perhaps it's the same thing that keeps people away from meetings of many governing bodies: call it apathy, complacency or just plain lack of curiosity or interest.

MRS. STROM told the board that parents were not given the opportunity "en masse" to show their reactions, that it was not effective to go individually before the board. She explained that unless a parent felt the support of a member of the board, he hesitated to come and say he didn't like something.

Supt. Frank L. Lucas said, however, that the complaint of one parent was sufficient to cause him to re-evaluate a course and take it up with the staff. This is how changes take place, he noted.

He cited the example of freshman orientation, which was changed from a two-semester to one-semester course after parents complained to him.

"IF A PARENT is not satisfied with the reasons a teacher gives, it is a serious mistake to stop there. He has every right to take this through the administration or to the board, to raise the question here," Lucas stressed.

The superintendent added: "Every parent's concern is our concern, and always has been since I've been here in San Rafael."

He expressed disappointment that parents don't feel free to come and raise questions.

Ike's New Role Is Presidential Advisor On Handling Cold War

WASHINGTON—An unusually cordial personal relationship is developing between President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower which can be a boon to the nation in this period of extreme crisis.

It is a relationship permitting close collaboration in foreign policy while not calling for any political truce in domestic matters.

Kennedy and Eisenhower are each contributing to their developing association and both welcome it.

It is compounded of respect, goodwill, and an awareness that the United States faces mounting and belligerent Communst challenge which will take all the unity and stamina of the nation to meet.

THIS DOES NOT mean that Eisenhower's voice is going to be stifled. To the contrary, he will be speaking repeatedly in the coming months on the whole range of social and economic issues, including the increasing drift of power to the federal government.

But in the arena of the cold war, President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower are going to be working allies.

The White House helicopter will, I am sure, be landing periodically at Gettysburg to pick up Eisenhower for further meetings with President Kennedy. The post-Cuban conference is the beginning, not the end, of these meetings. There will be more and the purposes behind them will be these:

To keep Eisenhower continuously and authoritatively informed.

To provide not only a channel, but an incentive to Eisenhower to offer advice and proposals.

Mr. Kennedy exposed the whole Cuban fiasco to Gen. Eisenhower without reserve and without shirking any of his own responsibility. It was the healthiest possible way to begin their new responsibility.

Eisenhower did much to set the tone of the subsequent Kennedy meetings with Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and to shape their response. If Eisenhower had played the Monday-morning quarterback and indulged in divisive criticism, the others would have been tempted to do the same. Instead the role of the most influential Republican leadership is directed to strengthening the hand of the President.

The President invited completely frank comments from Eisenhower on the Cuban problem and those who are aware of the general's thinking, know that he put the following news to the President:

THAT THE American people expect the President to free the Western Hemisphere from a Soviet-supported Communist regime imposed on the Cuban people.

That Eisenhower will not make political capital out of the failure of the Cuban invasion and will strongly support the President in whatever decisive action is needed to remove an un-elected Communist state from our doorstep.

There is no doubt that Eisenhower feels that Kennedy has had a chastening baptism and has come to realize that some of his campaign criticisms of the Eisenhower actions were based on lack of first-hand experience. But, while Eisenhower would prefer to see Nixon in the White House, he has come to have a very considerable respect for Kennedy. He sees him capable of being a strong President.

The legislature, obviously, is making very little headway.

As far back as 1933, bills to abolish capital punishment have been introduced. Always, they have been beaten.

Ony occasionally has a measure actually gone to a vote in both houses. In 1933, the Assembly passed a repealer 48-31 but the Senate defeated it 6-33. As recently as 1957, a six-year moratorium passed the Assembly 44-29, but fell by the wayside in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

This year, a full-fledged abolition bill was submitted to the lower house and soundly defeated 24-54.

Although capital punishment has been one of the most widely debated issues in the state for at least a decade, the people never have been asked to vote on it.

Back in 1912, an attempt was made to qualify an initiative petition to abolish the death penalty. That effort failed when the proponents fell 8,000 signatures short of the number needed.

Sen. Edwin J. Regan (D-Weaverville), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has introduced a constitutional amendment to repeal the death penalty. He has shown so far no indication to set the measure for hearing and start it on its way through the legislature. If the measure is pushed and wins, it would then be submitted to the voters, probably at the November 1962 election.

The McMillan bill was only a halfway measure but still could not muster enough support to win final passage.

It would have banned the imposition of the death penalty for a four-year period. The mortatorium would not apply to any person convicted of first degree murder; persons who in the course of a kidnaping, killed the victim; a prisoner who murdered any person or a person who killed a peace officer.

The McMillan bill would not have affected the 32 men and one woman currently awaiting execution in San Quentin's lethal gas chamber.

The Screen Writers Guild puts on an annual show that is one of the highlights of the Hollywood season. This year's effort featured a "cannibal" blackout that went something like this:

PRODUCER: I realize that, sweetie baby. You had to be careful not to offend the most delicate sensibilities. But you've come up with a sincere, heartwarming script on cannibalism. I love it.

WRITER: You're very kind, J. B.

PRODUCER: There's just one little thing, Seymour sweetheart: Weren't there TWO writers assigned to this script?

Why Should Parents Be Afraid To Appear Before Their School Board?

A San Rafael parent arose before the Board of Education recently to offer her comments on life adjustment courses which she felt were a "sore point" with parents.

That Mrs. Charles Strom of 260 Linden Lane took the trouble to come to the meeting and voice her complaints was certainly unusual.

In the year and a half that we have been covering board meetings, very few parents have come either to praise or criticize. Many a meeting night the board has gone about its business with only administrators and a few staff members present.

SO WE WERE very happy to see Mrs. Strom get up and speak her mind. But we were very disturbed by a comment she made.

"Not many people have the courage to get up and say what I am saying to you," Mrs. Strom told the board.

Later she posed this situation: suppose a parent doesn't like some of the life adjustment courses. So she goes to the teacher, and the teacher offers a justification for why the courses are given.

"Do you say 'I still disagree and I want you to take it up with the superintendent and the board'?" Mrs. Strom inquired.

"It requires guts to do something like that," she declared.

DOES IT TAKE courage or guts for a parent to go before the board if something in the school, curriculum or other matters, disturbs him? And if so, why should it?

The more you think about it, the more frightening it is.

Why should a parent fear to go before the people he has helped elect and the superintendent and teachers who have the most important influences on his child — and say: "I don't like this. Can you do something about it?"

Is Mrs. Strom correct in her comments? We hope to hear from some other parents who have feelings on the subject. And if she is right, is it the board's fault, or the parents?

Perhaps it isn't lack of courage that keeps parents from questioning something they don't like. Perhaps it's the same thing that keeps people away from meetings of many governing bodies: call it apathy, complacency or just plain lack of curiosity or interest.

MRS. STROM told the board that parents were not given the opportunity "en masse" to show their reactions, that it was not effective to go individually before the board. She explained that unless a parent felt the support of a member of the board, he hesitated to come and say he didn't like something.

Supt. Frank L. Lucas said, however, that the complaint of one parent was sufficient to cause him to re-evaluate a course and take it up with the staff. This is how changes take place, he noted.

He cited the example of freshman orientation, which was changed from a two-semester to one-semester course after parents complained to him.

"IF A PARENT is not satisfied with the reasons a teacher gives, it is a serious mistake to stop there. He has every right to take this through the administration or to the board, to raise the question here," Lucas stressed.

The superintendent added: "Every parent's concern is our concern, and always has been since I've been here in San Rafael."

He expressed disappointment that parents don't feel free to come and raise questions.

Ike's New Role Is Presidential Advisor On Handling Cold War

WASHINGTON—An unusually cordial personal relationship is developing between President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower which can be a boon to the nation in this period of extreme crisis.

It is a relationship permitting close collaboration in foreign policy while not calling for any political truce in domestic matters.

Kennedy and Eisenhower are each contributing to their developing association and both welcome it.

It is compounded of respect, goodwill, and an awareness that the United States faces mounting and belligerent Communist challenge which will take all the unity and stamina of the nation to meet.

THIS DOES NOT mean that Eisenhower's voice is going to be stifled. To the contrary, he will be speaking repeatedly in the coming months on the whole range of social and economic issues, including the increasing drift of power to the federal government.

But in the arena of the cold war, President Kennedy and former President Eisenhower are going to be working allies.

The White House helicopter will, I am sure, be landing periodically at Gettysburg to pick up Eisenhower for further meetings with President Kennedy. The post-Cuban conference is the beginning, not the end, of these meetings. There will be more and the purposes behind them will be these:

To keep Eisenhower continuously and authoritatively informed.

To provide not only a channel, but an incentive to Eisenhower to offer advice and proposals.

Mr. Kennedy exposed the whole Cuban fiasco to Gen. Eisenhower without reserve and without shirking any of his own responsibility. It was the healthiest possible way to begin their new responsibility.

Eisenhower did much to set the tone of the subsequent Kennedy meetings with Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and to shape their response. If Eisenhower had played the Monday-morning quarterback and indulged in divisive criticism, the others would have been tempted to do the same. Instead the role of the most influential Republican leadership is directed to strengthening the hand of the President.

The President invited completely frank comments from Eisenhower on the Cuban problem and those who are aware of the general's thinking, know that he put the following news to the President:

THAT THE American people expect the President to free the Western Hemisphere from a Soviet-supported Communist regime imposed on the Cuban people.

That Eisenhower will not make political capital out of the failure of the Cuban invasion and will strongly support the President in whatever decisive action is needed to remove an un-elected Communist state from our doorstep.

There is no doubt that Eisenhower feels that Kennedy has had a chastening baptism and has come to realize that some of his campaign criticisms of the Eisenhower actions were based on lack of first-hand experience. But, while Eisenhower would prefer to see Nixon in the White House, he has come to have a very considerable respect for Kennedy. He sees him capable of being a strong President.

Casualties At Summer Camps Are Usually The Result Of Negligence

Billy and Danny were 10. One afternoon they checked out a small plywood boat, and went paddling on a camp lake. They got to horsing around. Billy landed on a gunwale, capsizing the boat. Neither boy could swim. The water was freezing. They thrashed around a bit, and died.

Henry was 14. At 5 he had had rheumatic fever, and spent the year in bed. It left him with a weak heart. But Henry wanted to be like other boys. He tried to conceal his condition. He entered his camp's race up a mountain. He was halfway to the top when he collapsed. He passed away immediately.

Gerry was a rather noisy little boy of 8. He never had ridden a horse. He rubbed the camp hostler the wrong way. So the man put Gerry on the meanest horse in the string. The animal promptly bucked the boy off. Gerry's shoe caught in one stirrup and he was dragged to death over jagged rocks.

These deaths are listed by the coroners' juries as "accidental." I think the juries were too kind to the camps.

At good camps boys who can't swim don't take tippy boats out on lakes. Youngsters with bad hearts are kept out of mountain races. Inexperienced little boys are not put on mean horses. I'd say the deaths were the result of negligence. Most summer camp deaths are.

So? So be sure you send your children to a safe camp. Enough said.

Q. "Are lists of safe camps available? I want to be sure my children attend a good one."

(A) I'm sorry, but there are no complete lists. Some of the regional lists I've seen contain camps which have bad records. You'd better go to the camps yourself, and do your own checking.

Young Slayer Of Two Girls Set For Home

KADOKA, S. D. (UPI)—Freckle-faced James Scott Stephens, admitted rifle slayer of two neighbor girls in a Michigan woods, waited to go home today to face intensive questioning.

Kadoka authorities reportedly telephoned the 16-year-old youth's hand-written, signed confession to Michigan officals who were to arrive here from a 1,200-mile trip by car this afternoon.

Stephens, a tall Boy Scout and object of a nationwide search, was seized early yesterday at an all-night truck stop. Under questioning he admitted the slayings of Margaret Chambers, 12, and Carol Gee, 11, on a flower-picking hike Saturday near their Holland, Mich., home.

Officials at Holland and Allegan, Mich., across the county line where the girls' bodies were found, withheld comment on the confession pending Stephen's return. However, a South Dakota investigator said Stephens maintained he shot the girls accidentally.

The account followed lines of a note Stephens left for his mother before he fled into Michigan's upper peninsula, saying he tripped over a log and "didn't mean to do it." Police said the note indicated he had killed two persons, but did not identify them.

The Collahuaya Indians of South America are known as the druggists of the Amazon. They make excellent cough medicine from tree barks, a tonic from sarsaparilla roots and a powerful poison, curare, from plants of the strychnos family.

Titan Pays Off

Paris Student Says Teeners 'Conformists'

By ELLEN BRY

Jacques Delacroix is a Frenchman from his accented tongue to the tip of his stylish shoes. He has had almost a year's look at Novato and American living and wants to remain a Frenchman.

Jacques, 19, is attending Novato High School under the American Field Service student exchange program. He will return to his home in Paris late in June and faces two years in the French military service.

But his ultimate ambition is to be a journalist. "I'm interested in people," he explains.

STUDENTS CONFORM

The people he has met during his stay in the United States lead him to call Americans "friendly and well-meaning"; at the same time, "conformist"—especially high school students.

He understands that the system of education he has known is different from that in the United States in that "you try to educate everybody." In France, the emphasis is on an academic education with "no social events, no clubs, very few sports."

He hopes to land a journalism post in the armed service, then return to civilian life to get a "minor job on a big Paris newspaper and go to journalistic school by night." He'd like to become a movie reviewer. "Movies are the media of the future; they have the most influence on people," he believes.

NO TRADITIONS

Jacques is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Kruth and thinks his family and the Kruths are much alike in that neither is "traditionalist—visiting relatives every Sunday."

American families he has seen seem to tend to the middle of the road between the traditional and no-tradition and are much alike, Jacques believes.

The Kruth family includes Kruth, an electrician with the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District; Mrs. Kruth, a nurse at Novato Hospital; Hal 11; Karen, 14, and Ted, a student at University of Nevada. Ted spent the summer of 1959 as an exchange student in Norway under the American Field Service program.

'NEW CHALLENGE'

Kruth is enthusiastic about the program, while admitting that "it's a new challenge every day" to have a student visitor in the family.

Jacques believes the program can have a "tremendous influence" on international relations on the individual level, but not only for the traveling student. "Maybe Americans will see me and it will make them realize there are people outside the United States," he says.

He apparently realizes that the chance for foreign travel does not automatically mean a broadening of ideas, as he tells of meeting a French government official who has been in the U. S. for some years.

"He was the same as if he had been in France—the same suit, just as bureaucratic, the same accent."

SOARING SKYSCRAPER

Casualties At Summer Camps Are Usually The Result Of Negligence

I'm all for good summer camps. They teach our children lessons they can't learn anywhere else. But bad camps are awful.

Billy and Danny were 10. One afternoon they checked out a small plywood boat, and went paddling on a camp lake. They got to horsing around. Billy landed on a gunwale, capsizing the boat. Neither boy could swim. The water was freezing. They thrashed around a bit, and died.

Henry was 14. At 5 he had had rheumatic fever, and spent the year in bed. It left him with a weak heart. But Henry wanted to be like other boys. He tried to conceal his condition. He entered his camp's race up a mountain. He was halfway to the top when he collapsed. He passed away immediately.

Gerry was a rather noisy little boy of 8. He never had ridden a horse. He rubbed the camp hostler the wrong way. So the man put Gerry on the meanest horse in the string. The animal promptly bucked the boy off. Gerry's shoe caught in one stirrup and he was dragged to death over jagged rocks.

These deaths are listed by the coroners' juries as "accidental." I think the juries were too kind to the camps.

At good camps boys who can't swim don't take tippy boats out on lakes. Youngsters with bad hearts are kept out of mountain races. Inexperienced little boys are not put on mean horses. I'd say the deaths were the result of negligence. Most summer camp deaths are.

So? So be sure you send your children to a safe camp. Enough said.

READERS' FORUM

Q. "Are lists of safe camps available? I want to be sure my children attend a good one."
T. N.

(A) I'm sorry, but there are no complete lists. Some of the regional lists I've seen contain camps which have bad records. You'd better go to the camps yourself, and do your own checking.

Young Slayer Of Two Girls Set For Home

KADOKA, S. D. (UPI)—Freckle-faced James Scott Stephens, admitted rifle slayer of two neighbor girls in a Michigan woods, waited to go home today to face intensive questioning.

Kadoka authorities reportedly telephoned the 16-year-old youth's hand-written, signed confession to Michigan officals who were to arrive here from a 1,200-mile trip by car this afternoon.

Stephens, a tall Boy Scout and object of a nationwide search, was seized early yesterday at an all-night truck stop. Under questioning he admitted the slayings of Margaret Chambers, 12, and Carol Gee, 11, on a flower-picking hike Saturday near their Holland, Mich., home.

Officials at Holland and Allegan, Mich., across the county line where the girls' bodies were found, withheld comment on the confession pending Stephen's return. However, a South Dakota investigator said Stephens maintained he shot the girls accidentally.

"It was an accident—and the shootings just kept going," Stephens was quoted by Don Light, special agent for the state criminal investigation division.

The account followed lines of a note Stephens left for his mother before he fled into Michigan's upper peninsula, saying he tripped over a log and "didn't mean to do it." Police said the note indicated he had killed two persons, but did not identify them.

The Collahuaya Indians of South America are known as the druggists of the Amazon. They make excellent cough medicine from tree barks, a tonic from sarsaparilla roots and a powerful poison, curare, from plants of the strychnos family.

Titan Pays Off

Paris Student Says Teeners 'Conformists'

By ELLEN BRY

Jacques Delacroix is a Frenchman from his accented tongue to the tip of his stylish shoes. He has had almost a year's look at Novato and American living and wants to remain a Frenchman.

Jacques, 19, is attending Novato High School under the American Field Service student exchange program. He will return to his home in Paris late in June and faces two years in the French military service.

But his ultimate ambition is to be a journalist. "I'm interested in people," he explains.

STUDENTS CONFORM

The people he has met during his stay in the United States lead him to call Americans "friendly and well-meaning"; at the same time, "conformist"—especially high school students.

He understands that the system of education he has known is different from that in the United States in that "you try to educate everybody." In France, the emphasis is on an academic education with "no social events, no clubs, very few sports."

"The students don't want them; they want to get out of school and do something else," says Jacques.

He hopes to land a journalism post in the armed service, then return to civilian life to get a "minor job on a big Paris newspaper and go to journalistic school by night." He'd like to become a movie reviewer. "Movies are the media of the future; they have the most influence on people," he believes.

NO TRADITIONS

Jacques is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Kruth and thinks his family and the Kruths are much alike in that neither is "traditionalist—visiting relatives every Sunday."

American families he has seen seem to tend to the middle of the road between the traditional and no-tradition and are much alike, Jacques believes.

His father, a police lieutenant; his mother, two brothers and two sisters, are in Paris. He misses his family, "but not to cry."

The Kruth family includes Kruth, an electrician with the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District; Mrs. Kruth, a nurse at Novato Hospital; Hal 11; Karen, 14, and Ted, a student at University of Nevada. Ted spent the summer of 1959 as an exchange student in Norway under the American Field Service program.

'NEW CHALLENGE'

Kruth is enthusiastic about the program, while admitting that "it's a new challenge every day" to have a student visitor in the family.

Jacques believes the program can have a "tremendous influence" on international relations on the individual level, but not only for the traveling student. "Maybe Americans will see me and it will make them realize there are people outside the United States," he says.

He apparently realizes that the chance for foreign travel does not automatically mean a broadening of ideas, as he tells of meeting a French government official who has been in the U. S. for some years.

"He was the same as if he had been in France—the same suit, just as bureaucratic, the same accent."

SOARING SKYSCRAPER

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS IN THE REGULATIONS OF THE STATE BOARD OF FORESTRY

Notice is hereby given that the State Board of Forestry of the State of California, pursuant to authority contained in Sections 4948 and 4949 of the Public Resources Code, proposes to adopt regulations as amendments to the Coast Range Pine and Fir Forest Practice Rules in Subchapter 4, Chapter 2, Division 2, Title 14, of the California Administrative Code, substantially as follows:

Sections 941 to 949 inclusive, of subchapter 4, Chapter 2, Division 2, Title 14, of the California Administrative Code, are hereby amended to read:

FOREST PRACTICE RULES
SUBCHAPTER 4
COAST RANGE PINE AND FIR FOREST DISTRICT

Article 1. Introduction

941. Statement of Purpose. The purpose of these rules is to establish minimum standards of forest practice for promoting maximum sustained productivity of the forests of the Coast Range Pine and Fir Forest District in the interests of the economic welfare of the State of California and the continuance of the forest industry, as contemplated by the Forest Practice Act (Sections 4901 et seq., Public Resources Code).

Article 2. Definitions of Terms Used

942.01. D. B. H. "Diameter" or "d.b.h." means the average diameter of a tree, outside the bark, at a point 4.5 feet above the average ground level.

942.02. Slash. "Slash" means any debris of 4-inch or smaller diameter resulting from logging or construction, including, but not limited to, needles, twigs, branches, and other debris of trees felled, broken or pushed over by the operation.

942.04. Thrifty Trees. "Thrifty, immature trees" means sound, vigorous trees under 150 years old, with long, full, pointed tops, and no clear logs, lower limbs frequently dead, but containing very few dead limbs in upper, green portion of crown. These trees will usually fall within Dunning's Tree Classes 1 and 2; Keen's Tree Classes 1a, 1b, 2a and 2b; as set forth respectively in "A Tree Classification for the Selection Forests of the Sierra Nevada," Journal Agricultural Research, 36: 755-771, May 1, 1928; and "Ponderosa Pine Tree Classes redefined," Journal of Forestry 41: 249-253, April 1943.

942.05 Seed Tree. "Seed tree" means a live, coniferous, wind-firm tree, other than knobcone pine, Digger pine, or incense cedar, with a full, live, healthy crown, free from damage that would impair seed productivity, and which could reasonably be expected to produce a good seed crop for a minimum of five years.

942.06. Minimum Land Subdivision. "Minimum land subdivision" means any quarter of a quarter section or lot defined or surveyed according to the laws and rules defining the rectangular system of public land surveys by the United States Government, or all or any portion of any separately owned parcel of land which falls partially or completely within any quarter quarter section or lot.

942.07. Pure Douglas Fir. "Areas of Pure Douglas Fir" means areas in which 80 percent or more of the merchantable coniferous timber volume on any minimum land subdivision is Douglas fir; provided, however, where redwood constitutes a portion of the stand, the percentage of Douglas fir can be less than 80 percent by the percent of redwood present.

942.09. Timberland. "Timberland" means land upon which is growing a crop of trees of any species which are of sufficient size and quality to be capable of furnishing raw material used in the manufacture of lumber and other forest products.

942.10. Cutover Land. "Cutover land" means land which has borne a crop of commercial timber from which at least 70 percent of the merchantable original growth timber stand has been removed by logging, or destroyed by fire, insects, or tree diseases and which is now supporting, or capable of growing a crop of commercial timber and other forest products and which has not been converted to other commercial or agricultural use.

942.11. Timber Owner. "Timber Owner" and "private timber owner" means any individual, co-partnership, corporation, or association owning commercial timber, timberland, cutover land, or timber rights on lands of another other than a governmental agency.

942.12 Timber Operator. "Timber operator" means any individual, copartnership, corporation, or association engaged in timber operations, and responsible for compliance with the Forest Practice Act in the timber operations.

942.13. Timber Operations. "Timber operations" means the cutting or removal or both of timber or other forest products from timberlands for commercial purposes.

942.14. Tractor Roads. "Tractor roads" and "skid trails" mean trails of paths used by tractors or other yarding or skidding devices in harvesting forest products.

942.15. Logging Roads. "Logging roads" means private roads used by trucks in the transportation of logs or other forest products, including empty trucks going or returning to the logging area.

942.16 Logging Area. "Logging area" means any area owned or controlled by the operator within 150 feet, measured along the surface of the ground, (a) of any stump top or other remnant of a green tree felled or knocked down by the current operation, whether or not any part of such tree has been moved from where it fell or was felled, or (b) of any tractor road, skid trail, logging road or landing constructed or used by the current operation.

942.18 Tight-lining. "Tight-lining" means to move rigging from one road to another by changing the tail blocks and then tightening the main line to pull the cable to the new road.

942.19. Dry Season. "Dry Season" means, in any area, all periods during which permits for burning in that area are required under the provisions of Section 4153, Public Resources Code, and other periods when fire is likely to spread if not suppressed or confined.

Article 3. Cutting Practices

943. Cutting Practices. For restocking logging area and to preserve the young thrifty trees present as growing stock, every timber operator shall conduct his timbes operation in accordance with the rules set for in this Article.

943.1. Minimum Diameter and Seed Tree Distribution. On all timberland, except in areas of pure Douglas fir, on any minimum land subdivision, timber operators shall leave uncut all thrifty, immature coniferous trees 20.0" d.b.h. or less other than Digger pine and knobcone pine; and leave uncut and undamaged an average of not less than two (2) coniferous seed trees per acre 20.0" d.b.h. or larger other than Digger pine, knobcone pine and incense cedar, and with no point on the logging area more than three hundred (300) feet from a seed tree; provided, however, that timber operators may cut or remove seed trees and sound, thrifty trees under 20.0" d.b.h., when the timberland to be harvested has before and after harvesting (1) a seed tree 20.0" d.b.h. or larger within three hundred (300) feet of any point on the logging area, and (2) a well distributed stand of sound, thrifty coniferous trees on the logging area other than Digger pine, knobcone pine or incense cedar which meet one or a combination of the following minimum stocking requirements:

(a) Three hundred (300) trees per acre not less than one (1) foot in height and not more than four (4.0) inches d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "one" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements.

(b) One hundred (100) trees per acre over four (4.0) inches d.b.h. and not more than twelve (12.0) inches d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "three" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements.)

(c) Fifty (50) trees per acre over twelve (12.0) inches d.b.h. and not more than 20.0 "d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "six" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements).

(d) A combined count of 300 per acre, computed as indicated in parts (a), (b), and (c) of this section. "well-distributed" as used in this section means that the requirements shall be met in each minimum land subdivision or portion thereof within the logging area.

943.2. Seed Trees and Stocking Provisions in Pure Douglas Fir. In areas of pure Douglas fir:

(a) Timber operators shall leave standing uncut and undamaged, after cutting and logging operations, and after completion of fire hazard abatement as hereinafter required,

(1) Not less than twenty (20) seed trees thirty-six (36) inches or more d.b.h.; or

(2) Not less than forty (40) seed trees between twenty-four (24) inches d.b.h. and thirty-six inches d.b.h.; or

(3) Not less than eighty (80) seed trees between eighteen (18) inches d.b.h. and twenty-four (24) inches d.b.h. or a combination of the above within each 10-acre rectangular block of cutover land with no side of the rectangular block longer than thirteen hundred and twenty (1320) feet, and with no point within said rectangular block more than five hundred (500) feet from a seed tree. To meet seed tree requirements, combination of numbers and sizes of seed trees shall be determined as follows:

Each seed tree thirty-six (36) inches or more d.b.h. shall be equivalent to two (2) seed trees of the 24-36" d.b.h. class, or four (4) seed trees of the 18-24" d.b.h. class. Each seed tree 24-36" d.b.h. shall be equivalent to two (2) seed trees of the 18-24" d.b.h. class.

(b) Timber operators may cut or remove seed trees in any 10-acre rectangular block of cutover land, as decribed in Section 943.2(a) above, if the 10-acre block meets minimum restocking before and after removal of such trees. Minimum restocking shall require a stand of sound, thrifty coniferous young trees well distributed over each 10-acre rectangular block of cutover land, as described in Sec. 943.2(a), which meets one or a combination of the following requirements:

(1) Three hundred (300) trees per acre not less than one (1) foot in height and not more than four (4.0) inches d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "one" toward meeting the stocking requirements).

(2) One hundred (100) trees per acre over four (4.0) inches d.b.h. and not more than twelve (12.0) inches d.b.h., (each such tree to count as "three" toward meeting the stocking requirements).

(3) Fifty (50) trees per acre over twelve (12) inches d.b.h. and less than eighteen (18.0) inches d.b.h., (each tree to count as "six" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements).

(4) A combined count of 300 per acre, computed as indicated in parts (1), (2), and (3) of this section. "Well-distributed" as used in this section means that the requirements shall be met in each minimum land subdivision or portion thereof within the logging area.

943.3. Exceptions. The requirements of this article shall not prohibit the timber operator from cutting or removing trees for the purpose of clearing necessary rights of way, log landings, campsites or firebreaks.

Article 4. Protection of residual timber stands, seed trees, and soils when logging

944. Logging Practices. For the purpose of protecting from damage those trees required to be left standing after logging and fire hazard abatement, as required in these rules, and to maintain the productivity of the timberlands and soils, every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in the management and operation of felling, yarding, and loading of timber or any activity so as to comply with the rules as set forth in this Article.

944.1. Felling. Timber operators in falling timber under these rules shall fall all trees to the fullest extent that topography, lean of tree, landings, utility lines, local obstructions and safety factors permit, in line with skidding direction, away from roads and with minimum damage to seed trees and reproduction.

944.3. Tractor Logging. Every timber operator shall use due diligence in the location and construction of tractor roads and tractor skid trails so that they will not damage or destroy seed trees and/or stocking required to be left standing by these rules, and to prevent unreasonable damage or destruction to any additional young growth.

944.4 Cable Yarding. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in the installation, hanging and operation of cable lines so that seed trees and stocking required to be left by the rules, shall not be damaged or destroyed and to prevent unreasonable damage or destruction of any additional young growth on the logging area.

944.42. The practice of tight-lining for the purpose of changing locations of cable lines is prohibited unless such practice can be carried on without damaging or destroying seed trees and/or stocking as required by these rules, or without causing unreasonable damage or destruction of any young growth on the logging area.

944.5. Rigging. Guy lines and other rigging shall be hung on stumps or trees intended to be harvested, provided, however, that other trees may be used to hang rigging, but those trees girdled by rigging shall be felled before moving to another landing.

944.6. Erosion Control. Every timber operator shall so construct and leave after logging, tractor roads, skid trails, logging truck roads, and firebreaks so that water flow thereon shall not create abnormal erosion of soils. Waterbreaks shall be installed as follows:

(a) At intervals of not more than 500' on grades in excess of 10%. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

(b) At each natural water course.

(c) At closer intervals than 500' where topography and soil conditions such as decomposed granite may require in order to prevent abnormal erosion. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

All waterbreaks shall be installed immediately following conclusion of use of such trails and roads and prior to removal of equipment.

944.61. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in crossing beds of streams where such crossing will cause excessive erosion of soils. All temporary stream crossing structures not designed to provide for the normal maximum flow of the stream shall be removed each year prior to the period of maximum stream flow, but not before the operator has complied with Section 946.2 of these rules. Beds of streams or portions of beds of streams which carry running water throughout the year shall not be used as roadways, logging skid trails or log landings where such use will cause excessive erosion of soils.

Article 5. Hazard Reduction

945. Hazard Reduction. For the purpose of protecting the forest resource, every timber operator shall provide for the reduction of fire hazards on logging areas, maintain reasonable access to such lands for fire protection; and he shall comply with the rules set forth in this article.

945.1. Snag Felling. Every timber operator shall fell all snags over twenty (20) feet in height and sixteen (16.0) inches d.b.h. in each part of his logging area concurrently with timber operations, provided that:

(a) In salvaging fire-killed timber the operator required to fall such snags only within 200 feet of public roads and logging roads traversing the burned area and within a strip 300 feet wide whose exterior boundary is the perimeter of the burn, or fire trail, such distances to be measured along the surface of the ground;

(b) Snags need not be felled in areas logged primarily for control of insects or disease, for salvage of dead or dying timber or for stand improvement, provided (1) that such logging does not remove more than 25 per cent of the total merchantable board foot volume in trees of 12 inch or larger d.b.h. from the logging area within any minimum land subdivision and (2) that the operator gives the State Forester advance written notice of such logging, stating the nature and extent of the operation and providing instructions that will enable the State Forester's representative to locate the operation for inspection purposes. This notice shall be addressed to the same office of the California Division of Forestry with which the operator's fire plan is to be filed under Article 6 of these rules.

945.2 Slash Disposal, Areas Other Than Pure Douglas Fir. Every timber operator, when conducting a timber operation in areas other than pure Douglas fir, shall lop, concurrently with the timber operation, all slash lying within 100 feet of any railroad right-of-way and/or the traveled surface of any road that is more than one mile in length within the logging area. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

945.3 Slash Disposal, Areas of Pure Douglas Fir. Every timber operator, when conducting a timber operation in pure Douglas fir areas, shall comply with the following provisions:

(a) All areas of slash created by logging operations shall be, concurrently with the operation, broken up into blocks surrounded by firebreaks of not less than fifteen (15) feet in width from which all inflammable material has been cleared. Existing roads, trails, stream beds or other natural barriers may be considered as firebreaks when of not less than the minimum width and clear of all inflammable materials as required herein. Slash areas to be surrounded by such firebreaks shall not exceed eighty (80) acres in size. Areas of slash created between December 1 of one year, and April 15 of the following year shall have such firebreaks constructed concurrently with the logging operations provided, however, that in the event construction of the required firebreaks concurrently with the logging operations is rendered impossible as a result of weather conditions, the required firebreaks shall be constructed as soon thereafter as weather conditions will permit, but in any event not later than June 15 of the aforesaid following year to constitute compliance with this rule.

(b) Concentrations of slash, at log landings, in gulches, and within one hundred (100) feet of firebreaks shall be isolated and burned after the first heavy fall rains following its creation and burning shall be completed before April 15 of the year following. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

(c) Slash areas may be broadcast burned after cleared firebreaks have been prepared as required in these rules; provided, however, that such burning shall be done only after the first heavy fall rains and shall be completed before April 15, and provided further, that not more than one block as referred to in these rules may be burned at one time. Burning conducted on sloping ground shall be ignited at the highest level and progressively burned downward. Such burning shall be kept under control at all times.

(d) Logging slash created within twenty (20) feet of the edge of any federal, state or county road right of way, shall be removed concurrently with its creation. Distances shall be measured along ground surfaces.

945.4. Burning Permits. Timber operators shall notify the local representative of the State Forester in advance of the time and place of any burning of logging slash or debris as provided for in this Article.

945.5. Protection of Seed Trees While Burning. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence to protect seed trees and/or stocking required to be left standing after loggiing, as provided in these rules, from damage or destruction during any fire hazard abatement or slash burning operations, as provided in this Article, and unreasonable damage or destruction of additional young growth.

Article 6. Fire Prevention and Suppression

946. Every timber operator shall have a fire protection plan and program for the prevention and suppression of fires in his logging areas during the period when fire permits are required by Section 4153, Public Resources Code, and shall comply with the following provisions of this Article during this period:

946.1. Smoking, Tobacco Matches. Every timber operator shall make and enforce rules prohibiting persons employed, or otherwise engaged by them in timber operations, from smoking on forest-covered land belonging to, or under the control of, the timber operator; except, subject to any law or ordinance prohibiting, or otherwise regulating it, such rules may allow smoking while persons engaged in such operations are not moving about and are confined to cleared landings and areas of bare soil, and burning tobacco or matches shall be extinguished before discarding.

946.2. Protection Roads. Every timber operator shall leave passable for truck travel, for use in case of fire all abandoned railroad grades and logging truck roads over one-half mile in length on lands owned or controlled by the timber operator, in areas where the timber operator has timber operations, and all logging roads to such areas. These roads shall be kept open during the fire season (as defined by Section 4153, Public Resources Code) following logging and thereafter until snag and slash disposal has been completed, clearing the roads of any snags that may fall across them.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS IN THE REGULATIONS OF THE STATE BOARD OF FORESTRY

Notice is hereby given that the State Board of Forestry of the State of California, pursuant to authority contained in Sections 4948 and 4949 of the Public Resources Code, proposes to adopt regulations as amendments to the Coast Range Pine and Fir Forest Practice Rules in Subchapter 4, Chapter 2, Division 2, Title 14, of the California Administrative Code, substantially as follows:

Sections 941 to 949 inclusive, of subchapter 4, Chapter 2, Division 2, Title 14, of the California Administrative Code, are hereby amended to read:

FOREST PRACTICE RULES
SUBCHAPTER 4
COAST RANGE PINE AND FIR FOREST DISTRICT

Article 1. Introduction

941. Statement of Purpose. The purpose of these rules is to establish minimum standards of forest practice for promoting maximum sustained productivity of the forests of the Coast Range Pine and Fir Forest District in the interests of the economic welfare of the State of California and the continuance of the forest industry, as contemplated by the Forest Practice Act (Sections 4901 et seq., Public Resources Code).

Article 2. Definitions of Terms Used

942.01. D. B. H. "Diameter" or "d.b.h." means the average diameter of a tree, outside the bark, at a point 4.5 feet above the average ground level.

942.02. Slash. "Slash" means any debris of 4-inch or smaller diameter resulting from logging or construction, including, but not limited to, needles, twigs, branches, and other debris of trees felled, broken or pushed over by the operation.

942.04. Thrifty Trees. "Thrifty, immature trees" means sound, vigorous trees under 150 years old, with long, full, pointed tops, and no clear logs, lower limbs frequently dead, but containing very few dead limbs in upper, green portion of crown. These trees will usually fall within Dunning's Tree Classes 1 and 2; Keen's Tree Classes 1a, 1b, 2a and 2b; as set forth respectively in "A Tree Classification for the Selection Forests of the Sierra Nevada," Journal Agricultural Research, 36: 755-771, May 1, 1928; and "Ponderosa Pine Tree Classes redefined," Journal of Forestry 41: 249-253, April 1943.

942.05 Seed Tree. "Seed tree" means a live, coniferous, wind-firm tree, other than knobcone pine, Digger pine, or incense cedar, with a full, live, healthy crown, free from damage that would impair seed productivity, and which could reasonably be expected to produce a good seed crop for a minimum of five years.

942.06. Minimum Land Subdivision. "Minimum land subdivision" means any quarter of a quarter section or lot defined or surveyed according to the laws and rules defining the rectangular system of public land surveys by the United States Government, or all or any portion of any separately owned parcel of land which falls partially or completely within any quarter quarter section or lot.

942.07. Pure Douglas Fir. "Areas of Pure Douglas Fir" means areas in which 80 percent or more of the merchantable coniferous timber volume on any minimum land subdivision is Douglas fir; provided, however, where redwood constitutes a portion of the stand, the percentage of Douglas fir can be less than 80 percent by the percent of redwood present.

942.08. Lopping. "Lopping" means severing and spreading of slash so that no part of it remains more than 30 inches above the ground.

942.09. Timberland. "Timberland" means land upon which is growing a crop of trees of any species which are of sufficient size and quality to be capable of furnishing raw material used in the manufacture of lumber and other forest products.

942.10. Cutover Land. "Cutover land" means land which has borne a crop of commercial timber from which at least 70 percent of the merchantable original growth timber stand has been removed by logging, or destroyed by fire, insects, or tree diseases and which is now supporting, or capable of growing a crop of commercial timber and other forest products and which has not been converted to other commercial or agricultural use.

942.11. Timber Owner. "Timber Owner" and "private timber owner" means any individual, co-partnership, corporation, or association owning commercial timber, timberland, cutover land, or timber rights on lands of another other than a governmental agency.

942.12 Timber Operator. "Timber operator" means any individual, copartnership, corporation, or association engaged in timber operations, and responsible for compliance with the Forest Practice Act in the timber operations.

942.13. Timber Operations. "Timber operations" means the cutting or removal or both of timber or other forest products from timberlands for commercial purposes.

942.14. Tractor Roads. "Tractor roads" and "skid trails" mean trails or paths used by tractors or other yarding or skidding devices in harvesting forest products.

942.15. Logging Roads. "Logging roads" means private roads used by trucks in the transportation of logs or other forest products, including empty trucks going or returning to the logging area.

942.16 Logging Area. "Logging area" means any area owned or controlled by the operator within 150 feet, measured along the surface of the ground, (a) of any stump top or other remnant of a green tree felled or knocked down by the current operation, whether or not any part of such tree has been moved from where it fell or was felled, or (b) of any tractor road, skid trail, logging road or landing constructed or used by the current operation.

942.18 Tight-lining. "Tight-lining" means to move rigging from one road to another by changing the tail blocks and then tightening the main line to pull the cable to the new road.

942.19. Dry Season. "Dry Season" means, in any area, all periods during which permits for burning in that area are required under the provisions of Section 4153, Public Resources Code, and other periods when fire is likely to spread if not suppressed or confined.

Article 3. Cutting Practices

943. Cutting Practices. For restocking logging area and to preserve the young thrifty trees present as growing stock, every timber operator shall conduct his timbes operation in accordance with the rules set for in this Article.

943.1. Minimum Diameter and Seed Tree Distribution. On all timberland, except in areas of pure Douglas fir, on any minimum land subdivision, timber operators shall leave uncut all thrifty, immature coniferous trees 20.0" d.b.h. or less other than Digger pine and knobcone pine; and leave uncut and undamaged an average of not less than two (2) coniferous seed trees per acre 20.0" d.b.h. or larger other than Digger pine, knobcone pine and incense cedar, and with no point on the logging area more than three hundred (300) feet from a seed tree; provided, however, that timber operators may cut or remove seed trees and sound, thrifty trees under 20.0" d.b.h., when the timberland to be harvested has before and after harvesting (1) a seed tree 20.0" d.b.h. or larger within three hundred (300) feet of any point on the logging area, and (2) a well distributed stand of sound, thrifty coniferous trees on the logging area other than Digger pine, knobcone pine or incense cedar which meet one or a combination of the following minimum stocking requirements:

(a) Three hundred (300) trees per acre not less than one (1) foot in height and not more than four (4.0) inches d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "one" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements.

(b) One hundred (100) trees per acre over four (4.0) inches d.b.h. and not more than twelve (12.0) inches d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "three" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements.)

(c) Fifty (50) trees per acre over twelve (12.0) inches d.b.h. and not more than 20.0 "d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "six" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements).

(d) A combined count of 300 per acre, computed as indicated in parts (a), (b), and (c) of this section. "well-distributed" as used in this section means that the requirements shall be met in each minimum land subdivision or portion thereof within the logging area.

943.2. Seed Trees and Stocking Provisions in Pure Douglas Fir. In areas of pure Douglas fir:

(a) Timber operators shall leave standing uncut and undamaged, after cutting and logging operations, and after completion of fire hazard abatement as hereinafter required,

(1) Not less than twenty (20) seed trees thirty-six (36) inches or more d.b.h.; or

(2) Not less than forty (40) seed trees between twenty-four (24) inches d.b.h. and thirty-six inches d.b.h.; or

(3) Not less than eighty (80) seed trees between eighteen (18) inches d.b.h. and twenty-four (24) inches d.b.h. or a combination of the above within each 10-acre rectangular block of cutover land with no side of the rectangular block longer than thirteen hundred and twenty (1320) feet, and with no point within said rectangular block more than five hundred (500) feet from a seed tree. To meet seed tree requirements, combination of numbers and sizes of seed trees shall be determined as follows:

Each seed tree thirty-six (36) inches or more d.b.h. shall be equivalent to two (2) seed trees of the 24-36" d.b.h. class, or four (4) seed trees of the 18-24" d.b.h. class. Each seed tree 24-36" d.b.h. shall be equivalent to two (2) seed trees of the 18-24" d.b.h. class.

(b) Timber operators may cut or remove seed trees in any 10-acre rectangular block of cutover land, as decribed in Section 943.2(a) above, if the 10-acre block meets minimum restocking before and after removal of such trees. Minimum restocking shall require a stand of sound, thrifty coniferous young trees well distributed over each 10-acre rectangular block of cutover land, as described in Sec. 943.2(a), which meets one or a combination of the following requirements:

(1) Three hundred (300) trees per acre not less than one (1) foot in height and not more than four (4.0) inches d.b.h. (each such tree to count as "one" toward meeting the stocking requirements).

(2) One hundred (100) trees per acre over four (4.0) inches d.b.h. and not more than twelve (12.0) inches d.b.h., (each such tree to count as "three" toward meeting the stocking requirements).

(3) Fifty (50) trees per acre over twelve (12) inches d.b.h. and less than eighteen (18.0) inches d.b.h., (each tree to count as "six" toward meeting the combined stocking requirements).

(4) A combined count of 300 per acre, computed as indicated in parts (1), (2), and (3) of this section. "Well-distributed" as used in this section means that the requirements shall be met in each minimum land subdivision or portion thereof within the logging area.

943.3. Exceptions. The requirements of this article shall not prohibit the timber operator from cutting or removing trees for the purpose of clearing necessary rights of way, log landings, campsites or firebreaks.

Article 4. Protection of residual timber stands, seed trees, and soils when logging

944. Logging Practices. For the purpose of protecting from damage those trees required to be left standing after logging and fire hazard abatement, as required in these rules, and to maintain the productivity of the timberlands and soils, every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in the management and operation of felling, yarding, and loading of timber or any activity so as to comply with the rules as set forth in this Article.

944.1. Felling. Timber operators in falling timber under these rules shall fall all trees to the fullest extent that topography, lean of tree, landings, utility lines, local obstructions and safety factors permit, in line with skidding direction, away from roads and with minimum damage to seed trees and reproduction.

944.2. Landing Size. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in keeping landings to a minimum size and number consistent with economical logging.

944.3. Tractor Logging. Every timber operator shall use due diligence in the location and construction of tractor roads and tractor skid trails so that they will not damage or destroy seed trees and/or stocking required to be left standing by these rules, and to prevent unreasonable damage or destruction to any additional young growth.

944.4 Cable Yarding. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in the installation, hanging and operation of cable lines so that seed trees and stocking required to be left by the rules, shall not be damaged or destroyed and to prevent unreasonable damage or destruction of any additional young growth on the logging area.

944.41. Seed trees shall not be used for rub trees, corner blocks, or other cable ties.

944.42. The practice of tight-lining for the purpose of changing locations of cable lines is prohibited unless such practice can be carried on without damaging or destroying seed trees and/or stocking as required by these rules, or without causing unreasonable damage or destruction of any young growth on the logging area.

944.5. Rigging. Guy lines and other rigging shall be hung on stumps or trees intended to be harvested, provided, however, that other trees may be used to hang rigging, but those trees girdled by rigging shall be felled before moving to another landing.

944.6. Erosion Control. Every timber operator shall so construct and leave after logging, tractor roads, skid trails, logging truck roads, and firebreaks so that water flow thereon shall not create abnormal erosion of soils. Waterbreaks shall be installed as follows:

(a) At intervals of not more than 500' on grades in excess of 10%. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

(b) At each natural water course.

(c) At closer intervals than 500' where topography and soil conditions such as decomposed granite may require in order to prevent abnormal erosion. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

All waterbreaks shall be installed immediately following conclusion of use of such trails and roads and prior to removal of equipment.

944.61. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence in crossing beds of streams where such crossing will cause excessive erosion of soils. All temporary stream crossing structures not designed to provide for the normal maximum flow of the stream shall be removed each year prior to the period of maximum stream flow, but not before the operator has complied with Section 946.2 of these rules. Beds of streams or portions of beds of streams which carry running water throughout the year shall not be used as roadways, logging skid trails or log landings where such use will cause excessive erosion of soils.

Article 5. Hazard Reduction

945. Hazard Reduction. For the purpose of protecting the forest resource, every timber operator shall provide for the reduction of fire hazards on logging areas, maintain reasonable access to such lands for fire protection; and he shall comply with the rules set forth in this article.

945.1. Snag Felling. Every timber operator shall fell all snags over twenty (20) feet in height and sixteen (16.0) inches d.b.h. in each part of his logging area concurrently with timber operations, provided that:

(a) In salvaging fire-killed timber the operator required to fall such snags only witnin 200 feet of public roads and logging roads traversing the burned area and within a strip 300 feet wide whose exterior boundary is the perimeter of the burn, or fire trail, such distances to be measured along the surface of the ground;

(b) Snags need not be felled in areas logged primarily for control of insects or disease,, for salvage of dead or dying timber or for stand improvement, provided (1) that such logging does not remove more than 25 per cent of the total merchantable board foot volume in trees of 12 inch or larger d.b.h. from the logging area within any minimum land subdivision and (2) that the operator gives the State Forester advance written notice of such logging, stating the nature and extent of the operation and providing instructions that will enable the State Forester's representative to locate the operation for inspection purposes. This notice shall be addressed to the same office of the California Division of Forestry with which the operator's fire plan is to be filed under Article 6 of these rules.

945.2 Slash Disposal, Areas Other Than Pure Douglas Fir. Every timber operator, when conducting a timber operation in areas other than pure Douglas fir, shall lop, concurrently with the timber operation, all slash lying within 100 feet of any railroad right-of-way and/or the traveled surface of any road that is more than one mile in length within the logging area. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

945.3 Slash Disposal, Areas of Pure Douglas Fir. Every timber operator, when conducting a timber operation in pure Douglas fir areas, shall comply with the following provisions:

(a) All areas of slash created by logging operations shall be, concurrently with the operation, broken up into blocks surrounded by firebreaks of not less than fifteen (15) feet in width from which all inflammable material has been cleared. Existing roads, trails, stream beds or other natural barriers may be considered as firebreaks when of not less than the minimum width and clear of all inflammable materials as required herein. Slash areas to be surrounded by such firebreaks shall not exceed eighty (80) acres in size. Areas of slash created between December 1 of one year, and April 15 of the following year shall have such firebreaks constructed concurrently with the logging operations provided, however, that in the event construction of the required firebreaks concurrently with the logging operations is rendered impossible as a result of weather conditions, the required firebreaks shall be constructed as soon thereafter as weather conditions will permit, but in any event not later than June 15 of the aforesaid following year to constitute compliance with this rule.

(b) Concentrations of slash, at log landings, in gulches, and within one hundred (100) feet of firebreaks shall be isolated and burned after the first heavy fall rains following its creation and burning shall be completed before April 15 of the year following. The distance shall be measured along the surface of the ground.

(c) Slash areas may be broadcast burned after cleared firebreaks have been prepared as required in these rules; provided, however, that such burning shall be done only after the first heavy fall rains and shall be completed before April 15, and provided further, that not more than one block as referred to in these rules may be burned at one time. Burning conducted on sloping ground shall be ignited at the highest level and progressively burned downward. Such burning shall be kept under control at all times.

(d) Logging slash created within twenty (20) feet of the edge of any federal, state or county road right of way, shall be removed concurrently with its creation. Distances shall be measured along ground surfaces.

945.4. Burning Permits. Timber operators shall notify the local representative of the State Forester in advance of the time and place of any burning of logging slash or debris as provided for in this Article.

945.5. Protection of Seed Trees While Burning. Every timber operator shall exercise due diligence to protect seed trees and/or stocking required to be left standing after logging, as provided in these rules, from damage or destruction during any fire hazard abatement or slash burning operations, as provided in this Article, and unreasonable damage or destruction of additional young growth.

Article 6. Fire Prevention and Suppression

946. Every timber operator shall have a fire protection plan and program for the prevention and suppression of fires in his logging areas during the period when fire permits are required by Section 4153, Public Resources Code, and shall comply with the following provisions of this Article during this period:

946.1. Smoking, Tobacco Matches. Every timber operator shall make and enforce rules prohibiting persons employed, or otherwise engaged by them in timber operations, from smoking on forest-covered land belonging to, or under the control of, the timber operator; except, subject to any law or ordinance prohibiting, or otherwise regulating it, such rules may allow smoking while persons engaged in such operations are not moving about and are confined to cleared landings and areas of bare soil, and burning tobacco or matches shall be extinguished before discarding.

946.2. Protection Roads. Every timber operator shall leave passable for truck travel, for use in case of fire all abandoned railroad grades and logging truck roads over one-half mile in length on lands owned or controlled by the timber operator, in areas where the timber operator has timber operations, and all logging roads to such areas. These roads shall be kept open during the fire season (as defined by Section 4153, Public Resources Code) following logging and thereafter until snag and slash disposal has been completed, clearing the roads of any snags that may fall across them.

946.3. Warming Fires. Every timber operator, subject to a grant of and terms of written permission from the owner of the land, and subject to any law or ordinance prohibiitng, or otherwise regulating fires, shall make and enforce rules restricting the setting, maintenance, or use of warming or other fires, used for the comfort or convenience of employees, or other persons engaged in timber operations, to places where flammable or combustible vegetation, or other substance conducive to the spread of fire, does not exist, or has been removed for a distance of five (5) feet or more from the perimeter of such fire, and where a depression in the soil has been made to hold the ash created by such fire. Timber operators shall not allow such fires to be left unattended unless they are totally extinguished and covered over with mineral soil.

946.4. Posting Fire Rules. Every timber operator shall post notices which set forth the fire prevention rules they have prescribed in connection with their timber operations and such notices shall be posted in sufficient quantity and location throughout their operating area so that all employees or other persons engaged by them to work therein shall be informed of such rules.

946.5. Blasting & Welding. Every timber operator shall provide for a diligent fire watchman service at the scene of any blasting or welding operations conducted on his logging areas to prevent and extinguish fires resulting from such operations.

946.6. Daily Inspections. The timber operator shall provide for a diligent inspection within the first two hours after cessation of falling, skidding, and loading operations for each day during the dry season. This shall be done in all parts of the logging area where men and equipment have worked during that day, such inspection to be made by one or more designated employees or agents of the timber operator. The inspector shall have transportation or communications available and adequate for prompt reporting of any fire that may be detected. Detailed provisions for such inspections shall be set forth in the fire plan required under Section 946.7 of this article.

946.7. Fire Plan Filing. Every timber operator shall prepare and keep current each year a written plan for fire protection in his logging areas. He shall file a copy of such plan with the State Forester by May 15 of each year or, if his operation starts after May 15, at least 10 days prior to the start of the operation; and he shall amend or supplement the plan whenever there is a material change in any of the personnel, equipment, procedures or areas set forth therein, and file a copy of the amendment or supplement. The interest rate stated in the bid must be in a multiple of one-eighth or one-twentieth of one per cent per annum, payable as aforesaid.

MATURITIES: Said bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order from lower to higher (without option of prior redemption) as follows:

$1,000.00	1-25	1962-1986

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest payable in lawful money of the United States at the San Francisco Main Office of Bank of America, National Trust and Savings Association, in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, or at the option of the holder at the respective offices of the paying agents of said County in the City of New York, State of New York, or in the City of Chicago, State of Illinois.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by said Board of Supervisors on behalf of said school district. Such bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds were authorized by more than two-thirds of the voters voting at an election held in said district on January 17, 1961, and will be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for authorized school purposes.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of said school district and said Board of Supervisors has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said school district, subject to taxation by said school district (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates), without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service or by the decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may at his option, prior to the tender of said bonds by the Board of Supervisors, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and, in such case, the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of the following firm, approving the validity of said bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge: Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington & Sutcliffe of San Francisco, California. A copy of the legal opinion, certified by the official in whose office the original is filed, will be printed on each bond at the expense of the successful bidder, if requested in his bid.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIIDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the district would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates thereof at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the district. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; provided, that the award may be made after the expiration of the specified time if the bidder shall not have given the Board of Supervisors notice in writing of the withdrawal of such proposal.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of said County as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the day of sale.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION: The successful bidder shal have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 60 days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event, the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of West Marin Union School District of Marin County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $500.00 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said school district from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE OF SCHOOL DISTRICT BONDS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, at the office of the County Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of said Board of Supervisors in the Court House, City of San Rafael, in said County, California, on Tuesday, the 16th day of May, 1961, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P.M. for the purchase of bonds of WEST MARIN UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT OF MARIN COUNTY, State of California, more particularly described below:

ISSUE: $25,000.00 1961 School Bonds, Series A, consisting of 25 bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, numbered A-1 to A-25, inclusive, all dated May 1, 1961. Said bonds are part of an authorized issue in the aggregate principal amount of $26,200.00. The remaining $1,200.00 principal amount of said authorized issue may be sold when and as determined by said Board of Supervisors, but it is anticipated will not be offered for sale prior to November 1, 1961.

INTEREST RATE: Maximum five percent (5%) per annum, payable annually for the first year on May 1, 1962, and semi-annually thereafter on May 1 and November 1 in each year. Bidders must specify the rate of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. Bidders will be permitted to bid different rates of interest and to split rates irrespective of the maturities of said bonds. The interest rate stated in the bid must be in a multiple of one-eighth or one-twentieth of one per cent per annum, payable as aforesaid.

MATURITIES: Said bonds mature serially in consecutive numerical order from lower to higher (without option of prior redemption) as follows:

$1,000.00	1-25	1962-1986

PAYMENT: Both principal and interest payable in lawful money of the United States at the San Francisco Main Office of Bank of America, National Trust and Savings Association, in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, or at the option of the holder at the respective offices of the paying agents of said County in the City of New York, State of New York, or in the City of Chicago, State of Illinois.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by said Board of Supervisors on behalf of said school district. Such bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Said bonds were authorized by more than two-thirds of the voters voting at an election held in said district on January 17, 1961, and will be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for authorized school purposes.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of said school district and said Board of Supervisors has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said school district, subject to taxation by said school district (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates), without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service or by the decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may at his option, prior to the tender of said bonds by the Board of Supervisors, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and, in such case, the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinion of the following firm, approving the validity of said bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge: Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington & Sutcliffe of San Francisco, California. A copy of the legal opinion, certified by the official in whose office the original is filed, will be printed on each bond at the expense of the successful bidder, if requested in his bid.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIDDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the district would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates thereof at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the district. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; provided, that the award may be made after the expiration of the specified time if the bidder shall not have given the Board of Supervisors notice in writing of the withdrawal of such proposal.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of said County as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the day of sale.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION: The successful bidder shal have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 60 days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event, the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of West Marin Union School District of Marin County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $500.00 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said school district from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail, upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

Dated: April 18, 1961.

Marinites To Get Youth Medals

James C. Hayes of 53 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, and Mrs. Robert Manthey of 8 Cypress Court, Novato, will receive Archbishop Youth Award medals at a dinner May 9 at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Hayes and Mrs. Manthey will receive the awards for their leadership and participation in Catholic Youth Organization projects, it was announced by Archbishop John J. Mitty, who established the annual awards in 1958.

The awards dinner will mark the beginning of a 13 county non-denominational drive for funds to raise $25,000 for a dam at the CYO summer camp in Sonoma County.

Marinite Joins Navy

Kenneth Joseph Butler, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Butler of 775 McClay Road, Novato, has enlisted in the Navy at the Marin County Navy Recruiting Office 1116 Fourth Street, San Rafael, for a four-year tour of duty. He was sent to the San Diego Naval Training Center for recruit training.

Sports Clubs Name Officers

The San Rafael Chapters of the Indoor Sports Club, Inc., and the International Good Sports Club, Inc., will hold a joint installation of officers Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Carpenters' Hall, San Rafael. Wanda's Dance Studio of Novato will provide entertainment.

Indoor Sports Club officers are Phil Mack, president; Don Raymer, first vice president; Bob Wakeman, second vice president; Frank Arnold, recording secretary; Bernice Wright, corresponding secretary; Ron Raymer, treasurer; Bill Fausnight, Floyd Tallman and Doris Day, directors; Marian Raymer, director to district.

The Indoor Sports Club is an international club for the physically handicapped, and the Good Sports Club is a club of able-bodied people who assist the handicapped.

Out Of A Field Of 1,574 Plays, This Will Be Shown On Hallmark

There were entries from 1,573 writers living in 19 countries in the Hallmark Teleplay Writing Competition.

Tomorrow night, at 8:30 on KRON, you can see the play which won for its writer the $3,500 second prize. It's entitled "The Joke and the Valley," and it is being produced as a 90-minute "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production.

The playwright is a University of Wisconsin speech and drama professor named Jerry C. McNeely.

McNeely's teleplay finished behind one written by David Marks of New York City in the contest. Marks captured the $5,000 first prize. But McNeely's work was selected for actual production by Hallmark because, it was decided, it would give the series a better "program balance" for the season.

It's a story of a small Midwestern town of the late 1800s, and of two pranksters who play a cruel joke on a young and idealistic stranger who wanders into the community.

Thomas Mitchell and Keenan Wynn play the pranksters while Dean Stockwell, one of our most competent younger actors, is cast as the butt of the joke.

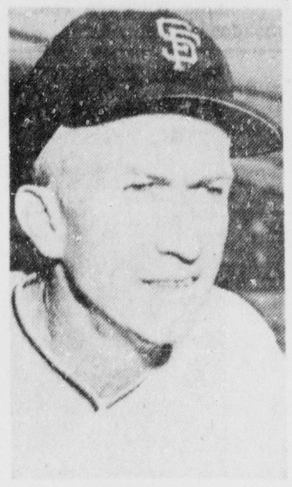
Playwright McNeely is 32 year old and a specialist in drama and television at Wisconsin University. He has won a number of awards for both drama and musical comedy, and two of his plays were produced on the "Studio One" and "Climax" as far back as 1947. In addition to the $3,500 prize money his "The Joke and the Valley" has already earned him, he will also receive the regular payment for the production of the play.

GIANT BASEBALL fans will see a familiar figure in an unfamiliar uniform on the new "Summer Sports Spectacular" program tonight at 7:30 on KPIX. Bill Rigney, the former manager of the San Francisco club, will be shown putting his new charges, the Los Angeles Angels of the American League, through their paces.

The one-hour show is entitled "Birth of a Ball Club," and will give fans a look at just how much time, money, effort and planning are involved in putting a new big league baseball team together.

ONE OF THE great movie epics of all time, D. W. Griffith's "America," will be the "Silents Please" feature tonight at 10 o'clock on KGO.

Made in 1924, it is the story of the American Revolution from Paul Revere's historic ride to Cornwallis' surrender.



BILL RIGNEY
The cap has changed

It is generally regarded as one of Griffith's finest effort. Scenes were staged at the actual locations where the historic events had occurred a century and a half earlier. An almost documentary realism was achieved. And in the cast you will see a young Lionel Barrymore far different from the veteran character actor most of us remember.

TOO BAD the kiddies will be in bed when KPIX's "Question" show comes on at 10:30 tonight.

The program visits San Francisco's Fleishacker Zoo where zoo director Carey Baldwin has been filmed answering the questions of youngsters about the zoo animals.

There will be the inevitable "How do you feed the lions?" along with some tougher ones from the young zoo visitors.

PEOPLE WHO couldn't care less about horse racing most of the year suddenly become fanatically interested in the sport when Kentucky Derby time rolls around. The 87th running of the derby will take place this Saturday in Louisville, and KPIX will carry the event starting at 2:15 p.m. A special 15-minute program on Derby Day excitement and color at Churchill Downs will precede the race. Veteran announcer Bryan Field will preside over it, and will also "call" the race.

Short Story By Marinite Due On TV

A play based upon a Marin woman's short story will be seen the evening of May 11 on "The Robert Herridge Theater" series on television station KQED.

"The Stone Boy" is adapted from a short story written by Mrs. Jack (Gina) Berriault of Tamalpais Valley. It was first published in 1957 in Mademoiselle magazine.

It won her an O. Henry award and was published in the annual O. Henry memory collection of outstanding short stories of that year. It has also been published in "Forty Best Short Stories From Mademoiselle" in both this country and England.

Born in Long Beach, Mrs. Berriault spent her early years there and in Los Angeles. She has been a Marin County resident for seven years. Her husband is a guitar-maker and teacher. They have a 5-year-old daughter, Julie.

The story, "The Stone Boy," tells of a small boy who kills his older brother in a pre-dawn shooting accident. Heading the cast in the television production will be Luke Halpin, Arthur Hill, and Teresa Hughes.

"The Robert Herridge Theater" is seen regularly at 8:30 p.m. on Thursdays on KQED (channel 9).

$15,000 In Prizes For Art, Garden Fair

Exhibitors at the 1961 Marin Art and Garden Fair, June 30-July 4, will be eligible for almost $15,000 in prize money.

State cash awards total a record $14,130 for the 16th annual Marin County fair conducted by the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The fair management will augment the state premium funds with special awards totaling $700.

All categories emphasize the French theme of the show design by Henry H. Cole, San Rafael landscape architect.

Divisions and sections open to professional and amateur exhibitors include specimen plants, cut-flower specimens, Bonsai, flower arrangements. An amateur or private grower who grows for his own use only may compete in a category including fruits, nuts, berries and vegetables.

A fine arts division is open to all artists residing in Marin County and a photography division, new this year, is open to residents of the following counties: Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, Napa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, and Sonoma.

The Fair opens to the public at 6 p.m. on June 30 following day-long judging of exhibits, and will remain open until 10 p.m. Hours on July 1, 2, 3, 4 will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Admission will be 75 cents for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted to the show free when accompanied by adults.

Audubon Society To Show Canada Film

A film entitled "Canada Sea to Sea" will be shown by Bert Hartwell, former chief naturalist at Yosemite National Park, at a public meeting of the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. Friday in Olney Hall at College of Marin.

Hartwell will also give a demonstration of whistling bird songs.

Marinites To Get Youth Medals

James C. Hayes of 53 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, and Mrs. Robert Manthey of 8 Cypress Court, Novato, will receive Archbishop Youth Award medals at a dinner May 9 at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

Hayes and Mrs. Manthey will receive the awards for their leadership and participation in Catholic Youth Organization projects, it was announced by Archbishop John J. Mitty, who established the annual awards in 1958.

The awards dinner will mark the beginning of a 13 county non-denominational drive for funds to raise $25,000 for a dam at the CYO summer camp in Sonoma County.

Marinite Joins Navy

Kenneth Joseph Butler, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Butler of 775 McClay Road, Novato, has enlisted in the Navy at the Marin County Navy Recruiting Office 1116 Fourth Street, San Rafael, for a four-year tour of duty. He was sent to the San Diego Naval Training Center for recruit training.

Out Of A Field Of 1,574 Plays, This Will Be Shown On Halimark

There were entries from 1,573 writers living in 19 countries in the Hallmark Teleplay Writing Competition.

Tomorrow night, at 8:30 on KRON, you can see the play which won for its writer the $3,500 second prize. It's entitled "The Joke and the Valley," and it is being produced as a 90-minute "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production.

The playwright is a University of Wisconsin speech and drama professor named Jerry C. McNeely.

McNeely's teleplay finished behind one written by David Marks of New York City in the contest. Marks captured the $5,000 first prize. But McNeely's work was selected for actual production by Hallmark because, it was decided, it would give the series a better "program balance" for the season.

It's a story of a small Midwestern town of the late 1800s, and of two pranksters who play a cruel joke on a young and idealistic stranger who wanders into the community.

Thomas Mitchell and Keenan Wynn play the pranksters while Dean Stockwell, one of our most competent younger actors, is cast as the butt of the joke.

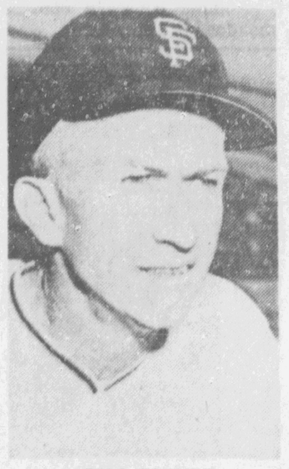
Playwright McNeely is 32 year old and a specialist in drama and television at Wisconsin University. He has won a number of awards for both drama and musical comedy, and two of his plays were produced on the "Studio One" and "Climax" as far back as 1947. In addition to the $3,500 prize money his "The Joke and the Valley" has already earned him, he will also receive the regular payment for the production of the play.

GIANT BASEBALL fans will see a familiar figure in an unfamiliar uniform on the new "Summer Sports Spectacular" program tonight at 7:30 on KPIX. Bill Rigney, the former manager of the San Francisco club, will be shown putting his new charges, the Los Angeles Angels of the American League, through their paces.

The one-hour show is entitled "Birth of a Ball Club," and will give fans a look at just how much time, money, effort and planning are involved in putting a new big league baseball team together.

ONE OF THE great movie epics of all time, D. W. Griffith's "America," will be the "Silents Please" feature tonight at 10 o'clock on KGO.

Made in 1924, it is the story of the American Revolution from Paul Revere's historic ride to Cornwallis' surrender.



BILL RIGNEY
The cap has changed

It is generally regarded as one of Griffith's finest effort. Scenes were staged at the actual locations where the historic events had occurred a century and a half earlier. An almost documentary realism was achieved. And in the cast you will see a young Lionel Barrymore far different from the veteran character actor most of us remember.

TOO BAD the kiddies will be in bed when KPIX's "Question" show comes on at 10:30 tonight.

The program visits San Francisco's Fleishacker Zoo where zoo director Carey Baldwin has been filmed answering the questions of youngsters about the zoo animals.

There will be the inevitable "How do you feed the lions?" along with some tougher ones from the young zoo visitors.

PEOPLE WHO couldn't care less about horse racing most of the year suddenly become fanatically interested in the sport when Kentucky Derby time rolls around. The 87th running of the derby will take place this Saturday in Louisville, and KPIX will carry the event starting at 2:15 p.m. A special 15-minute program on Derby Day excitement and color at Churchill Downs will precede the race. Veteran announcer Bryan Field will preside over it, and will also "call" the race.

Short Story By Marinite Due On TV

A play based upon a Marin woman's short story will be seen the evening of May 11 on "The Robert Herridge Theater" series on television station KQED.

"The Stone Boy" is adapted from a short story written by Mrs. Jack (Gina) Berriault of Tamalpais Valley. It was first published in 1957 in Mademoiselle magazine.

It won her an O. Henry award and was published in the annual O. Henry memory collection of outstanding short stories of that year. It has also been published in "Forty Best Short Stories From Mademoiselle" in both this country and England.

Born in Long Beach, Mrs. Berriault spent her early years there and in Los Angeles. She has been a Marin County resident for seven years. Her husband is a guitar-maker and teacher. They have a 5-year-old daughter, Julie.

The story, "The Stone Boy," tells of a small boy who kills his older brother in a pre-dawn shooting accident. Heading the cast in the television production will be Luke Halpin, Arthur Hill, and Teresa Hughes.

"The Robert Herridge Theater" is seen regularly at 8:30 p.m. on Thursdays on KQED (channel 9).

$15,000 In Prizes For Art, Garden Fair

Exhibitors at the 1961 Marin Art and Garden Fair, June 30-July 4, will be eligible for almost $15,000 in prize money.

State cash awards total a record $14,130 for the 16th annual Marin County fair conducted by the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The fair management will augment the state premium funds with special awards totaling $700.

All categories emphasize the French theme of the show design by Henry H. Cole, San Rafael landscape architect.

Divisions and sections open to professional and amateur exhibitors include specimen plants, cut-flower specimens, Bonsai, flower arrangements. An amateur or private grower who grows for his own use only may compete in a category including fruits, nuts, berries and vegetables.

A fine arts division is open to all artists residing in Marin County and a photography division, new this year, is open to residents of the following counties: Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, Napa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, and Sonoma.

The Fair opens to the public at 6 p.m. on June 30 following day-long judging of exhibits, and will remain open until 10 p.m. Hours on July 1, 2, 3, 4 will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Admission will be 75 cents for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted to the show free when accompanied by adults.

Audubon Society To Show Canada Film

A film entitled "Canada Sea to Sea" will be shown by Bert Hartwell, former chief naturalist at Yosemite National Park, at a public meeting of the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. Friday in Olney Hall at College of Marin.

Hartwell will also give a demonstration of whistling bird songs.
